Our Poor Old Octopus.
The Heavy Chain Store.
The London Times Thinks.
The Tough One Speaks.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

First the government chopped it up. That was sad. Now little independent companies compete with it, as Jack the Giant Killer competed with the giant.

Yesterday, in New York, "Standard," goaded to heavy anger, cut gasoline one cent a gallon because the little independents were underselling. Immediately little independents cut one cent under Standard.

AND then, "Shell Oil," appears, genuine imported octopus from Britain and Holland, financed by the British, managed by the intelligent Deterding. Dutch by birth, British in diplomatic finesse. That "Shell" concern is as voracious as the cormorant, and how it annoys our old octopus!

MAJ. COHEN, who publishes the Atlanta Journal, says "Shell is constantly opening new stations." His home town will have 75 stations there before long.

This for the information of American companies. Our government forbids them to combine, while British-Dutch Shell jumps up and down on their stomachs.

CHAIN stores are here, the chains getting bigger, and the little retail man complaining that they are getting HEAVIER. They have the financing power, the selling power, buying power. To compete with them, build other chains, longer, heavier.

JAMES A. HEARN & SON, of Fourteenth street and Fifth avenue, New York, dry goods firm more than a hundred years old, plans a chain of fifteen department stores. Clarkson Cowl, one of New York's ablest merchants, will know how to make it go.

Other great department stores have adopted the chain idea. Marshall Field reached out to Seattle, started branch stores in Chicago, and is considering Cleveland. Gimbel Brothers have long since been established in many cities. Macy and Company of New York have in Atlanta, Newark, Toledo, powerful branch establishments, and, it is said, are considering branch stores in New York's boroughs outside of Manhattan. Bullocks have established their first branch store in Los Angeles.

SECRETARY MELLON, advising caution in financing stores, says banks must be careful not to overdo branch banking.

Be careful, of course, but in modern retailing, the chain is the thing. It will help solve the problem of economical distribution, which is the modern problem, but it is hard on the individual store keeper.

THE London Times wants President Hoover to defy the United States Senate, go ahead and make a treaty limiting our Navy and binding the United States to go over and fight in case France should have trouble. The London Times is sure that the American people will support President Hoover in any such action that he might take.

THE American people, are fond of Mr. Hoover, have great confidence in him.

The London Times is mistaken if it thinks the United States will support the idea that foreign nations should regulate our national defense or the more preposterous suggestion that Americans be sent across the ocean and billions spent, again, in case another fight started in Europe, and the Times underestimates President Hoover's common sense—the only American president it ever met was Wilson.

FRANK M'ERLANE "the tough one" shot three times by gangsters as he lay wounded on a hospital cot in Chicago, is home at his mother's now, full of war.

"Never mind who shot me," he tells the police. "M'Erlane takes care of M'Erlane. Remember THAT the next time you find some rat dead in a ditch like a sieve." "Like sieve" means with many bullet holes.

LOTS of energy and gameness going to waste in our gunmen. The police say M'Erlane is the inventor of "the ride" from which a man marked and "put on the spot" never returns.

THE REV. JOHN A. RYAN, professor of sociology at the Catholic University, tells the House judiciary committee that President Hoover's request that citizens discourage violation of the Volstead law, is a sample of the "muddle headed thinking" that prohibition has imposed on leaders of thought.

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, president of Columbia College, demands a repeal of the prohibition amendment.

Thirty-six states are needed to take prohibition out of the Constitution. Barring a revolution, which we shall not have, Dr. Butler's great-great-great-grandchildren will be gray before thirty-six states vote to repeal the prohibition amendment.

WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION CANCELED

President Calls Off Scheduled Congressional Social Affair; Capital Grieves

International News Service.

Admission that all hope for his recovery has been abandoned was made today by his physicians, Drs. Francis Hagner and Thomas Claytor

A buletin issued shortly after 11 a. m. said:

"The former chief justice is in a critical condition. There is no hope for his recovery and any improvement wil lonly be temporary."

This was followed by an informal statement by Dr. Hagner that there was no way of forecasting how long Mr. Taft might survive.

Another bulletin issued by Dr. Hagner at 1:30 p. m. said there had been no change in the critical condition of his patient.

It may be hours, and it may be that his heart, weakened by strain, will sustain him for several days.

WIFE AT BEDSIDE

Mrs. Taft and a daughter, Mrs. Helen Manning, were the only members of the family at the bedside. The two sons decided not to come here for the present from their homes in Ohio.

HOOVER CANCELS FETE

News that all hope had been abandoned spread quickly throughout the capital and caused general sorrow.

DELAY SHAKEUP OF DETECTIVES

The anticipated shake-up in the city detective bureau and the appointment of a successor to Assistant Superintendent of Police Leo G. Coleman, which was expected tomorrow, will not take place, according to Director of Public Safety James M. Clark. He stated that Mayor Charles H. Kline had been too busy in his work on the budget and the conferences in the taxicab strike to give any attention to changes of the personnel in the Public Safety Department.

It is expected now that the zero hour for detectives who will be retired on pensions will come on March 15. Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh announced that some minor changes in the police bureau would be announced tomorrow.

Blinded Painter Is Architect Now

STUDENT TAKES 2 IN THEFT

Miss Jean Davis, a student at Carnegie Tech, and Dick Brunnage, a Pitt senior, had left their coats in the costume room in Tech's school of fine arts.

They noticed a suspicious loiterer who didn't look at all like a student. He took leave after a few minutes and remarked to Brunnage and Miss Davis, "Well, I got what I wanted now."

Five minutes later Brunnage learned that his tan-colored overcoat had been stolen and Miss Davis discovered that the pocket mirror and purse had been taken from her coat.

SEEN FROM STREET CAR

He was gazing out of the street car when, outside the Schenley Hotel, he saw his overcoat. Somebody was inside of it. Brunnage left the car and cross-examined the suspect, whom he remembered as the recent loiterer.

They had words and a fist fight. Brunnage escorted his opponent to the police station. There everybody discovered that the suspect was wearing not one but three

Judge Martin Worse, Oxygen Rushed

Judge Richard W. Martin, critically ill with influenza-pneumonia at his home, 5807 Stanton avenue, was reported worse this morning. Oxygen was taken to the jurist's sick room, it was learned, and physicians were prepared to administer it today.

Richard McFall Martin, a son, arrived home last night from Princeton University. Two other sons, William and Bruce, are at home.

Dr. C. B. Schildecker and Dr. R. T. Hood, who are attending Judge Martin, have issued no statement on his condition.

According to relatives, Judge Martin was stricken ill last Thursday while on the bench of Common Pleas Court. His illness, diagnosed as influenza, developed into pneumonia Tuesday. Since then his condition steadily has become worse, it was said.

The Rev. W. W. T. Duncan, pastor of Emory Methodist Episcopal Church and a supporter of Judge Martin in the primary campaign, was among those who called at his home today to inquire as to his condition.

DU PONT DENIES DRY LAW AIDS PROSPERITY

Financier Proposes Liquor Under States' Control And Assails Hypocrisy

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—One of the country's most powerful industrialists, Pierre S. du Pont, who heads the gigantic interests bearing that name, told the House Judiciary Committee today that he did not consider prohibition necessary in industrial efficiency, and that he was for outright repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment as a means of regaining lost temperance.

Plied with questions from committee members, du Pont declared that from 10 years' personal experience in his factories he never found prohibition constituted a serious problem.

QUESTIONS "HONESTLY"

Representative Michener (Rep.), of Michigan, reminded du Pont that Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, controlled by the du Pont interests, believes that prohibition is a good thing for the working man.

"In other words," said Michener, "this is a question on which great industrial leaders may differ honestly?"

"I question the word 'honestly' in every case," retorted du Pont. "Many industrial leaders who believe prohibition is good for the working man do not observe it themselves."

"You don't mean to imply that Mr. Sloan, of your company, or Mr. Ford, are not honest in their belief?" asked Michener.

"They must answer for themselves," replied du Pont.

The witness said he had attended a dinner with a man who

Other servants were remembered by smaller bequests. The residue of the estate, which was valued at $310,000, will go to Alexander H. King, Jr., W. R. King, Mrs. Marie G. Minnemeyer, Mrs. Sarah H. McKinney and Mrs. Adelaide E. Clarke.

Strawberries Here! Spring Close Behind

Despite the arrival of colder weather today the produce markets gave tangible evidence of the proximity of spring. The arrival of two cars of strawberries from the South, the first of the season, was looked upon as one of the sure harbingers of warmer weather.

STRIKERS VOTE ON TAXI PEACE TOMORROW

Drivers to Decide on Terms Submitted by Employers; Provisions Kept Secret

Striking taxicab drivers will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Moose Temple to vote on proffered terms of settlement, H. T. Siford, chairman of the strikers' executive committee, announced this afternoon.

The vote of the 1,400 drivers, who walked out nearly seven weeks ago, will be by ballot, the committee said.

TERMS NOT REVEALED

No inkling has leaked out as to the terms submitted by the Parmelee Transportatin Company, owner of the Yellow and Green Cab Companies, at a nine-hour peace conference last night in the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

Meanwhile, signs appeared at the strikers' headquarters, McGeagh Building, urging drivers to vote against the proffered settlement plan, notwithstanding that no inkling of the terms has leaked out.

SIGNS DISCLAIMED

Some of the signs read "Vote no." Another read, "If you don't stick by 40 per cent and the union you are a scab."

Members of the strikers' union committee disclaimed knowledge of the signs. They explained that the signs must have been put up by over-zealous men or sympathizers.

George W. Rodgers, member of the committee, said: "No signs were put up by the committee. There were no signs. There were pencil marks on the wall. We do not know who made them."

"These men have delegated me the speaker of the evening," Mayor Kline said when the conference ended last midnight. "All that I can tell you at present is that the cab companies will set forth in writing certain conditions, which they think are sufficient to bring the men together, for ending the strike. The men's committee will present this to the men tomorrow afternoon. I don't know the exact time. A vote will be taken then to accept or reject the offer. That's all."

PLEDGED TO SECRECY

"The mayor is the spokesman, we are pledged not to divulge anything that went on in the meeting," was the reply of the strikers' committee, company officials and counsel for

Kunz Job-Sale Case Goes to Jury Soon

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—The case of Congressman Stanley Kunz and his son, charged with conspiracy and obtaining money under false pretense, was expected to be in the hands of a jury late today. They are charged with having taken $400 from Walter Trochowski, who said he gave it to the Congressman to have his brother placed on the police force. Both denied the charge, saying the money was accepted as a loan.

Merry Del Val Rites Delayed by Brother

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Funeral arrangements for Cardinal Merry del Val, who died yesterday, probably will be changed because the cardinal's brother is not expected before Saturday.

The funeral had been set for Saturday, but news that Marquis Alfonso Merry del Val would not arrive from London as expected, gave indication that the services would not be held until Monday.

Mrs. Hoover, Madame Curie Tied as Co-Ed Heroines

DENVER, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Madam Curie tied in a vote taken yesterday among delegates to the National Pan-Hellenic Congress for the honor of being most worthy as heroines of the modern American co-ed.

Helen Keller, blind philosopher and author, and Helen Wills were among those who received votes.

Betta Sigma Omricron and Lambda Omega sororities were elected to associate memberships. The congress also voted to exclude, as in the past, sororities which accept only Jewish, Masonic or Catholic girls to membership.

WHEAT POLICY CHANGE HINTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Due to the congestion of wheat in Omaha and Kansas City elevators, the Federal Farm Board may be forced to modify its program to the extent of restoring surplus grain in farm elevators, Chairman Alexander H. Legge said today.

"Due to the fact the income tax date is approaching and farmers are getting ready to plant, receipts at some points are getting rather heavy and it may be necessary for us to modify our program by restoring wheat in farm elevators," he said.

Wheat dealers described by Chairman Legge as "roll top desk farmers" have been taking advantage of the absence of critical scrutiny of wheat purchased by the board. Theoretically, the board has only been purchasing wheat from co-operatives, but actually, it has extended this policy to all country run of wheat. This permitted the wheat dealers to slip in some wheat as country run. Chairman Legge described this as "high jacking."

The Farmers' National Grain Corporation and the Grain Stabilizing Corporation have had wheat transactions approximating 25,000,000 bushels, Legge said. These involved loans and actual contracts.

College Head Raps Ford's School Plan

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Dr. John C. Futrall, president of the University of Arkansas, is inclined to think that Herbert Hoover would be a blacksmith if Henry Ford's ideas of education had prevailed. Futrall told a radio audience that Ford's plan is in the direction of the stratification of society, such as existed in Europe, where a boy learns the trade of his father and is not qualified to do anything else.

PLEADS WITH GOVERNOR ON EVE OF EXECUTION

Slayer's Fate in Balance As Clemency Board Hears Appeal for Commutation

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen Marple Snook, wife of Dr. James H. Snook, under sentence to die in the electric chair tomorrow, went into a conference with Gov. Cooper today.

Mrs. Snook slipped into the executive office by a rear door and it was understood that the purpose of her visit was to obtain a stay of execution for her husband.

Mrs. Snook left the governor's office a half hour later. She was accompanied by the Rev. Isaac I. Miller, of the King Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church. No announcement was immediately forthcoming from the executive offices.

Dr. Snook's appeal for stay of execution and commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment was formally presented to Gov. Cooper and the Ohio Board of Clemency shortly afterward.

The last of three reprieves given Snook since he was originally sentenced to be electrocuted last November 29 for the murder of Theora Hix, 24-year-old co-ed, will expire at midnight tonight.

GOVERNOR LAST HOPE

Unless Gov. Cooper should act favorably at today's hearing, Warden P. E. Thomas, of Ohio Penitentiary, will be empowered to proceed with the electrocution tomorrow, probably shortly after midnight.

Gov. Cooper promised Snook's counsel a hearing today so the Board of Clemency might review the case and possibly recommend commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

FINAL FIGHT PLANNED

If denied executive clemency, Defense Attorney E. O. Ricketts said, Snook's counsel will ask the Federal District Court here for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the doomed man did not receive a fair trial.

More than 500 requests for admittance to the electrocution have been made. Only 65 persons can be accommodated.

Several requests were from women, who never have been permitted in the death house during an execution.

3 FORNEY AIDES ON BAIL SOUGHT

Process servers were searching today for three brothers, whose bonds of $1,000 each were forfeited when they failed to appear for sentence Friday on charges of maintaining gambling devices.

They are Dale, Lawrence and Mack McCarthy, all of the North Side. They were indicted in November, 1928, during the vice probe, and pleaded guilty in March, 1929. Pending sentence they had been released on bail.

Assistant District Attorney John Haggerty said he had also planned to use the three as witnesses against Al Forney, "slot machine king," when he should come up for trial. The men were former collectors for Forney, the state alleges.

MACDONALD CABINET CRISIS ALARMS NAVAL PARLEY

FATE HINGES ON VOTING TONIGHT

Arms Delegates Wait Result As Test Adds to Trouble Caused by French Defeat

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The possibility that Prime Minister MacDonald's Labor government might meet defeat in the voting on the coal bill in the House of Commons tonight created tense interest throughout the country today and especially in naval conference circles.

The visiting naval delegations were watching the unfolding of this political drama with some concern although they had been informed that while there was a possibility of the government's defeat it was not a probability.

Despite that reasoning they could not help wondering what would happen to the naval conference in the event of a cabinet defeat especially since they are already struggling with the tremendous obstacles caused by the French cabinet crisis.

DISASTROUS TO PARLEY

The disastrous effect on the naval conference of the fall of two governments at the same time was something nobody cared even to contemplate in advance. But the delegations were made more comfortable this afternoon by predictions from the lobby of the House of Commons that MacDonald would not be defeated.

The coal bill is fostered by the Labor government. Both Conservatives and Liberals object strenuously to some clauses and especially to one which is to be voted on tonight for the compulsory regulation and limitation of output.

Should the Conservatives and Liberals combine their full strength against MacDonald they could outvote his party. Both, however, have made it clear that they are not anxious to force a crisis at this juncture.

Meanwhile American and Japanese naval proposals with their attendant points of difference were again discussed between representatives of the two delegations at resumption of the naval conference today.

Senator David A. Reed, who is the expert on Japanese matters for the American delegation, visited Ambassador Matsudaira and they spent some time over various problems. Observers were of the opinion it would be difficult for any discussion to go very far without encountering the Japanese demand for a 70 per cent cruiser ratio as against the American insistence on a 60 per cent ratio for Japan.

The British spokesman again took occasion to throw down talk about a three-power pact and announced that the French would be told of everything discussed by the other four delegations pending return of the French representatives.

TARDIEU MAKES PROGRESS

PARIS, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Former Premier Andre Tardieu today expressed full confidence in his ability to form a new cabinet after a conference with President Doumergue at the Elysee Palace.

Upon leaving the palace he declared he would resume his conversations with the various leaders this afternoon, after which he would pay another visit to the president tomorrow afternoon.

He also stated he hoped to be able to form a new government by Friday evening or Saturday morning at the latest.

Having succeeded in bringing about the downfall of the left wing cabinet of Camille Chautemps, M. Tardieu is now faced by the combined opposition of all the parties of the left wing, a total of 277 votes.

Two Schenley High Pupils Disappear

The Missing Persons Bureau has been asked to find two Schenley High School boys who disappeared yesterday. The boys, George Keesy, 16, 617 Chauncey street, and William Dopkin, 17, 2332 Wylie avenue, went to school together. They failed to return.

SQUIRE FINED $500, PAROLED IN RUM CASE

Age of C. E. Reinhard, 69, Bars Severe Sentence, Judge Gibson Declares

Charles E. Reinhard, 69, former justice of the peace of Versailles Township, twice convicted in the McKeesport liquor conspiracy case, was fined $500 and paroled for one year by Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court today.

Sam Katz, convicted along with Reinhard at a recent retrial of nine defendants, was sentenced to 18 months in the Atlanta penitentiary.

"Your age is the only thing that prevents me from imposing a severe sentence," said Judge Gibson, addressing Reinhard. "The records of your office showed many discrepancies."

Reinhard was convicted at the first rum conspiracy trial in December, but was granted a new trial. The jury had disagreed as to Katz and seven others. The others, six McKeesport police officers and a milk inspector, were acquitted in the second trial.

at the White House, and immediately issued a cancellation of plans for the annual congressional reception scheduled at the White House tonight.

Mr. Hoover's statement read:

"In view of the physicians' statement as to the critical condition of the former President of the United States, Mr. Taft, the President and Mrs. Hoover regretfully have canceled the reception that was to have been given the House of Representatives this evening."

Announcing to the House that tonight's White House reception had been canceled, Republican leader John Q. Tilson read to his colleagues the statement of Mr. Taft's physician that there was no hope of recovery.

SEVERE SINKING SPELL

It was disclosed that Mr. Taft had suffered a severe sinking spell about 9 o'clock today.

By 11 o'clock some improvement had been noted, but the physicians did not regard it as indicative.

Signs of a final weakening were apparent in many ways. Heart trouble and hardening of the arteries had combined with the bladder trouble which first caused him serious difficulty a month ago.

His pulse was very low and respiration uncertain. He had some fever, but it was not excessive.

PAST 72 YEARS

Mr. Taft's general breakdown followed the combined inroads of the several ailments which early in February forced him to resign as Chief Justice and since have kept him in bed under the anxious eyes of family and physicians.

All along the battle has been a losing one. He has almost held his own for short periods, sometimes there were signs which gave his attendants slight hope although their official bulletins never reflected a confidence in his recovery.

His active life, the exertions and vicissitudes of which kept him a national figure for a generation, have levied heavily on his reserve strength and left him with less than the normal fighting power of a man of his age. He was 72 last September.

BILL FOR DRY CAPITAL RAPPED

Search and Seizure Without Warrant Condemned by U. S. Attorney General

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A drastic prohibition bill, framed and sponsored by Senator Howell (Rep.), of Nebraska, for application to the District of Columbia in an effort to make Washington "a model dry city" ran into the vigorous objection of Attorney General Mitchell today.

In a letter to Senator Capper (Rep.), of Kansas, Mitchell characterized two provisions of the Howell bill—one extending the right of seizure and search of private dwellings without warrants and the other placing the burden of proof upon the individual to recover liquor illegally seized by the government—as undesirable and probably unconstitutional.

PROOF NEEDED

"The national prohibition act now allows searching of dwellings only on proof that liquor is being sold in them," the attorney general said.

"The effect of the Howell bill would be to subject the dwellings of persons residing in the District of Columbia to more drastic searches than Congress was authorized in the United States, Alaska, and some insular possessions. I do not believe this discrimination would be justified."

LEGAL QUESTION

In reference to the proposal now to return seized liquor, the attorney general said a serious constitutional question arose "as to the validity of a provision which attempts to put the government in an advantageous position as the result of a seizure in violation of constitutional guaranties."

"But aside from that," he said, "and as a matter of principle the government by violating the constitutional rights of the citizen should not be placed in a better position than it otherwise would be in. In the long run nothing will be gained for the cause of law enforcement by such means."

RICH PERSIAN EX-SHAH DIES

In October, 1925, Sultan Ahmed, then Shah of Persia, was deposed by the Mejlis, which also decreed the overthrow of the Kajar dynasty. On December 13 of the same year the constituent assembly elected Riza Khan as the new Shah and made the crown hereditary in his family. Riza Shah was crowned on April 25, 1926.

After he was deposed he spent most of his time in Paris.

He occupied two of the best rooms at the American Hospital and had four nurses and two Persian servants. He had been sinking slowly for some time and the end had been expected.

both sides when they were asked about the conference.

L. E. Keller, statistician of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes, a railroad men's union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, attended the conference. Mayor Kline announced that "Mr. Keller is in Pittsburgh attending the Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems. He was invited by the employes of the taxicab companies to assist them in their efforts to arrive at a settlement of the strike. A published statement that he is a Communist is not true."

MILLER CALLED IN

The meeting started at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Attorneys C. K. Robinson and Frank R. Ingersoll were the first to arrive, shortly before the set time. They conferred briefly with the Mayor prior to the arrival of the strikers' committee of seven with their counsel, Attorney Leonard A. Mayer.

Ernest H. Miller, president of the Parmelee Transportation Company, and E. S. Higgins, vice president, joined the conference at 5 o'clock. Miller did not attend last night's session and no explanation was offered for his failure to reappear. Herbert F. Holmes, of Philadelphia, newly appointed manager of the Green Cab Company, arrived a few minutes later.

A group of striking drivers headed by Charles McMillan, head of the drivers' union relief committee, came into the Mayor's office during the afternoon. McMillan had "nothing to say," when asked why his group were there, but sent a bulky envelope into the conference room with one of the Mayor's secretaries.

PARLEY RENEWS

Father James R. Cox, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, and Miss M. Emmilinne Pitt, Federal labor conciliator, sat in the outer office during the afternoon session. Miss Pitt was summoned into the afternoon session for a short time. Father Cox was present at the night conference.

The conference adjourned at 7 40 o'clock and reassembled at 9 30 o'clock.

Mayor Kline was back on the job at 9 o'clock. The strikers' committee arrived at the appointed time. Higgins appeared at 9 50 and the company attorneys 10 minutes later. Holmes arrived at 10 05 o'clock.

At 11 30 Higgins and Holmes came out of the meeting. Higgins gossiped with newspapermen and Holmes conferred with McMillan's group until adjournment of the conference.

J. Rogers Flannery called just before the night session got under way and was ushered into the mayor's office. Flannery did not disclose the purpose of his visit.

Rumors of settlement were in the air all day. When Frank Swaney, the mayor's secretary, was called into the conference it was thought that a settlement was to be drafted late in the afternoon.

SECRET MEET REVEALED

This rumor was dissipated when the two-hour recess was

A meeting of the strikers' committee and E. S. Higgins was held from midnight Tuesday until 3 o'clock yesterday morning, it was learned last night. What transpired at the meeting was not disclosed from any of those who attended. It is understood, however, that controversial points were smoothed out and that the meeting paved the way for a reasonable discussion at yesterday's conference in Mayor Kline's office.

Of all that fell or jumped from windows in 1929 eighty-seven per cent died in New York City.

And according to this safety engineer a New York earthquake might be "the worst catastrophe since the flood."

It wouldn't be necessary for skyscrapers to fall down. They would rock, shake off their outer covering of brick and tile, and "all our industrial profits and real estate earnings would not pay the losses of the cleaning and rebuilding expenses."

LAWYER DENIES LOVE TRYSTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Frances Marion Brandon's suit for $500,000 for breach of promise to marry against George Gillespie, prominent New York attorney and politician, was scheduled to reach the jury today.

Gillespie and Msgr. David C. Donohue, secretary to Cardinal Hayes, for whom the defendant is attorney, were the only defense witnesses. Gillespie entered a general denial of charges he had made love to Mrs. Brandon and promised to marry her.

The Cardinal's secretary testified that he had seen the attorney in a club the night Mrs. Brandon said she first entered a red triangle in her book recording her alleged love trysts with Gillespie. The attorney denied he had been with her that night or at other times when she claimed he had visited her. He admitted walking with her in the street and meeting her in the subway.

Brunnage took Teed to the theater, upon the advice but without the aid of police. They found the stranger, one James Riley, 28, of "city." He said a stranger another stranger had given him the coat he was wearing merely to hold.

"That," said Miss Davis in Oakland Police Court today, "is my mirror, and that is my purse."

Brunnage claimed his own coat and Dean Tarbell, of Tech, was on hand to claim the other coats for Tech students.

Teed and Riley were held for investigation. Teed said that he worked at the Improvement of the Poor home.

FLOOD DANGER PASSING

Local rivers were about stationary at a stage of 23.9 feet this afternoon, 1.1 feet below the flood mark, the weather bureau announced.

The Monongahela was falling at Charleroi, while the Allegheny was stationary at Lock No. 4. Forecaster W. S. Brotzman reported, with the prospect that the streams here will be receding tonight.

Cooler weather, which brought a cessation of the two-day rain, prevented a flood, Brotzman said. The low temperature here for the last 12 hours was 36. The only inconvenience caused by the high waters was inundation of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks on the North Side.

The ice gorge which started downstream yesterday from Kittanning, disappeared en route to the city.

NEW EGYPTIAN TOMB FOUND

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Nearly 30 coffins and mummies, one of the largest collections ever found in one tomb in Egypt, has been unearthed by the University of Pennsylvania museum's expedition at Meydum according to word received today from Alan Rowe, field director. The coffins range from 2,200 years to nearly 4,000 years in age.

The discovery is considered of such importance that Horace H. F. Jayne, director of the Pennsylvania Museum, has decided to sail for Egypt at once.

"One coffin contains mummy covered with bead network over which is a golden flying scarab and a gilded mask," Rowe cabled. "Another coffin dates from the twelfth dynasty, about 2000 B. C., and is covered with texts. Biggest find ever made here.

"The tomb seems to be a cache and mummies from the bottom of a deep pit eight chambers radiate in various directions. About five of these chambers are piled ceiling-high with broken and unbroken coffins."

LAWYER, SHOT, WON'T TALK

DETROIT, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Alfonso E. Sirica, attorney for James Fernando, who was convicted of the kidnaping of 5-year-old Jackie Thompson, lay dangerously wounded in Receiving Hospital today, the victim of two would-be assassins, whom he says he recognized.

Sirica was shot last night by one of two men who drove alongside his automobile in a small roadster at Canfield avenue and Orleans street. Six charges were fired from a pumpgun.

Physicians said Sirica probably would live. His assailants escaped.

Dress Up or Stay Home, Mayor Tells Councilmen

FREEPORT, O., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Felt boots, slouch hats, overalls, corduroy trousers and other items of "ordinary" dress henceforth will be taboo during sessions of town council.

Mayor J. H. Jenkins handed out the edict, which, in substance, is:

"Unless members can come to the meetings dressed up, washed up and cleaned up, they will be denied a seat in the chamber."

The mayor voiced this ultimatum at the first meeting of the council, with the result that three of the members went home—to return a short time later dressed in their Sunday best.

"Councilmen represent the village of Freeport. If they come to sessions looking like hicks, people naturally will let their municipal pride lag," the mayor said.

Mayor Jenkins, head of the government of the town of 500, conducts the meetings with parliamentary rules unsurpassed for exactness in few places outside the United States Senate. He declares municipal morale has taken a decided "rise" as the result.

TEACHER HELD IN WHIPPING

ELYRIA, O., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Mary Gerhardinger, 6, who said she had been whipped by her school teacher, allegedly with a paddle 18 inches long and one inch thick, was recovering here today from bruises and possibly more serious injuries. The teacher, Mrs. Myrta Bradley, 22, was under $300 bond after pleading not guilty Tuesday to a charge of assault and battery.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Gerhardinger, signed the warrant.

Mrs. Bradley did not deny she had whipped Mary, but she said she was not guilty of assault and battery. The teacher told Justice S. J. George at the hearing that Mary had been difficult to discipline and that the whipping had seemed necessary.

BODY OF HEROIC NUN ON WAY FOR BURIAL

Airplane Returns 5 Other Sisters Injured in Fire Killing Nine Indians

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 27.—One hundred and fifty miles down across the snow, from the tiny Indian village of Cross Lake, in Northern Manitoba, the body of Sister Superior Margaret Marie and those of nine Indian children, for whom she laid down her life, were today on their way here for burial.

Meanwhile a 68-year-old prelate, Bishop Charlebois, head of the church in Manitoba, had left here by airplane to carry food and clothing and courage to the little group of frightened and bewildered nuns and children, left homeless by fire which destroyed the Indian mission school early Tuesday morning.

RUNNERS BRING NEWS

News of the fire and its tragic toll of lives was brought here yesterday by Indian runners, who were exhausted and incoherent from more than 24 hours' toiling over the snow. By nightfall an airplane had gone to Cross Lake and returned with five injured nuns and tales of heroism that brought tears to the eyes of those who heard.

Nine children, half of those in the school, were lost, but only after the nuns, without aid and in a scene of horror, had fought a valiant fight to save them. The sister superior, who might have escaped with her own life, died with them. Nine little bodies were found huddled about her burned body.

DIES WITH CHARGES

As flames swept the building the sister superior remained behind with the children, handing them out to the other sisters, who passed them from hand to hand to the fire escape. Eight of them had been rescued when a wall of flame separated the sister superior with the children still in the dormitory and the other nuns waiting to lead them to safety.

The sister superior stayed with her charges. The other nuns waited until the building was about to callapse before they leaped out the windows into the snow.

Veterans Honor First American To Die in War

PARIS, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The first American citizen who died fighting for France was remembered in a little ceremony today at the monument to American volunteers in the Place des Etats-Unis, not far from the American embassy.

He served in the Foreign Legion and was wounded February 17, 1915, in the trenches near Craonelle in the Aisne department. Ten days later he died, aged 27.

Stone was living in Paris when war broke out. He volunteered immediately. He was the son of Henry Baldwin Stone, vice president of the Burlington road.

Firemen Rescue Chimney Sweep Fast in Stack

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—William Thorne, a chimney sweep, was stuck in a 150-foot stack for three hours today before firemen could rescue him. He was removed dazed but unhurt.

Dropped down by block and tackle from the top of the stack, Thorne was cleaning at about the third floor. After an hour the sound of his work ceased.

Efforts of his employer, Paul Bresnik, to haul him to the top failed and firemen were called. It was finally necessary to rig a hose roller, balanced on the chimney edge, with firemen hauling from the roof 20 feet below the chimney top.

Kerekas was remanded to jail, but after a conference between Visiting Judge Edward M. Biddle, of Cumberland County, who presided at the trial, and Attorney Charles B. Prichard, who defended Kerekas, it was announced he would be freed on $2,500 bail.

AMBULANCE HIT, TWO HURT

Two men were injured when an ambulance which had just rushed a patient to the South Side Hospital and an automobile collided in West Carson street, near Steuben street, today.

The ambulance driver, A. J. Haser, undertaker, of 512 Chartiers avenue, and Patrolman T. C. Penberthy, employed by the Pittsburgh, Chartiers and Youghiogheny Railroad, were moving westward in Carson street when a passing auto struck the ambulance on the left and forced it into a large spool of cable, where its front was smashed, police said.

Penberthy received cuts on the face when his head went through the windshield. The auto driver, Joseph Bloomfield, of 1810 Center avenue, received body injuries and was taken to South Side Hospital. A charge of reckless driving was made against him.

Bloomfield's car came perilously close to a downtown-bound street car as it passed the ambulance, the police said.

The ambulance was returning from South Side Hospital, where it had taken Patrick Haney, railroad employe, injured when he was caught beneath a fall of cinders at McKees Rocks.

SOVIET LUMBER MENACE SEEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Faced by a long grind of night sessions, the Senate today opened debate on an amendment to the tariff bill by Senator Jones (Rep.) of Washington, to place a duty of $3 a thousand board feet on lumber now on the free list.

Chairman Smoot, of the Finance Committee, expects to hold the Senate in session until 10 o'clock each night.

Senator Jones said there had been a 20 per cent reduction in employment in the lumber industry. Production in 1929 was the lowest in seven years, he said.

Jones said the United States should prepare for what he termed the "Russian menace."

"The Russian government," he said, "is making plans for a tremendous expansion of the lumber industry. They are taking away our world markets now."

PAT DEVINE, 'RED' CHIEF, FREED

'Not Enough Evidence,' So Judge Orders Release; Trouble in Western Cities

Pat Devine, Communist, today enjoyed the satisfaction of being freed in Central Police Court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg.

Pat had been arrested yesterday in the doorway of Walton Hall, Stanwix street. He and a group of followers had just come from a meeting at which unemployment was discussed and police advised the group to scatter.

"Don't let these fellows bluff you," Pat is supposed to have advised his admirers.

Magistrate Rothenberg held that not enough evidence had been produced to show that Pat interfered with the police, as charged.

Rockefeller, Jr., Denies Father Ordered Oil Cut

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Denial that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., has "again taken the initiative in dictating oil policies" was made in a statement by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today.

"My attention has been called to recent statements concerning my father, which are not warranted. Many of them do not justify specific mention, but I must emphatically deny that my father has again taken the initiative in dictating oil policies and that it was he who directed a cut in the price of Texas and Midcontinental crude oil," the statement read.

"Naturally my father continues to be interested in the oil industry. However, since his retirement he has had nothing to do with the operation or management of any oil company or other business, much less the determination of oil policies.

"Neither my father nor I knew anything about the cut in crude oil prices until we read of it in the press. The oil companies in which we are interested are managed and their business policies determined by their officers and directors and not by their stockholders."

U. S. FACES FAKE PARITY WITH ENGLAND

Child Says Curbing Naval Superiority Impossible; Fears European Politics

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD.

Former ambassador to Italy and noted author

When the American delegation went to the London conference the President asked for no comment from the American people. A strange request in a democracy!

The idea was that we should remain silent while our delegation was dedicated to the ends we all wished for: the reduction of the armament burdens; a reduction based on parity with Great Britain and perhaps if we were wise an exchange of our ability to build two ships while the other fellow builds one in order to have from him an agreement that if he was in trouble we should have the freedom of the seas.

What so far has been the result of this conference?

First—Instead of any reduction we have to face a fake parity with Great Britain which costs both sides not less—but more!

The reason the parity is a fake is that if we equalize the British navy and ours—or even abolish both—the British merchant marine in fighting power is more than twice our power in speed and gun carriage of ships. Parity is another palpable fake.

Second—We are asked to enter by the side door, the ladies' entrance—the entanglement of European politics to guarantee security for France or to enter the World Court or some other geegaw. We are in essence asked to extend the Monroe doctrine to Europe—to enter the old game of European entanglements. That is what we have ended with by going to the London conference.

WHAT PRICE RESULTS?

In the meantime we are assured by all the press dispatches that the conference had produced good results. Heaven knows we wish that this were so. But what are these results? To humanize the warfare of the submarine? Why not extend this to freedom of the seas and allow all merchant ships carrying anything but arms to go their way unmolested?

If the Kellogg pact means anything at all it means that the world will frown upon those who, being aggressors, use war as an instrument of national policy. Aside from the question as to who is the aggressor our game today in London is to cut down, reduce, diminish the weapons of war. We haven't!

So far that is all there is to it. We who have the wealth and the capacity to build armament, have failed twice.

First—In the demand to reduce, aside from parity, the naval race.

Second—We have failed to demand that warfare should be limited to humane action.

You can reduce armament to pitchforks and war will still be possible.

You can create all the formulas in the world and no one can tell who the "aggressor" is. The world is still arguing who started the last war and there is no answer.

In the meanwhile, America would better mind its own business. We have no quarrel with anyone.

POLICE HUNTING LOST OVERSHOE

Just why Miss Broll is so anxious to get this particular overshoe back is a bit thick, although anyone can realize that one overshoe is of slight consequence without its mate.

As soon as she discovered the loss last night she went right to the Summerdale Police Station. Whether she wore the one she still had or whether she carried it in her hand, or whether she left it home is not known to your correspondent.

At police headquarters she was directed to the Central Police Station (three dollars will buy a good pair of overshoes). By this time it was not surprising that Miss Broll became a bit confused, and went to the Desplaines Street Station instead.

Finally, at the Central Station a gentlemanly sergeant—who knows, perhaps he too may once have lost an overshoe?—took a complete description of the missing footwear and broadcast a message to all police districts to be on the alert for one little brown overshoe—left foot.

American Investors Face Loss in Russia

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Thousands of American, British and German stockholders in the rich Lena gold fields face heavy losses as a result of claims filed by the Soviet government against the operators of the mining concession for alleged failure to carry out its construction program.

The Soviet claims are now before a mixed British-Russian claims commission, which is liquidating the concession. If the Soviet claims are allowed in full the entire investment of $1,650,000 may be lost, according to officials of the fields.

GIRL CONFIRMS KILLER'S BOAST

DETROIT, Feb. 27.—(AP)—A 17-year-old girl has added new chapters to the story of James Baker, who boasts of 10 or more murders by poison and gun, and who is now awaiting trial in New York for the killing of Henry Gaw by the former method in December, 1928.

The girl, Eleanor Roy, is a daughter of a farmer at whose home near here Baker was captured. Two Detroit murders which Baker confessed to New York detectives, but failed to mention while in custody here, were fresh in his mind when he went to work at the farm in March, 1929, and he told her about them in minute detail, according to a statement of the girl to Assistant Prosecutor John D. Watts.

The girl related details of the killing of Walter Awe, a Grand Trunk Railway detective, who was shot to death on January 20, 1929, which checked exactly with the facts shown in police records, Watts said.

Arrives at Police Station, Finds Car Wrecked

Carl Smolder, of 8409 Dersam street, inquired at the East End Police Station last night if his automobile which was stolen Monday night had been recovered. Just then the telephone rang and the police were told there was an automobile wreck at Paulson avenue and Shetland street.

Hurrying to the scene the police found that Smolder's car had figured in the crash. Two boys who were riding in it escaped following the accident.

BLONDE BANDIT GETS 20 YEARS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Shortly before [illegible] Richards, blonde bandit, was sentenced late yesterday, Peter Dombkiewicz, her sweetheart and admitted accomplice in the series of daring holdups which resulted in their arrest, threw the courtroom in an uproar by slashing the throat of David Glickstein, who had previously identified the girl as having led the raid on his store.

The former circus performer, known as the "Blonde Bandit," was convicted in less than an hour late yesterday, of a charge of robbery, first degree, by a Supreme Court jury.

She faces a prison term of 20 years for her part in the holdup here of Glickstein, whose jewelry shop she and her two male companions, both of whom have pleaded guilty, robbed of $9,000 in jewelry. The third accomplice is Eddie Izyderczak, of Montgomery, Ala.

Dombkiewicz, who testified in the girl's behalf, was allowed to appear in court by Justice Hinkley. The prisoner was sitting without handcuffs in the prisoner's box. Just as the Richards girl was finishing her testimony in which she declared that Dombkiewicz had threatened her with death if she did not aid him in his acts of banditry, Dombkiewicz and Glickstein were seen to grapple.

Dombkiewicz drew an improvised knife, made of a broken razor blade fastened to a toothbrush handle. He struck at Glickstein but succeeded in slashing his throat but once.

Glickstein, bleeding profusely, was taken to Emergency Hospital.

Armed Trio Held For Investigation

Three men carrying guns arrested by North Side police last night were ordered held for investigation in a hearing before Magistrate Ray Schneider in North Side police court today. The men, Sam Angelo, 24, of 706 East Ohio street; Sam Canna, 23, of 711 Emlin street, and John Rocco, 26, of 116 South Diamond street, were arrested on suspicious person charges at Lacock and Federal streets, North Side. According to police they all carried firearms. They will be given a second hearing after detectives have investigated any connection they may have had with numerous North Side robberies.

RAISE HEIGHT OF LOCAL SPAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The War Department has announced approval of modified plans submitted by the Department of Public Works of Allegheny County for the construction of a bridge across the Ohio River between the city of Pittsburgh and the borough of McKees Rocks.

According to the formal announcement the modified plans provide for the following changes:

The distance between the points where the lower chord of the arch of the bridge intersects the clearance line of the floor system near each river pier, has been increased from 531 to 559.5 feet.

The vertical clearances for 559.5 feet of the channel span have been increased at the left end from 98.8 feet to 107.2 feet above pool level and at the right end from 116.3 feet to 124.2 feet above pool level.

Mt. Lebanon Gas Station Robbed Twice

For the second time within two weeks the Waverly Service Station No. 40, of 437 Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, was held up and looted last night. Leonard Fechter, of 403 California avenue, Avalon, was the lone attendant on duty both times, according to a police report.

A lone Negro entered the station last night and struck Fechter in the face, forcing him to open the cash register and turn over the $60 it contained. The robber went outside and drove off with a companion who sat in the machine. Fechter was bound and locked in a cupboard by the Negro who robbed the station several days ago.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—(INS)—The marital affairs of Roy D'Arcy, actor, and his wife were again in the courts today as Mrs. D'Arcy sued for divorce the second time. She charged mental and physical cruelty.

Banker Violinist Gets Stradivarius

Hutchins Plans Radical New University System

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(AP)—An expansion program, revolutionary in some of its aspects, was presented by Robert Maynard Hutchins, youthful president of the University of Chicago to an alumni group last night.

Elimination of freshmen and sophomores as such, and the establishment of a separate collegiate division for them are included in the plan. The purpose of the new system would be to graduate students on the basis of "mental capacity."

Reorganization of the university into three divisions instead of the present two—graduate and undergraduate—is contemplated by the young president. The three divisions would be: collegiate, where students would begin their work; university division, for formal educational features; and the graduate school, to remain much as it is now.

The time of the student in the collegiate division would be determined not by the hours of credit gained, but by his "reaction to the university's opportunities and his own qualifications for advanced work."

"In the university," Dr. Hutchins continued, "the student should begin the study of some division of knowledge of particular interest to him and with which he is qualified to deal."

Again, the program would be flexible. Dr. Hutchins' belief is that the student should go as fast as his abilities permit. Graduation would be determined by the student's demonstration of "mental capacity."

CANCER CLINIC PUTS UP BARS

By OBIND BEHARI LAL

Universal Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—"Let no new cancer patients come here from other towns and cities to receive our experimental treatments.

"We shall simply not treat any new out-of-town patients. Of local patients, too, we have enough for our purposes of investigation. More cannot be treated."

Doctors Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber have made this announcement.

"On the other hand, we would gladly welcome any medical or laboratory scientists who wish to visit here to observe the manner and progress of our work," they stated.

Doctors Coffey and Humber were particularly disturbed, they said, by reports that many out-of-town patients were coming to this city without notification.

One patient who began treatment on January 30 had his ninth injection of the extract today, the physicians reported. His was a cancer of the throat. Today the lump on the right side seemingly had disappeared.

Every understanding woman knows how infallibly good coffee can put heart and humor into a man.

What she may not yet know, is that the surest way to invariably good coffee every morning and every night is Maxwell House Coffee.

Maxwell House works a morning miracle in the coffee pot, not alone because it is fresh coffee, not alone because it is uniform coffee, not alone because it is choice coffee.

It is much more than all these, important as they are—it is a blend of coffee of such rare bouquet and fragrance, such satisfying delight, that it has steadily gone on winning new friends and holding old ones for almost half a century.

Just you serve it, and as it streams steamingly fragrant into the cup—dark as walnut, smooth as honey, rich as wine—you will see why it caused first a President and then a nation to say of it: "Good to the last drop!"

POWER, LOBBY MANIPULATION TOLD PROBERS

American Gas and Electric Income Well Padded With 'Fees,' Commission Hears

International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Financial manipulations of one corporation and alleged lobbying activities of another were revealed here today before the Federal Trade Commission and the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee at two separate hearings.

The American Gas and Electric Company [illegible] $71,970 [illegible] dividends and engineering and supervision fees, of which the fees alone were enough to pay the organization expenses, John M. Bickley [illegible] examiner for the Federal Trade Commission [illegible].

"FEES" BIG ITEM

Bickley asserted the largest item in this total was paid by the Ohio Power Company—$4,363,[illegible]8.

Of this sum, Bickley testified $3,900,000 was for dividends.

Other income of the holding company from subsidiaries was detailed by Bickley and showed "fees" coupled with dividends in the totals.

From 1917 to 1928 he said the American Gas and Electric received in engineering and supervision fees alone $13,844,181, or enough to pay its entire corporate expenses, including taxes, and leave a substantial balance.

He said that from 1917 to 1929 the organization collected in these fees $16,624,562 and asserted that of this figure $[illegible] very closely approximated its profits.

PAID "NEWS MATTER"

"News Matter," the National Agricultural Publishing Company sent to editors of country newspapers, was paid for by a number of commercial corporations, Orville M. Kile, head of the publishing company, told the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee at the other hearing.

Among the corporations who employed him he listed the American Cyanamid Company, which has been conducting a lobby to procure control of the Muscle Shoals power site, and the Union Carbide Company.

3 MEN ACCUSED IN SILAN DEATH

Joseph Silan, 34, McKeesport storekeeper, was murdered by two Negroes who approached his store at 624 Jerome street in an auto driven by a third man, a coroner's jury reported today following an inquest into his death.

The jury recommended that Henry Rodman, McKeesport, be held for the grand jury as an accessory, and that Ted Foster, Negro, and another Negro, unknown to the jury, be apprehended and held to await action on a charge of murder.

Rodman was not identified as the driver of the car, but witnesses said he resembled the driver. Steve Parson, Negro, of Duquesne, told the jury he overheard Foster telling of the killing. Police said Silan was shot when he resisted an attempt to rob his place.

22 Acts Billed For Strikers' Benefit

A [illegible] benefit performance [illegible] taxicab drivers will be given in the Academy theater [illegible]. Twenty-two acts from Pittsburgh theaters are on the program.

[illegible] program will be Dick Powell, master of ceremonies at the Stanley theater; Jay Mills of the Enright; Teddy Joyce of the Penn; Victor Graff of the Harris; Dick Ware of Keenan Inn; Tommy Dixon and his Midnight Hawks; Tom [illegible] and his recording orchestra, and Tracy Brown of the Plaza.

OUTLAW MINER OUSTER ASKED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 27 (INS)—[illegible] of the Illinois Federation of Labor was demanded here today by the international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America in a resolution to the American Federation of Labor.

It was asked unless the federation [illegible] state [illegible] to halt the activities of John H. Walker, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, [illegible] the outlaw [illegible] miners [illegible] called for Springfield [illegible] March 10.

The resolution [illegible] was sent to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. It charged that Walker was engaging in open rebellion against a legitimate international union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 27—(INS)—The International Miners' Union, it appeared probable today, may be divided into three parts.

With spurning by International President John L. Lewis of the compromise proposal for a combination of the two international parleys, both called for March 10, one to be held in Springfield and the other in Indianapolis, it was rumored that Freeman Thompson, national board member of the National Miners Union, had asked for a meeting of that organization to open here on the same day as the other two.

STEVENSON HAS NEW STATE JOB

William H. Stevenson was appointed chairman of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission today to succeed Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, of Altoona.

Col. Shoemaker resigned at a dinner of the commission last night in Harrisburg in preparation to assuming the post of minister to Bulgaria. Mr. Stevenson's appointment was announced at Harrisburg by Frederic C. Godcharles, state librarian, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Mr. Stevenson, chairman of the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania, formerly served as chairman of the state commission.

Ill, Starved Man, Daughter Sent To Hospitals

Relief, if temporary, has come to the unimpressive two-room home of Mrs. Alice Troy, 32, and her father, Charles Fritz, 81, at 1330 Vickroy street.

They were found living in poverty and sickness by Mrs. Ethel Peterson, of the Humane Society. Fritz, seriously ill, was taken to Mercy Hospital.

After much persuasion, Mrs. Troy, who was deserted by her husband, agreed to go to St. Francis Hospital.

BROWN IS FIRM IN FIGHT FOR GOVERNOR

Will Run Regardless of Decision of Vare or Others; Pinchot Still Keeps Mum

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27 (AP)—In face of growing belief by political leaders that William S. Vare intends to run for the Republican senatorial nomination at the primary next May, former Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown declares he will remain in the field for governorship regardless of who may be the candidates for governor or United States senator.

Mr. Brown's statement, a reiteration of what he said a week ago, was prompted by reports that he eventually would withdraw his [illegible].

Senator Joseph R. Grundy said in Washington [illegible] Mr. Vare proposes to remain a candidate against him in the primary.

Members of the Pennsylvania House delegation are apprehensive [illegible] fear the impending statewide fight will extend to candidates for Congress.

Move by Pinchot Expected Soon in Spite of Caution

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, here for a brief visit, reiterated today he has not yet made up his mind whether to be a candidate for the governorship again.

Despite the caution of the former governor on this all-important question, Philadelphia supporters who greeted him here openly declared that he would soon make the announcement that his hat is in the ring again in the [illegible].

Belief that he will soon publicly announce his candidacy was based on his statement:

"I shall consult no boss and ask nobody's permission. [illegible] it [illegible] my object would be to get control of the state for the benefit of a faction of the machine as against another faction of [illegible].

"In reaching my decision," he added, "my object will be to make the state government serve all the people as I did before.

"When the time comes for me to make up my mind I will say Yes or No."

His entry into the governorship race is fully expected here by his supporters, no matter how the breach between the Philadelphia organization and the Grundy-Fisher forces is finally adjusted.

NEW ALIEN BILL APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The revised Johnson bill to restrict western hemisphere immigration to an annual total of about 76,000 was approved today by the House Immigration Committee.

Drafted after lengthy hearings, the measure would set a limit of 67,[illegible] on the number of native-born Canadians entering this country each year and a limit of 2,900 on Mexicans.

The latter quota, however, would not go into effect until 1932. Meantime the quota for Mexico would be set at 11,021 for the fiscal year 1930 and 6,961 for 1931.

The quotas for other nations of the new world range down to a minimum of 100.

Newest Drug Enslaves Rich, Poor

By WINIFRED BLACK

Universal Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27—So it's the old, old, story over again—a woman of position and reputation—sinking into the mire of dope slavery.

A good home, a good husband, two lovely children, a fine circle of devoted friends all thrown aside like so much rubbish just for the sake of dope.

A year or so ago the very same thing happened in New England, and everybody in Chicago of any consequence knew the two highly educated clubwomen who went through the same hideous torment and died in disgrace.

Both of these women happened to be physicians and each of them was president of one of the greatest clubs in America.

One of the best known actresses in the world, one of the most popular story writers in America, the young wife of a very popular and successful musician, one of the most brilliant lawyers in California, a lawyer close to the top of the profession [illegible].

Oh, it doesn't stay down in the slums, this dope we're beginning to hear so much about.

"Silly Smoke"

"Silly smoke."

What do you know about "silly smoke?"

You and your nice kindly lighthearted friends, you and your good comfortable, respectable neighbors?

Nothing at all!

I wouldn't be too sure about that.

How about that 17-year-old boy that was so good natured and easy going, and full of boyish tricks and fun a year ago?

What's turning him so sullen and so irritable and ill-natured—all of a sudden?

How about that girl, the pretty little girl you are all so fond of?

How bright her eyes were six months ago, how she loved to dance and she was always singing and practicing new dance steps and laughing and talking over the phone and making what she persisted in calling "dates" with girls and boys she had known and you had known ever since she began to talk.

The color is going from her cheeks, her eyes look strange, sometimes they are too bright and sometimes they seem to look out through a kind of haze.

She forgets things, she's "too tired" to go dancing, and she's always smoking.

The boy is also smoking too—cigarets.

Yes, but what kind of cigarets?

Yankee Hasheesh

They make marijuana into cigarets nowadays, didn't you know that?

[illegible] plenty of marijuana cigarets on the market. They [illegible] "silly smokes" when they sell them.

Marijuana is really hasheesh—an American hasheesh.

In India in the Malay Peninsula they call hasheesh the "murder drug," and we are beginning to hear the American hasheesh, marijuana, called "murder smoke" here in police circles.

The police know all about murder smoke.

Whenever a particular cruel and revolting crime is committed and the criminal gets away—the police start hunting for the murder smoke users.

That baby that was found in the woodshed the other day, tortured almost beyond human belief!

Who tortured that poor helpless infant?

Nobody knows yet, but they are looking for some one who smokes "murder smoke."

The whole hideous affair bears all the earmarks of the work of a "murder smoker."

Those women, three different ones in three different parts of the country, who were saturated with gasoline and set on fire—were these "murder smoke" murders?

Ten chances to one they were!

How about the two young men who tortured a poor girl in the stone quarry near San Francisco the other night, disfigured her for life—a good girl with a good reputation—were those two young fiends "murder smokers?"

Ask the police, they'll tell you a tale about "murder smoke" crimes, a tale that will freeze the warmest blood in the calmest veins.

They raise marijuana up on some of the Delta farms right here in California.

Marijuana is sometimes brewed into a tea, sometimes it is snuffed from the crown of the thumb like cocaine, more often these days it is rolled into a cigaret.

The first "murder smoke" cigaret brings strange and weirdly beautiful dreams, but after the first few cigarets it takes more and more smoking to produce the dream, and suddenly the tortured nerves give way and the "murder smoker" must cut and stab and beat and shoot, to satisfy the tortured hunger created by the drug.

"Silly smoke"—how much do you know about it?

And how do you know when it is going to turn into "murder smoke?"

SENATORS RAKE RAIL MERGER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Notice of a contest against consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads, conditionally approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was given in the Senate by Senator Dill (Dem.), of Washington.

The Washington senator said he was ready to offer a resolution seeking to block the merger, and support in his drive was promised from others from the Northwest states. Senator Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana, previously had condemned this consolidation a part of the railroad consolidation scheme announced some time ago.

Holding that the two roads are competitors and that a merger would be "dangerous," Dill said the Interstate Commerce Commission had "gone far beyond any permissible action in the public interest" in approving the unifications of the two roads on the condition that they divest themselves of ownership of the Burlington.

"If these roads combine," he argued, "there can be but one result, a cutting down of train service, dropping of employes and the moving of many employes to other communities. The whole railroad situation in the Northwestern states would be upset."

DEWEY'S SHIP BILL O. K.'D

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Cochran bill to preserve Admiral Dewey's flagship, The Olympia, as a memorial to the Spanish-American war veterans, was approved by the House Naval Affairs Committee. The bill would authorize $25,000 to recondition the vessel and bring it to the national capital.

Representative Cochran, (Dem.) of Missouri, author of the bill, obtained what he termed a "stay of execution" last fall from the Navy Department order to junk the ship. He asked that Congress might have a chance to provide for her preservation, he said. The Olympia is now laid up in the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Under the Missourian's measure the Olympia would be moored permanently in the national capital and maintained as a shrine to the memory of those who gave their lives in the war with Spain.

STORE SURVEY SET BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—A comparative study of chain and independent store prices to be made in the near future by the Federal Trade Commission was announced by the commission in its monthly report.

The city in which the study will be made has not yet been selected, but it will be larger than either Washington or Cincinnati, in which similar investigations were made pursuing the commission's survey of chain stores under direction of Senate resolution.

The inquiry calls for a comprehensive report on whether consolidations of stores have been effected in violation of the anti-trust laws and directs the commission to suggest what legislation, if any, should be enacted to regulate chain store distribution.

Shippers Warned To Insure Goods

CHICAGO ACTOR PLOT DOUBTED

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(AP)— Reports that extortionists have been levying tribute on stage stars appearing in Chicago, which prompted an investigation by the Actors Equity Association in New York, have been greatly magnified, police and officials of the Chicago Equity said.

Those reported to have been victimized were listed as Francine Larrimore, Groucho Marx, Eddie Cantor, Phil Baker, Jack Pearl and Joe Frisco.

"Sometime ago a number of petty grafters attempted to frighten some stage celebrities into paying tribute by means of anonymous telephone calls, letters and such, but arrests of a couple of the offenders put a stop to the practice," Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, said.

Roche said he had heard reports that [illegible], a minor underworld character who was found shot to death near Texas Guinan's night club a few weeks ago, was involved in a plot to kidnap the night club queen, but doubted the authenticity of the report.

BRITAN FLAYED IN REICHSTAG

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—(AP)— England was assailed by a number of deputies while a Reichstag committee was discussing a liquidation agreement with Great Britain.

One Nationalist said it was incredible that England should reserve the right to confiscate, retain or liquidate German property in the future, and he added this was a right which only the Negro republic of Liberia had maintained.

"It is a bare faced robbery, and there is no question of treaty obligations or of loyalty at stake," was the way in which Dr. Schnee, former governor of German-East Africa, described the proposed agreement with England, Australia and New Zealand.

He said it was in reality a continuation of war plunder and a gross violation of Versailles treaty rights.

Another deputy suggested the need of an economic pact as far-reaching as the Kellogg treaty which would regulate the treatment of private property in case of war.

DOMINICANS TRY PEACE PARLEY

SANTA DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 27.—(AP)— With the city of Santo Domingo and most of the country in the hands of insurgent forces, leading figures in both the insurgent movement and in the government were gathered here today to reach an agreement.

President Horacio Vasquez, whose resignation has been demanded by the insurgents, summoned a national assembly at which he planned to present a presidential message. He invited diplomats and consuls to be present.

During the night Gen. Rafael Estrella Urena and Desiderio Arias, chiefs of the movement against the government, arrived in the capital which is being held by 2,000 of their followers.

NEILAN, WRITER AVERT BRAWL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 27.—(INS)— A flare-up between Marshall Neilan, film director, and Arthur Caesar, playwright, in a cafe was being discussed today.

Harsh words were reported to have been exchanged, but there were no fisticuffs as in the recent Jim Tully-John Gilbert disagreement, which has since been patched up.

"I started to sock him," Caesar said.

Neilan's comment was: "Nothing to it, must have been a couple of other guys."

$500,000 Oil Payroll Saved by Policeman

BAYONNE, N. J., Feb. 27.—(INS)— Five armed bandits, one clad in a special policeman's uniform, today made an unsuccessful attempt at the Bayonne postoffice to make away with registered mail reported to contain a $500,000 Standard Oil Company payroll.

SCHEME LINKED WITH GERMAN BOND ISSUE

Linking of Federal Reserve With International Group Exposed by House Leader

By LOUIS T. McFADDEN

(Chairman House Committee on Banking and Currency)

(Written Expressly for Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The American people are being adroitly led into the League of Nations, the League's Court and the new international bank for settlement of German reparations against the views of an overwhelming majority of our people as shown in the last three presidential elections.

It is no wonder that this country is being led by a very small minority [illegible] with a much larger international [illegible].

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York has been [illegible] contrary to the [illegible] of the State Department and [illegible] of Congress [illegible] the Federal Reserve system.

CHANGE IN POLICY

The State Department in May 1929 following publication of the report from a committee of experts on the Young plan at Paris announced that the Federal Reserve system was not to be involved in the plan of the international bank of settlements. The State Department was [illegible] following the policy that the United States would not participate in any manner in the plan for settlement of German reparations.

This [illegible] is pertinent [illegible] of the fact that the governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, George L. Harrison, recently took to a meeting of European central bankers who are to be the directors of the International Bank of Settlements.

It also has been revealed that the chairman of the board of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, Gates W. McGarrah, has been selected to head the bank of international settlements and be one of its directors along with Leon Fraser of New York, an attorney [illegible] to be close to J. P. Morgan and Company.

We all know the [illegible] association of foreign banks and officials of the New York Federal Reserve Bank have been associated in working out German reparation transfers and settlements.

COOLIDGE UPSETS SCHEME

In this connection I have only to refer to the conference held here in Washington in January, 1926, participated in by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, Gov. Rist of the Bank of France and S. Parker Gilbert, agent of reparations.

They conferred with officials of our Treasury Department on a proposed flotation of a big loan in the United States secured by pledges of German railways.

I understand the scheme was entirely upset by President Coolidge.

Now we find this same crowd of internationalists engaged in a new method of working the same old deal, but this time through establishment of the bank of international settlements. The scheme now is to sell German reparation bonds through J. P. Morgan & Co. to the [illegible] public of the United States.

BONDS TO BE TRIED OUT

It is proposed to [illegible] the American market after a [illegible] reparations, the [illegible] of which [illegible]. The scheme is to offer about $200,000,000 of these bonds [illegible] between $1,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 of these bonds upon the American market.

This plan [illegible] the next few years $[illegible],000,000,000 or $[illegible],000,000 of the German war debt [illegible] from the allied [illegible] banks of America [illegible].

If these German reparation bonds are to be floated in the United States as I have indicated, the State Department should furnish the American public with the facts as to just what the transaction means and whether these bonds are to be used [illegible] as indicated by the late [illegible] Dr. Stresemann.

INDEPENDENCE URGED

No investment of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York or the Federal Reserve system in the operations of the international bank should be permitted because the Federal Reserve banks carry the entire gold reserves of the country and these reserves do not belong to these banks except as trustees. The gold is the property of the people of the United States and the Federal Reserve banks should not be permitted to barter this gold for any plan of international relationship.

It behooves the faithful Americans to see to it that the Federal Reserve banks maintain a position of absolute independence from any European-operated banking scheme as is proposed in the international bank of settlement.

Rich Ohioan Fights Maintenance Suit

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—(INS)—[illegible] Mrs. Margaret P. Whitaker of Beverly Hills filed a separate maintenance suit [illegible] Whitaker, [illegible] businessman of [illegible].

Mrs. Whitaker declared her husband [illegible] $1,000,000 [illegible] a $5,000,000 estate [illegible] $1,000 a month [illegible] and $10,000 attorney fees.

U. S. AIDE HEADS DEBT BANK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, will resign his position to become head of the International Settlements Bank set up under the Young plan, it was confirmed today at the [illegible].

McGarrah's resignation is expected in a few days.

McGarrah and Leon Fraser, New York attorney and counsel of the Dawes plan for reparations payments, were recommended for appointment.

The recommendations were made by the representatives [illegible] interested in the International Bank who met at the Banca D'Italia at Rome for a series of conversations preliminary to the establishment of the International Bank at Basle, Switzerland, next month.

Bomb on Starter Kills Auto Owner

MARION, Ind., Feb. 27.—(AP)—[illegible] Ashcraft, employe of a local [illegible] works, was injured fatally last night when a bomb attached to the starter of his automobile exploded on a downtown street. He died in a local hospital more than an hour later, the fifth victim in Marion in the past few months of explosions involving [illegible] workers.

Man in Ill Health Ends Life by Rope

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—Ill health caused L. McCartney, 60, of Washington Township, to end his life by hanging in a neighbor's barn, according to a report received by the coroner here.

McCartney made careful preparations for the deed, first purchasing a new rope and then leaving a note directing the funeral arrangements.

Post to Arrange Boxing Bout Card

North Borough Post No. 1[illegible], American Legion, will meet tomorrow night in the post home, South Home avenue, Avalon, to make final plans for the boxing bouts to be staged Saturday night in Avalon Borough Hall. Charles [illegible], chairman of the general committee, [illegible].

South Africa Last To Give Vote To Women

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Prime Minister J. B. Hertzog announced in the Assembly that he would introduce a bill on March 3 to give women the franchise in parliamentary and provincial elections.

Passage of this bill would bring all the dominions of the British Empire into line, South Africa being the last to accord women the franchise. In certain provinces or states, however, the provincial franchise has not been accorded, notably in Quebec.

Auto Hurts Fatal, Driver Is Held

Charles E. Walker, 38, salesman, of 413 West Washington street, Cedar Rapids, Ia., died today in the Pittsburgh Hospital of injuries when he was struck by an auto in front of 2874 Baum boulevard Sunday. Jack Fierce of New York, said by police to be the driver of the car which struck him, will be turned over to the coroner under bail.

WOULD REDUCE VOTE ZONES

A proposal to reduce the 29 districts of the Fifteenth Ward to 16 districts for the installation of voting machines was taken under advisement by the redistricting commissioners who heard residents of the ward last night. The plan finally accepted was presented by Republican Ward Chairman Leo Kirsch.

In the Twenty-fifth Ward it was proposed to reduce the 21 districts to 11, the proposal being sponsored by State Senator Morris Einstein, Republican chairman of the ward. The Fifteenth Ward hearing was conducted by Commissioners David L. Lawrence, George E. Meyers and Mortimer B. Lesher. The hearing in the Twenty-fifth Ward was conducted by Commissioners Howard Neely, Joseph G. Armstrong Jr. and John T. Small.

Boys Admit Holdup Unknown to Police

FARRELL, Pa., Feb. 27.—Five youths arrested on a charge of passing worthless checks confessed that they had held up and robbed a man in Sharon January 15, although Sharon police had no record of the holdup, they reported. The youths arrested were Steve Berkes, 15; Leo Brown, 18; Joseph Mihalcin, 18, and John Skubich, 21, all of Farrell, and Frank Yavorsky, 17, of Sharon. When arrested all carried guns. Police made an attempt to link them with the murder of Frank Disilvio, but they denied having any part in that crime.

HOW ONE MAN ENDED "RHEUMATISM"

Stomach Troubles, and Built up His Strength At The Same Time

There is a way to get rid of rheumatism pains along with pains in the stomach, back and sides—and until you try it you can blame only yourself for your suffering.

It's through the use of the remarkable medicine Tanlac that for years has steadily but quietly been performing almost miraculous benefits for millions. Here's just one case out of thousands who have in their joy taken the trouble to write us. His name is Mr. R. F. Burbage. Mr. Burbage, a transfer man, suffered for 15 years from rheumatism and as he had to earn his living like you and I he had just about despaired when as a last resort he tried Tanlac. "I could hardly move about or raise my arms up. To go up or down stairs it would seem like my knees would break. The pain hurt awful and crippled me up. Besides rheumatism, my digestion was bad and I was rundown generally. It was a mighty big handicap in my business. Finally I began Tanlac and it won the bout for me. I began at once to overcome my muscular rheumatism and now have not an ache or pain and am a well and new man. I recommend Tanlac with unbounded confidence." Other remedies may promise but Tanlac performs—a real medicine that backs claims with a guarantee. Accept no substitute. At all druggists.

SLAIN WOMAN, PRINCE LINKED

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 27 (AP.)—A coroner's jury investigating the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Moormeister, 32, whose battered body was found on an isolated road near here last Saturday, expected to complete its inquiry today. Yesterday it listened to revelations of a love affair between the 32-year-old woman and a Persian prince.

Testimony of the woman's husband, Dr. Frank Moormeister, that his discovery of a letter in his wife's desk after the murder revealed his wife's intimacy with Prince Farid, of Persia, while the Moormeisters were visiting in Paris last year created something of a sensation and shifted investigation of the tragedy.

Dr. Moormeister said that while in Europe he made several side trips, his wife and his daughter, Miss Peggy Moormeister, staying in Paris. He said his wife met the prince and later introduced them.

County Attorney John D. Rice attempted to show that Miss Moormeister had told her father of the prince's relations with Mrs. Moormeister, but the doctor denied it.

OFFICIAL BACKS BRANCH BANKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP.)—Development of a system of branch banking, in the opinion of John W. Pole, comptroller of the currency, would not necessarily be another step toward consolidation of business interests, but would result in locally centralized capital.

Occupying the stand for the third day in the House Banking Committee's inquiry into group, branch and chain banking, the comptroller, who advocates "decentralized branch banking" to fill the need for stronger rural banks, today agreed with committee members that there should be some restriction to prevent consolidation of branch bank systems.

Pole replied that branch banking would result in concentrating banking resources in a great number of economic centers over the country, and would bring about a decentralization of capital so far as the great financial centers like New York and Chicago were concerned.

2 Furnish Bond in Prison Substitution

Deputy Marshal John F. Austin returned from Erie today with the announcement that Attorney Samuel Rossiter and Joseph Donovan, auto dealer, each had posted $5,000 bond for preliminary hearing Saturday before the United States commissioner in Erie on charges of substituting a federal prisoner. They are accused of aiding in the substitution of one Joe Jarvis to serve a prison sentence meted out to Stanley Wells, alleged fugitive bootlegger.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

NEW THEATERS, PANTAGES PLAN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Coincident with the reported improvement in the condition of Alexander Pantages, millionaire showman who is in jail here pending his appeal from a penitentiary sentence for attacking 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, it was learned that he is considering plans for a new chain of theaters.

The 54-year-old [illegible] recently sold his theaters for $[illegible],000,000. It was about that same time that the [illegible] was attacked. He was sentenced to one to fifty years in prison. Pending his appeal he has sought release from jail on the ground that he was too ill to be kept in confinement.

Dr. Benjamin Black, jail physician, said Pantages' condition was serious, with heart complications.

Police Use Boat To Capture 'Cutter'

Jake Haywood, 31, arrested while wading knee-deep in flood water in Little Sawmill Run in the rear of his home at Bell avenue, West End, was ordered to serve 30 days in the workhouse today on the charge of being a suspicious person. Patrolman William Sullivan, who commandeered a boat to catch his prisoner, testified that Haywood, after cutting Austin Holmes, 31, of 1065 School street, had also threatened his wife. Haywood's weapon, it was alleged, was a large butcher knife.

Holmes was endeavoring to wrest the knife from Haywood's grasp when the cutting occurred, according to Patrolman Williams. Eight stitches were required to close the wound, which was in Holmes' left hand.

HOUSES SINKING INTO TUNNEL

Three houses situated above the old Pittsburgh-Castle Shannon tunnel on Williams street, Mt. Washington, threatened to collapse today as the hillside over the abandoned tube settled into the subway 70 feet below the surface.

The action of the fall-in was first noticed last night by Joseph Depps and his son Ray, who reside at 424 Williams street. Their foundation [illegible] sank, and they immediately removed all their household furnishings.

Police said two adjoining houses are also in danger. The old Castle Shannon tunnel was built about 1868 and was abandoned in 1887. It was a half mile in length, running through the hillside from Williams street to a point near the south end of the Pittsburgh Railways tunnel.

NEW LIBRARIES PLANNED

New libraries for Brookline and Carrick in 1930 and the lending of nearly 3,000,000 books in the past year were announced by Ralph Munn, director of the Carnegie Libraries, in his annual report issued today.

The lending of books during 1929 broke all previous records for the city and represented an increase of 304,697 over the 1928 number. The number borrowed was 2,853,283.

The principal centers according to greatest activities were East Liberty, South Side and Wylie avenue. The newest agency, Knoxville, showed a promising growth, lending more books than several older and larger branches.

Director Munn also explained that the reference room in the Central library would contain more seats. It now accommodates 156 and is crowded. A special fine arts department will also be installed there.

That business men and industries find the business district branch in the City-County Building convenient is borne out by the rapid growth, he said. Moody's, Poor's, and Standard statistics are the downtown's favorite volumes.

Co-operation with boroughs had its first trial during the past year, Mt. Oliver contracting for library services. The possibility of extension of this contract service was emphasized in the report.

Wife Tells Newest Scotch Story On Hubby

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Helen Grace Johnson told another of those Scotch stories in Judge Harry A. Lewis' court.

She informed Judge Lewis that her husband, whom she is suing for divorce, insisted on buying all the food for the family and made her wear magnifying glasses so the food would look like more.

The husband, Arthur Johnson, decided not to contest the case after he found out what it would cost.

CITIZENS FIGHT EXTORTIONISTS

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Aroused over the kidnaping of Charles W. Pershall, wealthy chain grocer and banker of Granite City, Ill., in the St. Louis district, who is reported to have been forced to pay extortionists $40,000 for his freedom, a group of Granite City businessmen have called a mass meeting to talk over the crime situation.

The meeting was called for Friday night in the Granite City Masonic Temple. It is sponsored by 25 businessmen, including William Champion, president of a local bank and a close friend of Pershall.

"We've been held up, bulldozed and kidnaped long enough," said Champion, acting as spokesman for the group.

TICKET AGENCY IN TAX FRAUD

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Leo I. S. Conway, head of Conway's Theater Ticket Offices, Inc., was accused in an indictment found by a Federal grand jury here with attempting to defraud the government of $54,211.79 in taxes due on amusement tickets sold by his agency at premiums far above the box office prices.

The assessments Conway's agency was supposed to have paid represented an extra tax on all tickets sold at more than 50 cents above their face value. The agency is declared to have disposed of more than 200,000 tickets between January and November, 1927, at prices exceeding the face value, with the 50 cents additional counted. Conway is alleged to have reported that the only premium charged was the half-dollar over the box-office prices.

MORRIS SCORES IN WIFE'S SUIT

PARIS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The Attorney General today rendered an opinion favoring Nelson Morris in the Chicagoan's appeal from the verdict of a Versailles court which awarded $1,000 monthly temporary alimony to his French actress wife, Jane Aubert.

The Attorney General remarked that Morris already had spent too much on his wife.

The Court of Appeal, which usually accepts the government attorney's opinion, will give a decision next week.

The Attorney General said Mr. Morris had been paying $1,100 a year for her shoes, "which is very much."

He said he thought $1,000 a month for alimony was "excessive," and added that the Chicagoan had spent a great deal on his wife, including $52,000 for a villa in a suburb of Paris given the wife in a pre-nuptial contract.

OFFICERS HELD IN DRY KILLING

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Elsey Justice, a policeman of Chincoteague Island, Va., was held in Accomac County jail charged with the fatal shooting at Chincoteague of Clayton F. Townsend of Somerset County, Md.

A coroner's jury at Chincoteague in charge of A. B. Topping, justice of the peace, found that Townsend, a suspected bootlegger, came to his death by a bullet fired from a revolver in the hands of an unknown person.

Serg. C. D. Andrews of the Chincoteague police force was released under $10,000 bond as an accessory before the fact in connection with the death of the Marylander.

Police said Townsend was intercepted in Chincoteague by Serg. Andrews and Justice on the suspicion he was engaged in liquor traffic. Justice, according to the report, stepped from his machine onto the running board of Townsend's car and the Maryland man was shot when he pushed the officer off and drove away.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—(AP)—China's silver dollar registered a new low exchange rate today, sinking to 33.58 gold cents and nearing the three-for-one ratio to gold dollars predicted in financial circles.

As the Mexican dollar, principal unit in the currency of China, declines, financial troubles in this country increase. Prices of everything are soaring and living costs have been sharply affected.

"ROUNDED SLIMNESS" DECREE OF FASHION

Changes in Style Demand Return to Normal Diet

The flat, skinny figure is no longer in vogue. Slimness is to be desired, but in the words of an international authority "rounded slimness" should be the goal of every woman.

In attaining "rounded slimness" diet plays a very important part. Foods formerly avoided are recommended in every day's menu. These include meat, eggs, milk and plenty of vegetables and fruit. Cereals with milk or cream and sprinkled with sugar are also important in the diet for "rounded slimness."

Particular attention should be paid to desserts. Puddings, custards, fruit pies and ice cream not only have food value but complete the meal in a most satisfying way. Candy is also an ideal dessert. And for variation try cream cheese and crackers with jelly or jam.

To avoid monotony in the diet many foods can be improved by a little sugar. This is especially true of vegetables which often are tasteless because they do not reach the home immediately after they are picked. For example, spinach, tomatoes, carrots, cabbage and peas are much improved in flavor by adding a dash of sugar. A pinch of salt to a dash of sugar is a good rule to follow.

Aside from the [illegible] sugar [illegible] tant [illegible] energy [illegible] sume [illegible] wise be added to the [illegible] food promotes health [illegible] The Sugar Institute.

But he was a kind of gentleman butterfly: flower to flower.

And now in the very middle of his romantic career he met a girl who held his fancy. He wanted to marry her. But there was some invisible barrier between them.

And she never told him why!

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle.

Listerine halts food fermentation in the mouth. And being a powerful deodorant, it destroys all odors, leaving the breath fresh, sweet, and clean. It puts you on the safe and polite side.

Moreover, in using Listerine to combat halitosis, you are quite sure to avoid sore throat and those more serious illnesses that start with throat infections. Because such infections are caused by germs—and Listerine kills germs. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 yield to it in 15 seconds.

NEW DRUG USED BY SURGEON

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—(Universal.)—A new drug, perkain, having the narcotic qualities of cocaine without its harmful effects, has been discovered by Dr. Helmut Richter, head physician of the Erlangen University ear, nose and throat clinic, he reports.

Physicians who have witnessed the use of perkain predict that cocaine never will be needed again by their profession, making its complete abolition possible.

The new drug, according to Dr. Richter, deadens pain quicker than cocaine and leaves no bad after-effects. Dr. Richter has used perkain for delicate operations on the throat.

Even more surprising has been the employment of this drug with adrenalin. The combination permits a bloodless and painless operation. Such an operation on the kidneys has been performed by Dr. Richter.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27 (AP.)—It was learned in government circles here that Gen. Jose Maria Tapia, governor of the Northern district of Lower California, is coming to Mexico City on a brief leave and probably will arrive on March 4.

The federal government's recent recommendation that the establishment and operation of gambling houses be forbidden throughout the nation is believed to have considerable to do with Gov. Tapia's trip inasmuch as such action would hit Lower California harder than any other part of the country, Lower California being a territory rather than a state, is under the direct jurisdiction of the federal government.

Now Delicate, Backward Youngsters Will Thrive

Health and Growth Vitamins Now Obtainable in a Pleasant Form—Easy to Digest and Assimilate

Do not force your boy or girl to take fishy, disagreeable liquid cod liver oil when McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are just as rich in vitamin A and in the "sunshine" vitamin D as well—so rich in fact that a child's normal daily supply is like the sun-drenching that he would get from playing all day long at the beach. As McCoy's Tablets are free from all objectionable features, any child will gladly take them as long and regularly as is necessary.

A Remarkable Scientific Discovery

It was only after years of research and experiment that McCoy's Laboratories, Inc., of New York City, succeeded in separating cod liver oil's most valuable elements from its unpleasant liquid part. But now they are able to make and sell immense quantities of tablets containing this wonderful vitamin-rich cod liver oil extract—tablets equal in vitamin volume and strength to the finest grade of super-refined cod liver oil yet wholly free from any fishy taste, odor or disturbing greasiness.

Wonderful for Growing Bodies

Two McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equal to one teaspoonful of the pure, vitamin-tested Norwegian cod liver oil from which they are made. Genuine cod liver oil extract is their only ingredient—no harmful or habit-forming drugs, no inert medicines, no temporary "pick-me-ups." And the seeds of vigorous growth, of new health, strength and energy are in every tablet. You don't have to miss the midday dose—easy to carry, easy to take.

For any sick, anemic, rundown or underweight condition for which cod liver oil is known to be beneficial it is just as safe, just as beneficial and far more pleasant to take or give McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets instead. 60 tablets, 60 cents at any drugstore. —McCoy Lab. Inc. 1929.

SPURIOUS BILLS PLENTY IN N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—A. H. Moran, chief of the secret service, said last night that an unprecedented number of counterfeits of $10 and $20 Federal Reserve notes were being reported from New York City.

Chief Moran said no estimate of the amount of the counterfeits had been made by the secret service but that operators of New York police were arresting two or three persons a day for passing the bogus notes. He said that the bills thus far reported were imperfect counterfeits of Federal Reserve notes but there seemed to be no difficulty in putting them into circulation in New York City.

In the last year the secret service has raided headquarters of counterfeiting gangs in New York and arrested their leaders.

There have been numerous reports by members of Congress since the new sized bills were issued that there had been an increase in counterfeiting activities. The new sized currency was put in circulation last July, and the first case of such counterfeiting resulted in the arrest of the manufacturer of the bogus money 24 hours afterward.

Along with the reports of activities in New York there came a warning against spurious $20 notes on the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

COMMON COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

Many Serious Ailments Get Their Start From Little Colds.

Some day people will learn to appreciate the serious danger of ordinary colds and how they weaken general health. Every day some one reports a long period of illness following a cold. Colds weaken people so that one is hardly over until another one starts. They set up an inflammation of the membranes that line the nose and throat, and these in turn extend the inflammation to the stomach and bowels. After a few weeks of this the entire mucous membrane is likely to be quite catarrhal.

When it is remembered that practically everything we need to sustain life—the air we breathe, the food we eat and the water we drink—must be absorbed through these membranes, the importance of keeping them free from catarrh will be understood. Many a person suffers agonies from a catarrhal stomach and many can trace their decline in health back to this condition in stomach, bowels or nose and throat.

That is why prompt treatment of a catarrhal condition, however slight it may appear, is of real importance. World's Tonic should be taken whenever the system fails to function properly, whenever the slightest stomach or bowel trouble manifests itself, for the leading doctors of the world have agreed that everyone's bowels should move freely three times every day. In that way the ravages of catarrh may be checked and much suffering avoided.

A great host of people have used World's Tonic for catarrh. In many cases it has been used to relieve stomach trouble of long standing but was evidently catarrhal in its origin. Wherever there is stagnation of blood in the membranes there usually is catarrh. Prevent it from disabling you by this valuable new World's Tonic, which can be obtained at Dow's, May-Liggett's, Mayflower, or any other first class drug store. (A-63)

People are often too patient with pain. Suffering when there is no need to suffer. Shopping with a head that throbs. Working though they ache all over.

And Bayer Aspirin would bring immediate relief!

The best time to take Bayer Aspirin is the moment you first feel the pain. Why postpone relief until the pain has reached its height? Why hesitate to take anything so harmless?

BOOK SEIZURE PROTESTED

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Seizure by customs officials of a four-volume set of the works of Francois Rabelais owned by Douglas H. Gordon, Baltimore attorney, was made known here. Written in French, the books were seized on the grounds they were obscene. A protest was made by Gordon against the action of the officers and a hearing has been set for April in customs court.

Gordon said he purchased the books, similar to some in the Library of Congress at Washington, in this country and took them to Paris to have them rebound. It was when he returned them to this country that they were taken away, he said, under the provisions of the tariff act of 1922 forbidding the importation of obscene matter.

EVERY EXPECTANT MOTHER SHOULD KNOW THESE FACTS

It's an old saying that a baby costs two of the mother's teeth. Teeth do decay rapidly during pregnancy in part because of the presence of excess acids in the mother's mouth.

But you can protect the teeth of motherhood by using Squibb's Dental Cream. It contains 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Plenty of this soothing antacid to penetrate the crevices of the teeth and gums and render acids harmless even where the toothbrush fails to reach. To guard The Danger Line, the vital gum margin which prevents pyorrhea as long as it keeps healthy. Surely the dentifrice the expectant mother selects is all-important. Squibb's is the only type of dentifrice that offers these special benefits so valuable during expectancy. At all reliable drug stores.

"And O'er His Heart A SHADOW FELL,"
[Edgar Allan Poe, 1809-1849]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW

By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper form, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

RADIO fans who thrill to the broadcast of boxing contests, will have a treat tonight in the presentation of Frank & Seder Men's Hour over Station WJAS at 8 o'clock, when the Sullivan-Corbett fight at New Orleans, in 1892, will be re-created blow by blow.

Tonight's broadcast will tell the detailed story of Corbett's victory over Sullivan, the champion, and will give the fight blow-by-blow together with a word-picture of the crowd, the arena and the circumstances surrounding this great battle. The contests have been re-created from newspaper accounts and stories written by eye-witnesses of the fight and sports writers who have heard the test programs are enthusiastic over the accuracy of the accounts.

It was in this fight with Sullivan that Corbett, who is in Miami, Fla., tonight, covering the Sharkey-Scott battle for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, won the heavyweight championship of the world.

SHARKEY-SCOTT FIGHT

From 10 until 10:30 tonight the following stations will broadcast telegraphic reports of the Sharkey-Scott fight in Miami:

WABC (860-348.6), WWJ (920-326), WFBG (1120-268), WLBW (1260-238), WHK (1390-216), WADC (1320-227), WCAU (1170-256), WHP (1430-209).

If the Columbia network continues the broadcast after 10:30 the last part of the fight will be heard over WJAS.

* * *

Mildred Gardner, of Pittsburgh, who made her radio debut at KDKA in 1922, later going to WEAF and vaudeville, will sing "The Spirit Flower" and "Coming Home" at the pioneer tonight at 6:15.

* * *

"HOLD THAT LINE!"

Her appearance recalls a funny incident in the early days of broadcasting. Microphone technique was in its infancy and the announcer was the sole judge of what sounded good and what sounded bad. To guide him in his judgment the studio floor was laid out in chalk lines like a football field. When a contralto sang she stood on the five-yard line. A soprano was penalized on the eight-yard line and was not allowed to move toward the "mike" until beckoned by the announcer.

Fight on Air

John L. Sullivan James J. Corbett

The Sullivan-Corbett championship fight in 1892 will be recreated for WJAS listeners at 8 o'clock in a new series sponsored by Frank and Seder.

The microphone looked like a rain spout.

HOCUS-POCUS

While Thurston was broadcasting over WLW the microphone went dead. Immediately the operator shifted the controls to the spare microphone without losing any of the magician's words. When he walked out of the studio, Thurston reached into his pocket, pulled out two tubes from the microphone's amplifier and guilelessly asked: "Where did these come from?"

Robert Brown, who announced the program, reached for his watch and smiled relievedly when he found it safe in his pocket.

Treasury Car Holdup.

In describing the holdup of the Agua Caliente treasury car containing $85,000 in cash the program will present a dramatization of the work of the San Diego police which solved one of California's most amazing crimes.

The robbery was staged in broad daylight, on the National City dike, yet so cleverly was the crime planned that the robbers escaped from the scene without difficulty. The broadcast, from the story of William G. Cayce, a newspaper man who covered the investigation from the start, presents a faithful step-by-step account of the detectives' work.

BROWN AIMS TO KEEP GOSSER ON JOB

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

THE friends of Otto Kuhler will be glad but not surprised to learn of his success. An artist, Mr. Kuhler came to Pittsburgh six years ago with $26 and without his Belgian wife. Today he lives in a splendid home in Scarsdale, N. Y., has elaborate offices and his etchings are on view in most of the country's galleries.

The mills of Pittsburgh, like the industries of his own Ruhr district, captivated Kuhler's fancy and he painted and etched to his heart's content. Several of his large canvases hang on the Chamber of Commerce walls.

HOPE I CAN HAVE A SECRETARY SOME DAY !

It was three years ago that Kuhler left Pittsburgh for New York, disappointed with his local success. Now, at 36, he is outstanding among the country's artists. In fact, you have to see his secretary before you can see him, a situation which should astound thousands of other artists.

* * *

One of the interesting women in these parts is Lieut. Sophie Nowosielska, who disguised herself in man's clothes to fight for Poland against the Ukranians and Bolsheviks 12 years ago. Six months ago she joined her husband, who is an athletic instructor at Cambridge Springs.

The lieutenant's war experiences were probably more unusual than the average doughboy's. Once she was wounded, a dozen times she was decorated for her services to her country. She comes of an aristocratic Polish family whose fortunes were wiped out by the wars.

ONE SHOE — HM-M — NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT !

Mrs. Nowosielska was visiting the Polish consul, A. M. Ocethiewicz, and telling a story of the war.

An officer, injured in action, was having his leg amputated. His orderly wept sincere tears.

"Why do you cry, Joe?" the officer asked. "Now you will have but one shoe to shine."

* * *

WE ARE explaining to Miss Clare Scott, who is one of Pittsburgh's three Scott Sisters with Mr. White's show, the things she should tell her press agent.

"Now, for instance," we said, "nobody cares what you think about Pittsburgh and whether you're going to settle down here some time, but somebody might be interested to know that you like your eggs boiled nine minutes."

WELL NOW !

"Well, let's suppose you like eggs."

"I refuse to suppose I like eggs," Miss Scott stood firm. "I have my public to think of."

"Don't you think your public likes eggs?"

"My public consists of anti-egg lovers," Miss Scott defended.

"Well, what do you think of the world court and the Sixth Street Bridge and the Town Hall and Senator Borah?"

"I'm crazy about them all," Miss Scott confessed, "but I don't like eggs—not even at Easter time."

Mace Will Speak On 'The Yoke Maker'

"The Yoke Maker" is the subject of the address which James C. Mace will give tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. The address will be put on the air by KDKA.

Will Rogers Says:

Beverly Hills, Cal., Feb. 27.

Say, did you hear about the wives of the Senators and Congressmen having Rudy Vallee come down to Washington so they could look him over? There's life in the old girls yet. Now I look for Reed Smoot, Shortridge, Heflin, Watson, Longworth and Garner to have Clara Bow and Texas Guinan come down and see if they can't give them a new lease on life.

France had a historical day all right. One premier stayed in till pretty near three o'clock in the afternoon. It was raining and they couldn't get there to vote him out earlier.

Yours, WILL ROGERS

"CHICKIE"

Jake Sends Chickie' Jewel And Love Message

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Chickie Bryce is attending business college when the story opens. Her father, Jonathan, fears the pitfalls ahead of her, but his wife allays his fears. Chickie gets a position in a brokerage office. Through one of her co-workers, Janina Knowles, she meets Jake Munson, a rich bachelor. Mary Blake, Chickie's closest friend, marries a poor young chemist, much to Chickie's regret. Mary's brother, Jimmy, begs Chickie to marry him, but without success. Chickie meets Barry Dunne at a party given by Munson. She learns that the party is to last all night and Barry takes her home. The next night Barry calls at her home. Barry takes Chickie motoring, tells her she's beautiful and kisses her. Munson meets Chickie and insists on taking her to dinner. He asks her if she'll be one of a party on a yachting cruise. Chickie goes out often with Barry and the depth of her affection for him frightens her. Jake, more and more attentive, tells Chickie he loves her, and she bursts into tears.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XX.

JAKE leaned forward and whispered something to the chauffeur. He took Chickie's hands gently, watching her with hot, intent eyes. "Why did you cry, Chickie?"

She answered in a very low tone: "I didn't cry."

"Why did you cover your face, then?"

"I don't know—everything—all at once. Oh, I didn't want you to say that. You don't love me. I know it. You only say that. It spoils everything."

He pressed her hands against his knee. Suddenly, he leaned down, forcing her head up. "I love you, Chickie—terribly. I want you. I'd give the world to have you put your arms about me. I want that. I want it! Oh, you dear—" The red mouth curved in a warm, flashing smile, his eyes glowed softly into hers: "Chickie—kiss me—just once—let me—"

She put her hand up between them. She sat perfectly still, staring at him, his lips moving over her palm. He caught both her wrists, drawing her arms down in a sudden violence. His eyes, alight, swept over her face. Holding her so, he murmured: "I love you—you don't know—you little white darling—please—"

She closed her eyes—hearing his breath. Presently he freed her hands. He looked at her smiling, quiet, exultant: "Chickie, dear, I couldn't help that. It's the way you look. I'd give the world—"

"Don't say it again, please—"

"But I would. I will—you dear—wait—I mean it—I love you."

Perplexed

Decides to Call on Janina For Her Opinion

When he left her at the door he leaned down and whispered in her ear, "I love you—you dear!"

She went into her room and began undressing in a swift, breathless excitement. The acuteness of her sensations, the half-terrified thrill surprised and horrified her. She looked at her hands, feeling vividly the movement of his lips.

Her thought was submerged in her emotion that kept stealing in over her in waves, repeating "I love you"—bringing his lips to her ears; his eyes glowing into hers.

Did he love her? Did he mean it? "Little wh' darling—" She blushed to find herself wondering; more than half believing.

Her memories distracted her all the next morning. By noon she began to fear that she might meet him on the street. She was uncertain what to do. She wanted desperately to talk; ask some one's opinion—in a round-about way.

Janina was home; she had a sprained ankle. Suddenly Chickie decided she would visit her. Janina knew Jake Munson—she would find out if those things Janina said were true.

The 'Studio'

Janina's Apartment Like An Italian Garden

Janina's apartment, which she was pleased to call her "studio," wa on the top floor of an old fashioned building not far from the Heights. Four flights of stairs led to the single great room.

Half way up Chickie paused for breath. A big window let in the sun at this landing. In the light she saw, suddenly, a quick, elastic figure—a boy, yellow haired, stormy eyed, a youthful petulance in his chin. Seeing Chickie, the blood swept into his cheeks. He passed on quickly.

When she knocked, Janina said "Come in."

Sun streamed like a great, golden canopy across the long room, warmed up the faded old chintz drapes, made the place, now massed with flowers, seem like some quiet Italian garden.

Janina, her face flushed, a tense, bright unrest in her eyes, lay on a couch, reading. She wore a negligee of orange. When Chickie entered she didn't turn. She said softly: "Come here, Chaffee—I won't do that again."

Glimpsing Chickie, she gazed at her moodily. "Did you see any one going down the stairs?"

"Yes."

She closed her book with a shrug: "I'll tell you something I've just discovered, Chickie. There's a chance for a new God. Let him create a world without sex. We'll have Utopia—not before."

Discuss Jake

Chickie Tells About Attending Shows With Him

"I didn't think sex was any problem to you. I thought you had it all settled."

Her lip curled: "We don't settle that problem: it settles us. Well, how goes it with you and Jake?"

Chickie answered lightly: "I've been to more good shows in a short time than I've seen in all my life before."

Janina watched her narrowly: "Enjoy it while you may. With Jake, Chickie, the flower that once has bloomed forever dies."

Chickie asked with a passion of eagerness she tried to conceal: "Oh, Janina, do you really believe that? Do you think men never take out a girl just for the gayety of it—just because they have a happy, friendly feeling for her?"

"Sure they do. Lots of them don't want to get in deep—poor, young fellows like Barry Dunne, for instance."

"But the others? You think a man like Jake has always some evil motive in his mind?"

"Evil—" Janina dismissed the word with a swift gesture of scorn. "What do you mean by 'evil'? Jake's got a wealth of life, that's all. What's evil about that? Oh, this bunk makes me sick! Is it evil to breathe? To eat? To run? I suppose I'm about the evilest thing this side of the inferno. Why? Because I have blood in my veins? Because it gets red hot?" She flicked the ashes from her cigaret. After a long puff: "What is evil, Chickie? Can you answer that?"

"Don't make fun of me, Janina. I learned it from Martha Blake. She's read as many books as you have, and she seems to get a wonderful joy out of living."

"Her great and holy purpose, I suppose, is children? Is that Martha's answer?"

"I suppose it is."

"Well, it listens good, Chickie, until you look around and see some of these great and holy purposes in the flesh—poor fellows, doomed to sweep streets all their mortal days, children slav-

Kenna Driver Out on Bond As Officers Hunt Law

Alderman John Kearcher, of South Thirteenth street, was in a quandary today as to the status of Harry Bath, driver for the Peoples Service Station, arrested Tuesday after he hauled 500 gallons of gasoline through the Liberty Tubes.

Lieut. John Eckert, of the county police, arrested Bath and took him to South Side Police station, to be held until Eckert could swear to an information before Kearcher charging the driver with violating the state auto laws.

Edward Kenna, county road superintendent, and owner of the service station, secured Bath's release by telling South Side police he would furnish the $50 bail when the charge had been made.

Eckert said he charged Bath with transporting gasoline through a tunnel, contrary to a provision of the state auto law. Kearcher says there isn't any such law, but Bath was arrested; he is free on $50 forfeit and he will get a hearing Marc' 7.

Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Though he has already reached the age where he will soon be forced to retire, Postmaster George W. Gosser, of Pittsburgh, may yet be made eligible for reappointment to another term of at least two years if favorable action is taken by Congress on an amendment proposed by the Civil Service Commission to the pending federal employes' retirement legislation.

The amendment, bearing specifically on Postmaster Gosser's case, provides that postmasters and others who have reached the age of retirement may be retained for a further period of two years upon recommendation of the department head under whom they work.

SUPPORTED BY BROWN

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown discussed the situation with Gosser during his recent visit to Pittsburgh to attend funeral services of the late Alexander P. Moore, and it is understood that the civil service amendment was proposed as a result of that conference. The Postmaster General has made no secret of his desire to give Postmaster Gosser another appointment if a way can be found to overcome present legal obstacles.

Already the amendment has been referred to the Civil Service committees of the House and Senate. Chairman Lehlbach, of the House committee, which is now considering a new retirement bill, is disposed to reject the amendment, but Representative McLeod, of Michigan, a member of the committee, announced he was drafting a general retirement measure of his own which will include the provision bearing on Gosser.

PLANS NEW BILL

If the bill to be reported by the House Committee fails to include the amendment, McLeod said he would move to have his measure accepted as a substitute when the committee bill reaches the floor for action.

While the Senate has already passed a new retirement bill the Civil Service Commission sent a copy of its proposal to the committee there and this is now being studied by Senator Porter H. Dale, of Vermont, committee chairman.

4 TOWNS DROP RATE FIGHT

Following the lead of Pittsburgh, in dropping the fight for lower gas rates to consumers here, attorneys for five more municipalities appeared before the Public Service Commission yesterday and withdrew their complaint.

These are Jeannette, Penn, Smithton and Roscoe, in addition to complaints of several individuals. In 1922 the gas companies of the Western Pennsylvania district raised gas rates to 63 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, or 60 cents per 1,000 if bills were paid within 10 days. The City of Pittsburgh lost its fight and other municipalities have been dropping their cases. Donora, Elco, Stockdale and Irwin are yet to decide their course of action.

Hills as Cause of High Bus Fare to Be Studied

The question of whether Pittsburgh's hills make bus fares higher than those charged in other cities will be discussed at a conference of engineers next Wednesday in Harrisburg. Engineers representing the Public Service Commission will meet with experts representing the Allied Boards of Trade of Allegheny County.

The organization at its meeting last night voted to send John M. Rice and Earl G. Kaltenbach, engineers, and Chief Solicitor William G. Negley, to the meeting. It is also expected that Harry Bastow, president of the allied boards, will attend.

The organization for a long time has waged a strong fight against the bus rates existing here. Important facts brought out at the conference Wednesda will be used by the civic group at the next public hearing on the rates, to be held here in April by the Public Service Commission.

POLICE GUARD PLACED AT SCENE

Family Hurled From Beds But Escape Serious Hurts; District Windows Broken

Police today were guarding the home of Nickola Perry, at 1624 Methyl street, Beechview, which was badly damaged last night by a bomb, which, police say, had been planted under the front porch. Windows in a score of houses in the district were shattered by the blast which hurled members of the Perry family from their beds shortly before midnight. The blast was heard a distance of five miles.

Miss Anna Perry, 21, attired in night clothes, was in the front room on the first floor, when the blast occurred, demolishing the porch and blowing the windows in. She had been taking exercises to music of the radio. Perry, a contractor, estimated the damage at $2,500.

Perry and his wife, Theresa, were asleep on the second floor, as were Victor, 12, and Marie, 22. All were hurled from their beds. Eileen, 14, was preparing to retire. All escaped uninjured.

STRKER DENIES DESERTION

Albert Hoffman of 3341 Forbes street, a striking cab driver, denied today that he had deserted his wife, Katherine, and their 10-month-old baby. He was quoted by Mrs. Hoffman with having left them several weeks ago.

Hoffman was stabbed seven times during a riot growing out of the strike several days after the walkout January 12. Three weeks later he left the hospital and said he went to visit a friend in the country to recuperate from his wounds. His wife knew of his whereabouts, he said.

"They were not without funds," he said, contradicting information given out at the cab drivers' kitchen in Penn avenue. "When I left the hospital I told my wife where I was going. Yesterday when I returned to our apartment I learned that she had left several days ago, and I haven't seen her since. The woman with whom we lived said she had cared for her and the baby until they left."

Several days ago Mrs. Hoffman was given a basket of groceries and $4 by the strikers. She said she was going to take her baby to the home of a relative in Mars, and then would return to Pittsburgh and seek employment.

Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: If you were in charge, how would you attempt to enforce prohibition?

ADELINE GREEN, stenographer, Downtown: "The first thing I'd do would be to petition Congress for a modification of the Eighteenth or Prohibition Amendment. That appears to be the only plausible solution to the problem now confronting the nation. The enforcement is lax now and it is due, I believe, to the fact that most Americans do not believe in the oppression of the type that results from the present enforcement."

Miss Green

NORMAN A. ROBINSON, Beltzhoover: "I think that the question of prohibition should be put before the people to take a vote on whether or not it should be repealed or modified. Modification of the dry laws are what is desired. I am not in favor of the return of the saloon, however. Under the present conditions the United States government is losing millions of dollars annually in trying to make the nation's inhabitants obey to the exact letter of the law."

N. Robinson

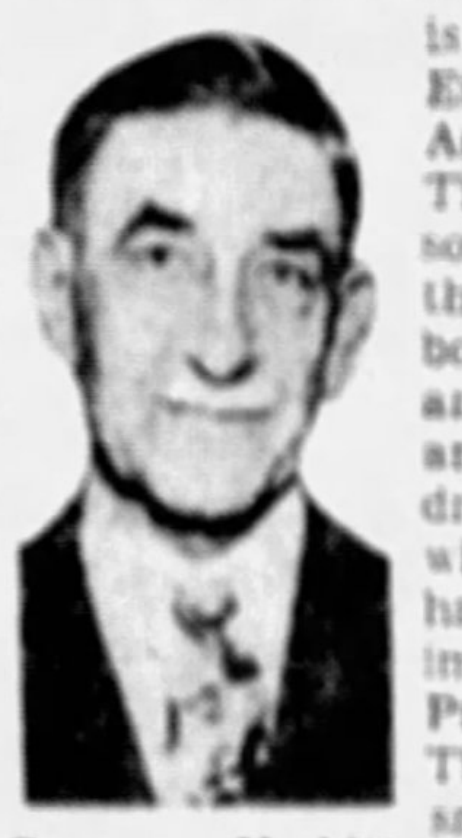
J. A. RICHARDS, Perrysville avenue, draftsman: "There's one of two things I'd try to do if I were enforcing the law. This would be either to enforce the present laws as strictly as possible or begin action for modification of the dry laws. Modification would bring back beer. If beer were returned most persons would imbibe it instead of the bad liquor that is sold right now."

J. A. Richards

J. F. IVORY, Garfield, stenographer: "If I were in charge I'd demand that some method of modification be pursued to bring back light wines and beer. Prohibition was thrust upon the people at a time when several hundred thousand of our voters were overseas in France right after the World War ended. It doesn't voice the sentiments of the people at large. Prohibition will never be a success as long as the present law stands. Modification would help plenty to right order out of chaos."

J. F. Ivory

GEORGE NESBIT, Downtown: "The only way to get enforcement is to modify the Eighteenth Amendment. That's the real solution. Today there are many boys and girls and young men and women drinking liquor, who would never have thought of imbibing before Prohibition. They do it to be smart, I guess. It seems to be a trait of American human nature to do something one is told not to do, in many cases. That is just what has been happening for the past 10 years—or since Prohibition went into effect."



George Nesbitt

RICHARD E. O'MALLEY, Hazelwood: "It would be only wasting one's breath to say the law is not being enforced at the present time. It never has in this particular instance. The only solution I can see is to modify the prohibition amendment so tolerance can be provided for all. Light wines and beer are the solution to the problem. If I was authorized, by any chance, to enforce the dry act, that's what I would campaign for."

R. E. O'Malley

CRUSADE HEADS TALK TONIGHT

Two speakers of national prominence, who recently testified before the House Judiciary Committee in Washington on the prohibition question, will be heard tonight at a meeting of the advisory "Committee of 100," of the local branch of the Crusaders, in the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel. Plans for the meeting, which is to start at 8:30 o'clock, were completed last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Crusaders.

Fred G. Clark, national commander of the Crusaders and a prominent Cleveland manufacturer, and Benedict Crowell, former assistant secretary of war, will be the principal speakers. Norman Allderdice, commander of the Pittsburgh district, will preside. Allderdice announced that there would be several local speakers. Clark and Crowell were the men who appeared before the House committee.

Allderdice today said that hundreds of letters have been received at the local headquarters in the William Penn Hotel, asking for information about the Crusaders and what they proposed to do. In his answers he stated that the purpose of the Crusaders is to support legislation of whatever kind seems most likely to remedy the present disrespect and disregard for our laws, and to do away with crime by such legislation. Crowell and Clark tonight will present constructive arguments in the interests of the campaign against crime, corruption and lawlessness, a condition to which they believe prohibition has been a strong contributing factor.

"The Crusaders do not want the saloon back, but they do want the liquor traffic taken from the bootleggers and criminals and handled by a plan of disinterested management," Allderdice said.

OLD THEORIES BY DOCTORS EXPLODED

Cameras at Webster Hall Record Automatically Bed Occupant's Motions

Physicians who recommend maintenance of any particular posture during slumber ask something that is unnatural and well-nigh impossible, Dr. H. M. Johnson, director of the Simmons Investigation of Sleep at Mellon Institute, declared today.

More than a million observations of 150 experimental subjects have proved, Dr. Johnson asserted, that "it is abnormal for a healthy sleeper to lie in any one position for a long time."

FILMS ARE TAKEN

Supplementing the data obtained through devices which record and measure every major motion made by the sleepers, motion pictures are now taken by the Simmons investigators of changes of position by their experimental subjects in the Webster Hall dormitory-laboratories. The cameras are operated automatically by electro-magnets connected with the bed-springs.

"The most typical individual we have," said Dr. Johnson, "on his most typical night of eight hours, changes his bodily position in 35 of the 96 five-minute intervals that compose the night. About 17 of these postures will be held for five minutes or less; about seven for more than five and less than 10 minutes, about four for 10-15 minutes, and so on.

THEORIES EXPLODED

"Many specialists in orthopedics recommend that people sleep with the spinal column straight. Apparently, healthy people will not do this unless they are artificially restrained. Yet they remain healthy. Again, any sleeper may have a repertoire of a dozen or more favorite postures.

"On a typical night he will use practically all of them, changing from one to another perhaps 35 times. About three-fourths of these poses are mirror-images of others."

Johnston, Congress head, welcomed the guests and introduced the program, and two past presidents, Mrs. John S. Sloan and Miss Helen Grimes, voicing the regrets of the junior past president, Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, who is ill.

For the program there were two numbers by the choral under Earl Collins' direction and a group of baritone solos done with his usual artistry by Cass Ward Whitney, with Mr. Collins at the piano. Assembly singing was led by Elsie Breese Mitchell, Lulu B. Parker accompanying, and, in conclusion, there was a brief talk and some "experiments with the mind" by Garvin C. Theron, of the International Bureau of Applied Psychology. Mr. Theron claims that primitive people use their minds more than civilized people do and he showed in his several "experiments" (one of which was to call by name every woman in his audience) that the memory can be thoroughly trained. Others of his memory feats were equally astonishing.

FASHIONISTS SPONSOR THE "WEARING OF THE GREEN"

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

PARIS, Feb. 27.—That the "Wearing of the Green" would become the color theme song of the mode was predicted by this bureau last autumn, and has been verified to an astonishing degree. Green like yellow must be approached with caution for both these colors can be awfully kind but also terribly cruel to the complexion and coloring. So be careful with your diet of greens, and give it much attention and thought. If you do not trust your own judgment or that of your vendeuse, avoid the brighter shades, and confine yourself to a pastel tone or a nice respectable dark green. The tall slender type, whether blond or brunette, looks ravishing in sea-green when it is developed in chiffon or georgette with graceful draperies. Both jade and apple green are good with white for sports clothes, as has been amply demonstrated at Riviera resorts this season.

* * *

BOTH models shown are in green. The first is an Agnes model of sea-green georgette with a ripple-tiered skirt dipping sharply at the sides and trailing in back. The bodice is fitted to the natural waist line by means of radiating darts at either side. The glittering note that lends itself so well to sea-green is provided by strass embroidery which forms the shoulder straps and edges the deep curving decolletage in back.

* * *

THE graceful afternoon frock is from the new collection of Miller Soeurs, and is of dark green crepe de Chine. The waistline is marked by encircling tucks placed at the top of the snugly fitting skirt. The lower part of the skirt flares with an ample circular movement and dips in points at each side. A simulated button-fastening marks the front of the frock.

EIELSON'S BODY PUT IN PLANE

MOTORSHIP NANUK, North Cape, Siberia, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The bodies of Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, American aviators killed in the crash of their plane last November 9 while on a flight from Teller, Alaska, to this icebound ship today were formally in the keeping of their countrymen and ready for removal by air to Alaska after a ceremony in which both Russians and Americans participated here.

As American and Russian flags flew at half-mast the bodies were taken from the small hut where they had reposed since being brought to North Cape and drawn on two sleds toward the Nanuk where a cabin plane waited to receive them.

Commander Slipenov relinquished the bodies to the American aviators. Pilot Ed Young received them on behalf of the Americans and expressed gratitude and appreciation to the Russians.

The bodies were then placed in the plane and the cabin closed. The windows were shrouded in black. The American planes will take off for Nome at the first favorable break in the weather accompanied by Commander Slipenov in an escort plane. He will accompany the cortege to Fairbanks, from where the bodies will be sent by rail and steamer to the United States for interment.

One way to win is to look like a winner

THE man who scorns good grooming makes a big mistake. Torn fingernails, cracked and grimy hands, a careless shave or an unclean skin, spoil a man's chances for success.

A clean healthy appearance is worth everything. And you need only one simple, old fashioned familiar preparation to have them all. "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly. You'll probably find it right in your bathroom. If not, get a tube or jar from the nearest store.

To keep the hands in good condition, scrub with a stiff brush and soapy water. Then apply "Vaseline" Jelly liberally and massage your hands (exactly as if you were washing them). Work the Jelly into the base of the nails. Then wipe off and wash quickly. Your hands will emerge looking clean and fresh, like the hands of an executive, not a day laborer.

In the morning apply a film of "Vaseline" Jelly to the face before lathering. It not only gives you a clean, close, comfortable shave, but it cleanses the skin. Improves its texture. Try these two simple things.

LOVEJOY

By BEATRICE BURTON

Steve Buys a Magnificent Ring for Lovejoy

CHAPTER XLIV.

THE white walled, red roofed houses of Hollywood shone like slabs of coral and pearl against the green hillsides that September morning.

Beyond them three or four skyscraping hotel buildings glistened in the sunny blue sky, and miles away a burning oil well, near Culver City, sent a great scarlet tongue of flame into the air.

"What a town!" Lovejoy caught her breath at her first glimpse of it. "I've never seen anything like it, Steve. It's like something out of a dream."

"It's like Coney Island and a village in the Pyrenees and the student quarter of Paris all mixed up in a bowl and then spread out on the map like a pancake," said Steve without enthusiasm. "Wait until we go to Paris and London and Rome, Lovejoy."

His hand left the wheel of the car for an instant and closed over one of hers with a swift, hard pressure.

"We're going to have a great time, going places and seeing things—together," he added. "You and I, Lovejoy."

She nodded silently and in great contentment they rolled down into the town.

All of Hollywood seemed to be out walking on the famous Boulevard that morning, and Lovejoy was sure that she never had seen so many pairs of silk sweat socks and bare legs before in her life.

Girls with beautifully bleached hair and wonderfully made-up faces went swaying along the sidewalk past the dress shops and the cosmetics shops and the beauty parlors. Hatless young men in knickers and bright-colored sweaters went flying past in open roadsters.

Then he turned the car toward the Ambassador Hotel where they were to meet Maj. Badminton for lunch.

Admires Ring

There was a whole row of little shops just inside the garden entrance of the hotel. One of them was an Oriental store, and in the window stood a little pair of jade trees exactly like the pair that Lovejoy had bought months before for the Tudor Road House.

She looked at them now without any feeling of homesickness or sadness or regret. They were part of a past that she had not enjoyed. That was all.

"I'm beginning to feel as if I'd never been married, Steve," she said suddenly. "Home and all the people and things back there seem like part of a very hazy dream to me—all but my baby, of course."

They went up the marble stairs into the long lobby with its thick rugs, its palm trees in tubs, its big plateglass windows open to the warm air and the sunshine.

There were two shops opening off the lobby. One of them was a dress shop and the other was a jewelry store.

In the very middle of it lay a square of black velvet. And in the middle of the velvet lay a diamond ring.

It was a plain narrow band of platinum set with one enormous jewel.

"Just look at that diamond. It's like a little lake with sunshine on it!" Lovejoy said to Steve when he came up to her. "It must be worth a young fortune."

Visits Studios

The French windows in the cool green-and-ivory room stood open. Below was a stretch of green lawn and in the middle of it was a square swimming pool—a-sparkle with sunshine.

"It looks like that wonderful diamond downstairs," said Lovejoy to herself as she slipped into her white flannel suit and pulled her hat down over her hair.

Steve and Maj. Badminton were talking and smoking in lobby when she went downstairs a little before noon.

"We're going to have an early lunch," Steve told her, jumping up from his chair, "and then the Major is going to take us through one of the movie studios."

The day moved on. . . . Lunch at the Ambassador with Steve and the Major. The drive back to Hollywood. The trip through the great studios in Culver City, where Lovejoy saw Marion Davies making a picture and actualy laid her hand on the steering-wheel of John Gilbert's own roadster.

At five o'clock, when violet shadows lay across the Hollywood hills below the "Hollywoodland" sign, she and Steve started back to Santa Barbara.

It was dark when they reached Ventura and the air was like [illegible] wine.

"We'll have a bite to eat here," Steve said when the first lights of the town flashed out above the road. [illegible] brown shingle [illegible] at [illegible] Beach, where they serve [illegible].

He turned off the highway and into a narrow road lined with eucalyptus trees. At the end of it was the inn, high on a point above the ocean.

Given Diamond

"Steve, what a day we've had!" Lovejoy sighed happily when they were out in the darkness once more with the road singing under the wheels of the car and the sea-wind in their faces.

"I never dreamed that I'd see all the wonderful things I've seen the last 10 days, Steve!" she went on. Without looking at him she knew that he was smiling to himself in the darkness. It always pleased him to know that he had pleased her. His arm tightened around her shoulders.

"The desert and the mountains and the redwood trees—Sheila's lovely house and Hollywood, Steve! I can't believe I'm really alive these days! I keep feeling as if I must be dreaming—and that I'll wake up and find myself back home trying to make both ends meet for Tom Nicholson—"

"That's all right! But don't talk about him!" Steve interrupted her sharply.

He swung the car to the right side of the road. It slowed down and came to a stop in the black shadow of the eucalyptus trees that bordered it.

"What's the matter? Is anything wrong with the car?" Lovejoy asked him.

"Not a thing," he said evenly. "I just forgot something—something that I bought for you today."

Then Lovejoy felt him slip another ring over her finger. She held it up and peered at it in the darkness. . . . It was the diamond ring that she had seen that morning in the lobby store of the Ambassador!

Travel Talk

"I wish you were free now," Steve told her, tossing Tom's ring into the darkness, "and that we were married. Then we wouldn't have to go back to Sheila's house tonight. We could drive down into Mexico. Or we could drive up the coast to San Francisco. . . . We could take a boat there, Lovejoy, and go to Hawaii for our honeymoon."

His voice spun magic for Lovejoy. Mexico City—San Francisco—Hawaii—

"I've always longed to travel everywhere," she said dreamily, "and I've always longed for a whopping big diamond like this. Steve you make every wish of mine come true! Do you know it?"

She put her arms around his neck and kissed him for "Thank you."

* * *

It was 9 o'clock when they got back to the house in Santa Barbara. There were lights in it and the sound of music. In the stone-flagged courtyard stood a big closed car.

"Sheila evidently has some guests, what?" Steve asked as they got out of his car.

They went around to the front of the house where the garden, with its phlox and its stocks and its roses, made the air sweet as honey. And there they stood for a moment before they stepped into the house, their arms tight around each other and their hearts beating fast as they kissed each other.

"I'm going straight to bed," Lovejoy whispered. "I'm all tired and dusty, and I don't want to meet Sheila's friends tonight. I can put a long-distance call in for Aunt Em from my room, can't I?"

On the hall table lay a telegram in its yellow envelope. It was the first thing that Lovejoy saw when she stepped into the house.

"There's a wire on the hall table for you, Lovey!" she heard Sheila call as she picked it up. "It came early this morning."

"CINDERELLA"

Nell Brinkley

WHAT for poor Cinderella? Where is her yellow coach, magiced from a pumpkin? Where her god-mother in the glittering gown, with the soft heart for her and the gifts? Where the magic hour with the wear fit for her pretty shape, the diamond circlet like dew for her hair, the necklace, the symbolic glass slipper? Where the Prince?

All of these, except the fairy god-mother and what she may have, which are, thanks, oh, Destiny—in the hands of the future, are in the lap, upon the lean figure, or head and hands of homely Sister. Not Cinderella's sister any more than another's. Just one of our human sisters whom we all see, apparently with the gifts of the world decking them, with Prince Charming waiting below in the yellow car, with everything but a fairy god-mother. Though Cinderella, the beauty, waits upon Sister, the plain, the unseen god-mother may be Cinderella's; and you will see her magic work upon some other day.

Maybe Sister's waiter, below in the golden car, may not be the Prince. Maybe he is hunting for Cinderella. He was in the fairy-tale!

Madge Dodges Attempt to Tax Her With Responsibility

LILLIAN'S quizzical smile at me was distinctly irritating, but I told myself with a clutching at justice that no doubt my captious answer to her dictum concerning my influence upon Philip Veritzen had annoyed her. She gave me no time for interpretation of her smile, however.

"You're dead right, of course. It's up to us to plan something immediate for Noel, something we can submit to the boys as soon as they come home. And we'll put the well-known beans to work in a minute or two. But that doesn't alter the fact that anything we can do for Noel now will be only a makeshift. We can't take the responsibility for his financial future, we can only tide him over his present difficulties without hurting his pride or letting him know that we're helping him. The real problem is with his father. If it were simply Phil's own money that he was refusing to give his boy, it would be bad enough, but when he's taking advantage of his legal rights to withhold the boy's inheritance from his dead mother until the last minute he can legally hold it, it's the last word in petty meanness."

"Do you think he's using that money himself?" I asked, sending a mental apology to my employer as I did so. But I was willing to say anything to divert Lillian's attention to some other topic than that of the task of placating Philip Veritzen which she had intimated should be mine.

"Never! Not a chance in the world!" she ejaculated. "Phil Veritzen is unscrupulous enough in certain matters, and petty, even vindictive, when his enormously inflated ego is offended. But he is extravagantly generous, and his sense of financial honor is way up at the top of the thermometer. There are no degrees higher. There's never been a whisper against him in all his career as a producer, which is some record to hang up. No, you're wrong there, girl. He's simply so swollen with choler at the affront to his dignity and authority which he considers Noel and Mary gave him, that he can see nothing outside his rage."

"I'm sorry," I said hastily, for something told me that she meant again to take up the possibility of my making my employer see the error of his ways. "I should have known better, of course. But I am so angry at Noel's father that I cannot find any charity for him."

"Suppose we tin him for a while and set him up on the pantry shelf," she said, and I saw that she deemed it unwise to press me further just then about the duty she had said was mine. "As you say, we've got to figure out something for Noel, and just now I haven't a single idea rolling around in the old dome. Suppose you go over and get some of your Christmas embroidery, and I'll haul out my one domestic accomplishment, knitting. Let's present a sweet Victorian domestic picture when our husbands return from the prize fight."

Her lips twisted in a mirthful grimace, and I laughed as I took a carefully wrapped small parcel from my work basket.

"I don't need to go any farther than this," I said taking from the cloth a white linen handkerchief, one of a dozen which I was monogramming for Dicky. "I never get very far from one of these things."

"Always the prudent child," she said, smiling, as she came back to her chair with her knitting bag. She is inordinately proud of her "one domestic accomplishment," knitting, which she learned with much agonizing effort during the World War, when almost every woman was using the needles. She never has allowed her real skill to grow less keen for want of use, and all through the year she knits Christmas presents in odd moments when she is not working furiously or relaxing supinely, the alternatives with which she fills her days.

"What are you doing just now?" I asked as she sat down and opened the knitting bag.

"Just finishing Mary's sweater," she said. "I have Marion's nearly done also."

"You temperamental artiste," I scoffed. "Nobody in the world but you would start two sweaters at the same time, and keep them going together."

"I have to do them that way," she said. "I want to be sure that I don't do one at the expense of the other. If I keep them both in hand I can plan my time and be sure of finishing both."

"You dear," I said softly. "You mean that you wouldn't finish your own child's unless you had Mary's done. You surely are—"

"I've thought of just the thing for Noel," she said hurriedly and I knew that her dislike of praise had impelled the interruption. I doubted very much that any idea had come to her, but I also knew her power of concentration at any unexpected emergency, and I was sure that in another minute she would evolve something practical for the young violinist about whom we were so greatly concerned.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, February 28

UNDER the fairly propitious sway of the planets ruling this day there may be progress and promotion, especially in employment. An agreeable change is indicated, with recognition and return for industry and fidelity, but money matters should be manipulated with much prudence. Shun speculation.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of promotion and preferment, with sound recognition for diligence and fidelity, but they should be conservative and watchful in the handling of all funds, as loss through extravagance, rashness and speculation is indicated.

A child born on this day should attain good position in life by its own merits but should be trained in wise handling of its accumulation.

Matrimonial Sportsmanship.

MOST women, if asked, "What kind of man makes the best husband?" would gaze sadly at the partners of their choice and answer, "The OTHER kind!"

* * *

But, that is awfully poor sportsmanship—and, after all, marriage is the greatest Sporting Proposition on earth!

Granted that the man you have drawn in the Great Lottery is the man who loved and voluntarily chose, just glance casually around at a few OTHER women's husbands—and be thankful!

* * *

If you can't be thankful for what you received—be thankful for what you escaped!

* * *

If your husband is fat and addicted to soft collars, be thankful that he is "yours, ALL yours," and that no other woman will be tempted to lure him from you. He will never be "dangerous"—and you will never be in the "Poor thing!" class.

* * *

If your husband is not a shining financial success, be thankful that he hasn't five or six clubs and a long list of alibis to take him out evenings. Be grateful that HOME is about the only place he can afford to go; and that no chorus girl will ever sue him for blighting her life.

If your husband neglects you for business, be thankful that he doesn't hang around the house all day and BORE you to death; and that he is too absorbed to demand an itemized account of your time, or to keep tabs on all your little amusements.

* * *

If he is the kind who throws his shoes around, drops his clothes wherever they happen to fall and spatters soap all over the bathroom mirror—be thankful that he isn't the kind that can spot a fly-speck on the ceiling or goes into high every time you pinch the tooth paste from the wrong end.

* * *

If he is a spendthrift and a "good fellow," be thankful that you will never have to blush for him, "while he HAS it." And if he is a pinch-penny, be thankful that he will never squander the rent money on bouquets or bookies, nor borrow your solitaire to buy orchids for blondes.

* * *

If he is a golf-bug be thankful that he is not a poker-fiend.

* * *

And, if he is a radio fan, be thankful that he doesn't play the SAXOPHONE!

* * *

Oh, yes, there is always SOMETHING about a husband to be thankful for!

CHICKIE

By ELENORE MEHERIN

ing in factories, old maids going into blue, lonely graves—all the dumb beasts that wouldn't give a hang if they were never born. Think they praise the Marthas for their great and holy purposes? Not much! Why, this earth could do very nicely with about half its present population. Increase the quality, cut down in numbers. Read Malthus, girl. So that answers you there. Now, what's evil?"

Chickie, listening to Janina, had a scorging sense of outrage, as though white delicate flowers were torn in rough bits.

Janina shrugged. "You're a little hypocrite, Chickie! Like all the 'good people.' Do you mean to sit there and tell me that Jake Munson could put his arm around you and you didn't like it? You didn't find it quite sweet and beautiful enough? You bet you did! But they've hypnotized women so long, we've been ashamed of our instincts until we discovered them about five or ten years ago. For a hundred centuries men have done as they pleased, the race seems to have survived. Now, because women are stepping into the sun, hear them shout! We're sending the world to ruin. Too bad! I guess the old world will wag on willy-nilly—"

Sapphire Bar Pin

She turned suddenly to Chickie with a sweet insinuation. "So Jake's worrying you, is he?"

"He isn't anything of the kind. Well, you don't have to believe it, Janina. It's true, though."

"You mean to tell me you've been trotting high and wide for the last month or more—"

"Oh, I'm not trying to tell you anything."

Janina stared at her. Chickie met it coolly. Then Janina said, with her lips white: "It would be like Jake to fall for you—the price of him!"

When Chickie reached home she found a little package on her bureau. Jennie called to her from the kitchen, but she closed her door quietly, pretending not to hear.

In the gray satin box a long bar pin of sapphires gleamed, silky, beautiful. Jake Munson's card, four words written very small: "Because I love you."

Hides It From Mother

She laid the pin in her palm, turning the limpid stones. She tried it against her white waist.

Flushing hotly, she heard Jennie at her door: "There's a package for you, Chickie. Did you see it? I wonder what it is?"

The pin was snatched out, dropped nervously down her blouse. "Oh—it was my bracelet. The clasp was loose. I had it fixed."

The stones were cold. Her skin, like a fire melting them. She pressed them against her, drawing her breath hard, swelling. With a queer hotness flashing over her, she reached for the pin, looked at it a long time—in a dream.

Finally she rolled it in a handkerchief, hid it under a nightgown in her bureau drawer.

During dinner the thought of it transfixed her as though its point went through her brain. She helped Jennie with the dishes, talking eagerly, exerting herself to unusual sweetness, as one does when a sense of guilt separates him from the things he loves.

What to Do?

She kept wondering with uneasy pangs. "What shall I do?" She had an image of herself calling Jake on the phone, then of writing a note, sending the gift back. She did none of these things.

Instead she went in and undid the box again, taking out his card, staring at the four words, "Because I love you." Of its own accord, absently, her mind began to build, using Janina's white-lipped comment as the keystone: "It would be like Jake to fall for you—the price of him!" Jake might wish to marry her, he might really love her. Janina meant that. The thought flushed, warmly lit a soft, triumphant fire in her heart.

But at night, when she lay in bed, she was able to think coldly. He had given Amy Heaton a diamond pin; some one said Edith Ridge had a mate for it. Jake was a princely giver. Perhaps he had written the same words to them. She stole softly to the bureau and, kneeling on the floor, put the pin in the box and wrapped it up.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Speedy Cure Essential in Croup.

THERE are some things which always strike terror to the heart of a mother. The very mention of croup seems to paralyze thought, and yet here is a time when intelligent and quick action is needed.

DR. COPELAND

Years ago many physical ailments were not fully understood. Some diseases which were formerly considered as separate diseases are now found to be identical. What was once known as old-fashioned "membranous croup" is really a mild diphtheria.

Another disease which used to be known as "false croup" is now called "spasmodic laryngitis."

The larynx is that part of the throat situated between the windpipe and the base of the tongue. The mucous membrane lining of it may become, and does become highly inflamed in croup.

This dreaded croup attacks a child between the ages of 2 and 5 usually. It may begin with what seems like a mild cold, possibly with some fever. At other times there may be no warning at all but a sudden attack after a child gets his first sleep at night.

In a sudden attack, a child is awakened gasping for breath. He has a slight barking cough. This cough is peculiar in that it is metallic sounding with a sort of ringing noise. The child has the greatest difficulty in getting his breath. The mucous membrane is so swollen that there is scarcely room for a bit of air to get through.

The child becomes feverish, and the pulse is rapid. The difficult breathing usually frightens the child so much that he wants to be taken up and carried.

Heroic measures must be taken to relieve the swelling of the membrane of the throat. The first thing to do is to send for a doctor, and while waiting his coming the child should be put into a hot bath at a temperature of about 100 degrees. Be careful not to have the water so hot as to scald the child. Try the heat of the water on your own elbow. The child should be kept in the bath from 15 to 20 minutes. At the same time, apply cold compresses to its throat.

Sometimes a hot footbath, into which a teaspoonful of mustard has been added, is adequate to draw the blood from the upper part of the body, giving relief to the sufferer.

It is wise to give an emetic in the form of syrup of ipecac, or syrup of squills in order to produce vomiting and relieve the gathering of mucus in the throat.

As this dreaded croup is really a dangerous disease, your doctor is needed because he will know what to do. There is also a treatment known as "intubation" in which a tube is inserted into the throat through the mouth so that the child may breathe.

As croup is diphtheritic, the patient should be isolated.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"Wearing a Cane."

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When younger, several male relatives never considered themselves dressed for the street without a cane on their arms. We have always referred to that as "wearing a cane." Recently a crowd surprised us by coming for the evening and one of the men had a "trick" cane. I asked him how long he had been "wearing a cane" and "wearing a cane" became the joke of the evening.

The social standing and apparent education of these people make me wonder if I am wrong. Please tell me what one should call the "use" of the cane.

O. L. M.

YOU were quite right in the expression you used, for, in England—the home of the walking stick—gentlemen always use the express "wear" for the walking stick. In this country, it is true, we more often hear the expression "carrying" a cane, but to me the difference between the words represents the essential difference between the unself-consciousness of all Englishmen in their attitude toward walking sticks, and the self-consciousness of most American men in their attitude toward the walking stick. Almost all Englishmen "wear walking sticks," even to their offices; most Americans feel that walking sticks are not so much a necessary part of their attire—and so they say that they "carry" walking sticks. Or mainly they say "canes."

Duties of the Hostess

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. When having a few in bridge, is it necessary to show the guests upstairs?

2. If so, when leaving should the hostess go up with them, and who precedes coming down?

S. O. U.

1—IF the wraps are to be left in an upstairs room, it is hospitable for the hostess, if there is no maid, to indicate to the guests the room in which they are to leave their wraps.

2. When the guests are leaving, if they all leave at the same time, the hostess will have time to go to the rooms upstairs with the guests, to help them with their wraps. When they go downstairs, the hostess would step back to allow her guests to precede her.

Serving Chocolates.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly tell me which is the correct way to serve chocolates? A says it should be served from the box. B says it should be served from a candy dish.

F. B.

IT is more attractive, I think, to serve them in a candy dish. Especially nowadays, when we can find so many lovely jars, some conveniently with covers.

FRAUD ON VISAS STIRS POLAND

WARSAW, Poland, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Diplomatic circles in Warsaw have been stirred by publication in the Polish press of details of the issuance of fraudulent American passports for which six men have been indicted in the United States on charges of smuggling aliens.

In view of the fact that the issuance of false visas took place in Ponlad, it is expected Polish police will ask American authorities to deliver those detained on the basis of the Polish-American extradition treaty.

There was particular interest in the part alleged to have been played by Harry Hall, former American vice consul here, who left last December for Washington. Hall was said to have intervened when Warsaw police arrested Morris Baskin of Brooklyn, alleged leader of an international smuggling ring. Baskin was released and went to the United States, where he is now under arrest.

Assistant United States Attorney Lindsay R. Henry, of Brooklyn, disclosed that six men had been indicted on charges of smuggling aliens into the United States from Poland. Four had been arrested, he said, and were being held in $25,000 bail each. They were Baskin, Leo Shapiro of Paterson, N. J., and Morris Sasyznick and Samuel Horowitz of Brooklyn.

FREE 3 YEARS, GIVES SELF UP

Nearly three years after he was sentenced to serve six months in the Westmoreland County Jail on a liquor conspiracy charge, Heinie Edwards of Pricedale surrendered today to United States Marshal J. C. McGregor.

Edwards, a former poolroom proprietor, was held at the Federal Building before being taken to Greensburg for commitment.

Edwards was convicted along with 12 others, including police officers, in the Monessen rum conspiracy case and was sentenced May 2, 1927. He was denied a new trial by the Circuit Court February 24, 1928.

Clerks in the office of United States Attorney Louis E. Graham, in checking up old cases, learned that Edwards had not been called upon to serve his sentence. His bondsman was at once notified to produce Edwards in court today.

'CURLY' LACOCK FORFEITS BAIL

"Curly" Lacock, of Red Triangle Inn fame, found himself in jail in the North Side station last night, together with eight others, when police reported finding two slot machines in a restaurant at 809 Sandusky street.

John Heflin, 32, of East North avenue, the alleged owner of the place, was arrested on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. In Morals Court today he and the others arrested were discharged for lack of evidence.

Lacock failed to appear at the hearing and forfeited $30. Police explained they found no liquor in the place. Possession of liquor is necessary to secure a conviction on a disorderly house charge, it was said.

Father Pitt Eats 5,120 Carloads More in 1929

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 27.—(AP)—The appetite of Pittsburgh and surrounding territory for fresh fruits and vegetables is on the increase, just 5,120 carloads bigger.

That many more carloads of fresh farm products were shipped into Pittsburgh by rail during 1929 than in 1928, the Department of Agriculture revealed. Oranges, grapefruit, lemons, apples and potatoes gained the most, potatoes being the commodity received in greatest amount.

Fastidious tastes waned during the year. Shipments of grapes, peaches and strawberries declined during the year.

The shooting occurred in front of the Bronx apartment house which the two were said to have shared.

The young woman, Mary Ennis, was detained by police for questioning.

The commission would be composed of four Senators and four Representatives, the secretaries of War, Navy, Agriculture, Commerce and Labor and five civilians.

"All honest voters should be welcomed back into the party," he said.

Shouse said he felt "personally sure" Alfred E. Smith would never seek the Presidency again, but "he is still an important factor in party politics." He believes his party is stronger now than at any time since 1916.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Police captured a Negro early today carting away a 500-pound safe from the Chestnut Hill home of William Freihofer, wealthy head of the Freihofer Baking Company and president of the Northwestern Trust Company.

The prisoner gave his name as Ernest Crowell, 33, of South Philadelphia. He confessed, police say, to looting the baking magnate's home at 6646 McCallum street, Chestnut Hill, last night. He was unable to open the safe and decided to haul it to his home when he was stopped by police because the tail light of his automobile was unlighted.

SALE OF BRITISH RECORDS HIT

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The recent sale of headquarters papers of the British Army during the American Revolution to Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach of Philadelphia was brought up in the House of Commons by Charles Williams.

Williams asked Prime Minister MacDonald whether he proposed to take steps to restrain the sale of British historical documents to persons in foreign countries.

MacDonald replied that the question of taking such steps had been considered by successive governments, "but I regret that no practical policy so far has been found to meet the varied cases that arise. I consider, however, that it is the duty of those possessing documents of national historical value to give the opportunity, should need arise, for their retention in this country."

To further questioning MacDonald regretted that the Rosenbach transaction had been completed and that nothing could be done to undo it.

HAPPY days [illegible] amusement world for Pittsburgh [illegible] what was a favorite form of amusement [illegible] before the Hamp was out. The oldest of dramas is also being performed in this Miracle Museum—for here is a Punch and Judy from London. This drama is considerably older than any of the plays of Shakespeare [illegible] be said to be particularly uplifting, for it is a well-known fact that Mr. Punch is a flagrant example of a triumphant career in vice and iniquity. He bamboozles everybody, beats his wife, makes much trouble for the police, [illegible] overthrows law by cheating the hangman, and it serves him right to be eaten by a Crocodile. The Pennsylvania Board of Censors ought to reform Mr. Punch.

There are boxing midgets, a swimming marvel, an Australian bird show, and the Hudspeths, who call themselves mentalists. They can tell you almost anything except when the taxi strike will be settled.

"Nothing new under the sun," said old Rabbi Ben Akiba. The newest form of entertainment in Pittsburgh is also the oldest. The fire-eater and the snake-charmer, the tattooed man and the human skeleton, the bearded lady and the Missing Link ought to keep us from getting bored for a while.

TENOR TITUS FREQUENT VISITOR TO LOCAL THEATERS

[illegible] Titus, who sings the tenor role in "The Fortune Teller" at the Alvin next week, is a frequent visitor to Pittsburgh, having been here with several of the musical [illegible] "Artists and Models," "Gay Paree," "Blossom Time," and also with the Music Box Revue. The early part of this season he was with Fritzi Scheff in "Mlle. Modiste" and is now happily affiliated with Eleanor Painter in "The Fortune Teller."

The Hungarian atmosphere of "Sari," playing at the Nixon this week, is of that picturesque type [illegible] so celebrated for and the wild Magyar music [illegible] Sari, Mitzi [illegible] dances and sings with that enthusiastic fervor which is so noticeable in the Hungarian race.

"Salt Water" will be next week's attraction in the Pitt. The cast will include Harland Tucker, Edith King, Mabel Kroman, Robert Fiske, Alice Ann Baker, Walter Jones, Joseph Lawrence and Hugh Harper.

NICK LUCAS COMING

Nick Lucas, the singing star who was featured in the film "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," comes to the Stanley in person Friday in conjunction with Dick Powell's stage presentation, "Tip Toppers." On the screen "Strictly Modern," starring Dorothy Mackaill, will be the talking feature.

William Powell, Kay Francis, Fay Wray and Hal Skelly are featured in "Behind the Make-Up," which comes to the Enright screen tomorrow. On the stage Jay Mills will present "Royal Vagabonds."

With Walter Winchell On Broadway

NOVELETTES

A MAN and his lady friend occupied Pullman chairs on a recent Atlantic City express. Opposite in chair seven sat a good-looking guy, the only other passenger in the car, who swapped affectionate glances with the pretty gal. An hour later her companion dozed in his chair.

Walter Winchell

"Kiss me," whispered the woman, "he's a sound sleeper." The lad, to make sure, pulled a hair from the dozing man's scalp. It didn't disturb him, so he kissed the woman. Three times he pulled out hairs before kissing the sleeping man's girl. As the train pulled into the seashore the two fellows met in the smoking room. "Aren't you the chap who sat in chair seven?" queried the cheated man.

"Yes-s-s-s-s," stammered the frightened youth.

"Well, for heaven's sake," bellowed the gent, "I don't mind you kissing my girl friend, but I object to your using my dome for a scoreboard."

TALE OF A PARTY—

When a dozen of the nation's better known railroad presidents, bank directors and politicians threw their annual party at a leading New York hotel recently they arranged for as many beautiful women to dine with them. But it was not a simple matter, this collecting of available charmers, for the lad in charge found himself stuck after gathering 11 of the town's most contagious sirens, and for the life of him could not promote the twelfth lady, although he had been recommended to numerous candidates.

She had to be smart. She had to have great charm. She had to be saturated with that something that all femmes do not pack. What to do?

He picked up the newspaper, and the front page announced the return from Paris of a former show girl, whose beauty has made men cry. "She'd be grand!" he thundered to his assistant. "Oh, if only I could be lucky enough to get her to join the party." He finally located her at her elegant place on Long Island. Certainly she would come. It would be delightful.

HOSTS ARE THRILLED

THE renowned darling arrived promptly, attired in her costly frocks, and the assemblage was thrilled. Dinner done, the glittering creatures and their aged but distinguished hosts proceeded to the specially engaged ballroom. It was a magnificent affair, smarter than any "Diamond Jim" Brady or Stanford White had hurled, and there were priceless favors distributed to the gals, all of whom, of course, were each rewarded with a thousand dollar bill for being there.

As the four a. m. hour softly chimed, the heroine of this story was encountered in one of the suites searching for something under the divan pillows. "What are you looking for?" one of the hosts asked.

"Nothing really," she said sweetly enough, "nothing at all."

"But," he butted, "you must be looking for something. I've been watching you for almost two minutes, picking up drapes or turning over cushions."

REAL CONFERENCE

AFTER a long and thorough search of all the suites and ballroom and dining salon the old gent pardoned himself and went to confer with his colleagues. "Good heavens," he said breathlessly, "she has lost a string of pearls, she says. It is bound to get into the papers, and we certainly cannot afford a scandal, or even news of these little parties."

Of course all of them were greatly disturbed, but one playboy calmly suggested that she be told they would all purchase another as good. "Why be bothered buying it?" said another. "Let us all contribute a goodly sum and let her get another. It'll be worth it at any price." They sent down to the clerk for a book of blank checks, and after the lass begged them not to give her any money, she admitted "reluctantly" that the string of jewels was valued at about $125,000.

TWELVE NICE CHECKS

EACH of the perspiring old fellows wrote out his check for an equal amount, and she thanked them profusely and all that sort of thing. "It is charming of you all," she purred, and she is grand at purring. The affair broke up and she was escorted home.

The next day the hotel detective, who had learned of the incident, and knowing her stunts, called to see her. "You put over a swift one last night, didn't you, baby?" he leather-lunged between titters.

"How do you mean?" she inquired indifferently.

"That poll business," he reminded her. "I gotta hand it to you, honey. You certainly know a chump when you meet 12. You know damn well you didn't come into the hotel last night wearing any polls, and I particularly noticed you, too. If you had 'em in your poise then you know they was paste, anyway."

"Please act your age," she responded as she switched from her Long Island to her Broadway manner. "I didn't say that they were real. I merely said that I had mislaid them."

So asserting herself, she peacocked over to her secretary, opened the top drawer and extracted the 12 checks. "There," she said after she indorsed one, and handed him the precious draft, "this is for you. I've got so many of them they are getting in my hair."

And the "incident" was closed.

Talmadge, Once Bigtimer, Finds Accent Hinders Talkie Career

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27.

WITH George M. Cohan, W. K. Broadway producer, coming to the Gold Coast to make flicks, characteristic yarns are beginning to crop up. Sidney Graham, veteran actor, recounts the time Cohan went to a town in Massachusetts to catch a play slated for Broadway. He sat through three acts. En route to his hotel, the author stopped him with:

"Don't you think it's a good play, George?"

Cohan nodded. "It's been good for years!"

EVER SO OFTEN this department gets to cogitating what happened to this and that stellar light of yester-year fame. Case in point: Richard Talmadge. Recollect him? Dick uster acrobat through five reels of Whoops [illegible] celluloid.

Geo. M. Cohan

Well, he's around town luxurating [illegible] gains raked from his flicks. Talmadge's real name is Sylvester Metz. Um, he's German. One of a family of acrobats. Shortly after he came to Hollywood he jobbed as Doug Fairbanks' double.

Phil Goldstone, then an independent producer, figured Sylvester Metz oke for the movies. So he signed him up. Changed his name to Richard Talmadge. And shot a picture without "selling short." The dividends were stupendous. Later, another chap bought Talmadge's contract from Goldstone and the star tried to do some acting, which didn't go very hot. I hear he kinda hankers to. But he still has a German accent and in these adenoided days an accent is as popular to a producer as the measles.

ROMBERG SYMPHONY

OVER ON the Warner lot a million dollar (no foolin') operetta, yclept "Vienese Nights," is in production throes. Technicolor offering. With relentless lights banked around the sets and the temperature tropical plus. Not a dry stitch on the set. Um, that's hot.

Hammerstein, II.

And the most enthusiastic person this scribster has yet to see in a studio sitting to one side of Director Alan Crosland. Meet Sigmund Romberg, the father of umpty ump operatic hits now debuting with Oscar Hammerstein II in vocalloids via his "Vienese Nights." When the players are on the verge of wilting from the terrific lights Mr. Romberg between scenes will join the orchestra, sit down at the piano and with a gusto that is verily grand lead the musikers through a number or two.

One of the highlights of the picture will be the local philharmonic orchestra playing the symphony Romberg has especially written for his picture. I believe this is the second time in the history of the young talky motion picture that a symphony has been written for a specific picture. The previous time was in an Ann Harding film.

BUSTER AND MARIE

LOOKS LIKE it's getting more and more serious with Buster Collier and Marie Provost. Yeah, and Al Hall, W. K. writer, is that way about Doris Deane, too. Doris was once married to Roscoe Arbuckle.

A MAN who introduced himself as Snowshoe Collins accosted George Irving. He thought Mr. Irving was the mayor of Ketchikan, Alaska, and was that upset when Mr. Irving denied connection with or knowledge of the place. Later, he consulted the map and discovered Ketchikan boasts a population of 2,000. But a chap can't mayor and act for years unless he's a Jimmy Walker.

TALKIES AT SEA

RICHARD (Director) Wallace writes "One day from Honolulu" that the beginning of his around-the-world trip of four months starts oke. Even though the ship does go in heavy for motion picture talkies. Seems the Dollar Steamship Lines buy 500 pictures a year for ship projection. Wallace remarks: "Everything on board is great. The water is like glass, and sleep is in order. So goo' nite."

It will soon be time to move. Get the renting problem settled. Let the Sun-Telegraph Classified Ads help you find a suitable place.

SHARKEY, SCOTT SET FOR BATTLE

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Scott Seems Outclassed.
Gerber Stays in Game.

Rabbit Takes Age Lead.
Rating Derby Starters.
Tigers Try New Veach.

SHARKEY PROBABLE WINNER BY KAYO

WITH only a few hours remaining to elapse before Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott clamber through the hemp for their international Queensberry debate in Miami tonight, about 99 out of every 100 fight fans are found clinging to their original opinion that Scott hasn't got a chance to win, and that the only question about the outcome is how long it will take Sharkey to put the Englishman away. Referee Lou Magnolia ought to have an easy job.

Louis Magnolia

Ring history, it is true, is dotted with upsets and surprises. John L. Sullivan, Terry McGovern, Bob Fitzsimmons, Kid Lavigne, Jack Dempsey and others went down when they were considered invincible. But with all due allowance for the uncertainty of the glove sport, and for the additional fact that Sharkey has been an in-and-out performer not always to be depended upon for a high-class exhibition, a decisive victory for the former sailor appears to be the only result possible tonight.

In past upsets the beaten favorites were at least opposed by real fighters who had shown comparative ability to a reasonable degree. In the present case nothing of the sort can be said of Scott. He does not measure up to Sharkey's standards in any sense, and it would require the most surprising form reversal that the game has ever known to save the Briton from defeat.

ABOUT all that can be offered in support of Scott is that he is a fair boxer. He lacks aggressiveness and competitive spirit, he doesn't carry the punch you would expect to find in a man of his size and strength, his ability or willingness to take punishment and keep going has been left open to question more than once, he has been accused several times of seeking the easiest way out, and he has been beaten by opponents who were nothing more than third-raters.

There isn't one department in which Sharkey does not shape up as being far superior to his prospective foeman. Not only is he a better boxer than Phainting Phil, all things considered, but he combines more real fighting qualities. No one would class Scott with Tommy Loughran in boxing skill, yet Sharkey stopped Loughran in three rounds. Jack packs a punch in addition to his cleverness, is far more experienced than Scott in big-time bouts, has a big edge in aggressiveness and forcing qualities, and generally rises to championship heights when, as in this instance, he is up against a man from whom he knows he has nothing to fear.

IT is pretty safe to say that even the promoters themselves, President W. F. Carey and his associates in the Madison Square Garden Corporation, would be the most surprised, not to say disappointed, persons in the country if the affair were to end otherwise than a Sharkey victory.

For these same shrewd business men plan a big outdoor fight in New York next summer, with Max Schmeling, of Germany, meeting tonight's winner for the world heavyweight championship. Sharkey against Schmeling means an international match that will pack the park. With two foreigners as the principals, on the other hand, the show would draw comparatively little.

W. F. Carey

SO it follows that if the promoters had thought there was any real danger of a defeat for Sharkey at the hands of Scott, the Miami match never would have been made. They've got to have international color to make the summer title show a success. But there appears to be not even a remote possibility that their plans will be knocked awry. Sharkey ought to win just about as quickly as he cares to end the affair, probably by a knockout before the sixth round has passed, and certainly by the decision route if the affair should by any chance go the limit, which is unlikely.

ALL around, it is the poorest heavyweight card put forward in the guise of a really big event in a long time. Scott is conceded less chance than any principal in a so-called near-championship heavyweight fight since Jim Corbett was looked upon as the well-known lamb being sent to the slaughter when he met Sullivan in New Orleans more than 37 years ago.

Corbett amazed the fight world on that occasion, but the chance of history's repeating itself tonight is too slim for serious consideration. The Miami thing has nothing to recommend it as a contest or a spectacle and the promoters may consider themselves fortunate if it draws as much as $250,000, instead of the $400,000 they originally expected, for reasons that nobody else could see.

OF course, it's much too early to get a line on Glenn Wright's throwing arm, but the results of the first few days in the training camp of the Brooklyn Dodgers at Clearwater have been very encouraging to the former Pirate shortstop. He has not attempted any quick or hard throws, but is able to heave the ball to first base with pleasing ease and accuracy.

"It feels great so far," Wright exulted, "and I really think that I'll be able to come back about as good as ever. But the real test won't come for two or three weeks, as I won't attempt to cut loose until then. It's a fact, however, that I'm throwing about as well now as I ever did at a corresponding stage of a training trip."

Rabbit Maranville

WALTER GERBER, one-time Pittsburgh shortstop, recently released unconditionally by the Boston Red Sox, isn't going to quit baseball even though he has passed out as the big show's oldest active infielder. Gerber, who will be 40 on August 18, has signed with St. Paul in the American Association and expects to play regularly. He rejected an offer to become playing manager of the Pittsfield club in the Eastern League. Incidentally the dispelling of the doubt that existed for a time as to what would become of Rabbit Maranville this year, followed by Manager Bill McKechnie's assurance that he means to use the little fellow regularly in the Brave lineup, means that Gerber's former ranking as the oldest infielder in the majors wil pass to Maranville, another former Pirate shortstop, instead of to Joe Judge, of Washington, who was next in line for the distinction. Maranville was 37 on November 11 last. Judge will not hit the 36 mark until May 25.

MIGHTY few young ball players have ever pulled down so much as $15,000 for a first season in the majors. Even fewer, if any, after such a profitable beginning, have ever decided to foresake the diamond sport immediately. But that's what Bill Breckenridge, a recruit right-hand pitcher from Dartmouth and Oklahoma U. with the Athletics last year, has just done.

Connie Mack planned to send Breckenridge to the minors, but has been notified that the youngster is going to study law and wants to have his name placed on the retired list. Breckenridge received $5,000 as a bonus for signing last year, $5,000 more as salary, and a little more than $5,000 additional as his share of the world series

BATTING DRILL IS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 27.—"Two workouts today, boys," shouted Manager Jewel Ens to his pitchers, catchers and infielders this morning as the athletes mobilized and by 11 o'clock all hands were hard at it at the Paso Robles ball park. There will be another session this afternoon.

Ens decided to take no chances with the uncertain weather after the sun appeared in the skies this morning. He decided to hold off yesterday and the Pirates wound up in a hailstorm, which is hardly the proper setting for a diamond workout.

Jewel told all hands to be in full battle regalia by 10:30, and a few minutes later they were out on the field.

FIRST BATTING DRILL

Ens expects to stage the first batting drill of the season this afternoon.

Quite a few of the rookie pitchers are in shape to bear down, and these will be sent to the mound with instructions to get something on the ball.

Several of the first-string sharpshooters also have limbered up to the point where they can give the sphere a lot of funny twists, but Ens has cautioned his big-timers to "go easy." Steve Swetonic is one of those who can put a lot of zip on the sphere. Steve worked out in a small way during his Los Angeles stay and in this way was able to get himself close to condition.

PIE ON WAY

Training camp action doesn't get very swift until the infielders and outfielders put in an appearance. The big shots of the club generally ride into town with the rear guard and these boys are always welcome for the added zip they give the sessions.

Bill Hinchman and Adam Comorosky were the only members of the second squad to get away from Pittsburgh last night. At St. Louis today, Pie Traynor climbed aboard the train. Pie was accompanied by Umpire Ted McGrew, new National League official, who will have charge of the training games involving the Buccos at Kansas City. This afternoon the little squad will be augmented by the appearance of the Waner boys and Outfielder Burl Pfarr, a semi-pro from Arkansas.

Chillysauce

The present curriculum at the Pirates camp features a wide range of sport. Besides the golf, there are the soccer stunts of the players, the jumping-rope exercises so often used by boxers, swimming in the pool of the Paso Robles Hotel, and calisthenics.

The principal indoor pastime of the Pittsburgh players is bridge, and starting with Manager Ens in person, the club has five or six bridge stars who could step out in fast company. Chick Fraser is a shark, and he plays his own [illegible].

---

It is quite strange that very few of the players are suffering with colds and other [illegible] ailments. Most of the boys were soaked yesterday, but apparently all were able to get dry clothes quickly enough to escape any bad results. Several of the squad would not wait for the rain to cease; they ran from the ball park to the hotel in the midst of the showers. And it was a very cold rain with much hail falling.

Camp Notes

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—The old familiar smack of the fast ball coming to rest in the catcher's mitt was heard in the camp of the Cleveland Indians here yesterday, as the Redskin twirlers cut loose with a little steam in the third day of practice.

Curves were still banned by Manager Peckinpaugh, but he relented a trifle on the speed proposition. Considerable speculation is rife as to the possibilities of Belve Bean, the new righthander from New Orleans. Bean has height, weight and span of age as well as in his flinging arm. He holds a bat like he knew what it was for, too, the old timers opine. But Bean has no change of pace and Peckinpaugh has begun a strenuous campaign of instruction on that phase of the speed ball pitcher's equipment.

TIGER ROOKIE PROMISING

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—All except one of the Detroit Tigers' pitchers have reported to Manager Bucky Harris at training camp here, and all are said to be in such good condition that a few practice sessions should put them in shape.

George Uhle, veteran right hander and the only absentee, is having his arm treated at Los Angeles.

Manager Harris has a promising recruit in Henry Greenberg, 19-year-old New York boy. Greenberg has played first base but Harris is trying to make him over to play at third as an understudy of Marty McManus.

FOUR BROWNS MISSING

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Four of the St. Louis Browns pitching aces, Sam Gray, George Blaeholder, Walter Stewart and Warren Collins, were still missing yesterday as the Browns went through their second workout since opening spring training this week. It was understood here that negotiations between club officials and the players are under way and that the belated ones soon will be in camp.

---

MARANVILLE REPORTS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27.—Rabbit Maranville spiked rumors that he is a holdout with a surprise act by reporting in the Braves' camp yesterday, several days ahead of scheduled arrival. Walter Berger, hard-hitting rookie outfielder, showed well at third base in the drill. Berger broke into pro baseball as an infielder and Manager McKechnie is considering him as a third base prospect in event Red Rollings and Gene Robertson fail to make good.

YESTERDAY'S EXPLANATIONS — THE NINE OF DIAMONDS IS THE CURSE OF SCOTLAND — The lugubrious designation of the nine of diamonds as the "Curse of Scotland" harks back to the historical battle of Culloden, 1746, which sealed the fate of the Stuart cause. The Duke of Cumberland, who, for his extraordinary severity, became known as the "Butcher Duke," wrote "No Quarter" across the face of the nine of diamonds, thereby dooming 2,000 Scotchmen to death in the Scotch moors. AUBURN HAGGARD, JR., HAS 20 GRANDPARENTS—This infant has 10 pairs of grandparents, six pairs on its father's side and four pairs on its mother's side. ## ENGLISHMAN HAS WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

BULLETIN.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—Much as a morbid throng would go to view a hanging, or some such sinister spectacle, thousands of winter tourists will take their places in Madison Square Garden's new octagonal wooden stadium here tonight fully expecting to witness the annihilation of Phil Scott, of London, by Jack Sharkey, of Boston. The event has been advertised as a 15-round boxing contest, but the customers believe it will be a slaughter.

Nobody concedes Phil a chance, except possibly his manager, his towel wielders and a few friends from abroad. The crowd is going out there with the idea of seeing the blighter take a trouncing or execute one of his famous falls. The betting odds are 5 to 1, with Sharkey the favorite to win, and by ringtime they probably will be 7 to 1 or better. It is nigh impossible to find a soul who will wager a pound on the Englishman to beat the terrible Sharkey person.

GOB 7-1 FAVORITE

Sharkey will go into the ring probably the most prohibitive favorite in the history of any major fistic battle. Gene Tunney, the retired heavyweight champion, was a 6-to-1 favorite to win over Tom Heeney, but the fans do not think Scott's chances against Sharkey are nearly as good as Heeney's against Tunney.

The gate receipts were slowly mounting today, but there was little likelihood of a sellout. In the select if not over substantial turnout will be social registerites from Palm Beach, brokers from Wall Street, millionaires from New York, Peoria and San Francisco and points between; railroad presidents, bankers, bootleggers, bootblacks and what not, and no end of celebrities as well, including Tunney himself.

Tunney would not commit himself as to who he thought would be the winner, never having seen Scott box. However, the retired champion said he did not fancy a stand-off fighter of the Scott type, because, sooner or later, a boxer of this style would be hit on the button and Sharkey, he thought, was the kind of a scrapper who could nail him.

SERIES OPENS IN W.P.I.A.L.

After a year's absence, Phil Bridenbaugh returns his New Castle High basketball team to tournament play, meeting North Union tonight in the opening tussle of the annual W. P. I. A. L. championship elimination tournament on the Pitt Stadium floor tonight.

Phil Bridenbaugh

New Castle carries the banner of Section III into the tourney this year. North Union, playing in the series for the first time, represents Section XIII. New Castle, for no good reason, won the title back in 1927, failed to click in '28 and last year, was on the shelf due to a technical violation of the league's constitution. New Brighton won the Section III title last year.

Coach Bridenbaugh, one of the smartest athletic coaches, scholastic or collegiate, in the district, has developed a strong machine from ordinary material. The Castelites have one of those teams that you wouldn't figure would get to first base, but has come along with seven league strides, and beat out a fine team in Butler to sew up the section title.

North Union won the XIII banner with comparative ease, and is considered strong enough to be a first round dark horse.

The second game of the tourney, a lower bracket contest, will be played in the Stadium Saturday, bringing together Aliquippa (Section IV) and Ambridge (Section II). These schools, coached by a pair of former Geneva stars, figure to pack in the first capacity house. Nate Lippe, of Aliquippa, and Moe Rubenstein, of Ambridge, have been rivals since their own school days, and have carried the rivalry into their coaching careers.

BIG SOCCER TILTS CARDED

By TOM BIRKS

The District League race is still appealing to the rank and file of local soccerdom, and Saturday's games, with all of the championship teams swinging into action, should provide plenty of reason for comment.

Clan Douglas will meet the Lewis A. C. at Blawnox and this affair should get the upriver crowds. The other game will be staged at Lawrenceville and finds the Pittsburgh Rovers back after a long absence meeting the Pierpoints. The Motors aggregation cannot afford to take another on the chin and still stay in the race.

On Sunday the fans will have the O'Donnell benefit game at Bower Hill to watch. It will feature the Green and Gold of Heidelberg once again. O'Donnell was one of the greatest American born players ever developed here and has been on practically every championship team in the district. A product of Millers Run, O'Donnell has done much to elevate the kicking code. He was hurt in the Glendale game and has piled up quite a large hospital bill. His work for soccer should be remembered by fans in the coming game.

BELMONT LOSES GAME BATTLE TO HAMBRIGHT

JIMMY KNOCKED DOWN SEVEN TIMES

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock went through a baptism of ring fire such as few men are called upon to face in the main bout of 10 rounds featuring the opening show of the new boxing club in the upstairs hall of Duquesne Garden last night. He finished standing up against Vincent Hambright, terrific-hitting, almond-eyed and expressionless Filipino, of Cincinnati, after having been floored seven times, fallen down twice and been pushed down once. The bell saved him in several of the rounds.

Belmont

It was the toughest battle of young Jimmy's career and it took a lot out of him. In order to last the limit he had to absorb one of the most punishing beatings dealt out to a local main bout boxer in a long time. Throughout he shook off jaw-crushing right hand drives and swings and ripping lefts to the body and won the admiration and support of the crowd for his pluck.

PROVES GAMENESS

Proving his gameness beyond question Belmont at the same time once more demonstrated that he has not progressed as a ring mechanic. Starting out with a rush and some fast boxing that bothered his opponent and gave the fans some hope of at last seeing an aggressive and freshly inspired Belmont in action, he soon settled down to his waiting tactics and became a mark for the free-swinging Hambright. Late in the opening round he got into trouble for the first time. Rushing in with a wild swing that missed, he stepped into a short right uppercut that dropped him for a count of four in Hambright's corner.

Early in the second round a hard right found Jimmy's jaw and spilled him for a count of nine in his own corner. He arose fighting but ran into a barrage of hard blows and went down near Hambright's corner for a count of eight. Just before the round ended he dropped from exhaustion as he missed a right swing intended to ward off Hambright.

ORGY OF KNOCKDOWNS

With Hambright trying for a knockout early in the third round, Belmont stepped in and landed a clean right to the jaw, but he couldn't keep off the Filipino, and two rights to the jaw followed by a left to the body had him sagging down as the bell rang.

The fourth round, a slow one was the first session in which Belmont was not in trouble. In the fifth round Hambright again set the pace and easily outscored Belmont who was shaping up but not fighting. Just before the round ended, Belmont was knocked off balance in midring, but was up without a count.

The sixth round saw Belmont down two more times, for counts of eight and six. The first knockdown occurred in midring, where Jimmy went down under a shower of gloves to the head. He was badly hurt, but fought back as he arose. The Filipino, anxious for the kill then forced his foe before him and with a rush and push sent him down into the ropes in Belmont's own corner, where Jimmy was trying to stretch his legs and get up when the round ended at the count of six. During the excitement of this knockdown, Belmont's seconds touched and assisted him, a palpable foul which, however, was not claimed by Hambright's seconds.

LOSER SPENT AT FINISH

The seventh was a slow round, with Hambright resting after being nailed by a right flush on the jaw and a left to the body early in the session. It was Belmont's only round of the fight. The eighth was slow, with neither doing much.

Hambright stepped out in the van again in the ninth, during which he subjected Belmont to an unmerciful hammering of the head and body. He climaxed the battle in the final round by planting a solid left to the body and then cracking his right to the jaw with such force that Belmont staggered and reeled to the floor, only to get up dazed at the count of one and fight back. As the round wore on, Belmont steadily faded and he once dropped down in a sitting position out of a clinch. He was glad to hear the final bell, while his opponent appeared to be as fresh and cool as when the fight began.

Belmont scaled in at 148½ pounds and Hambright 144½. Tommy Malco, of Soho, who was given a draw in a bout with Hambright at the Coliseum here recently, challenged the winner before the battle. Hambright will not be able to meet him next week, as he boxes Bobby LaSalle in Cincinnati next Wednesday night.

HECKERT A SETUP

Phil Heckert, of Cincinnati, 149½ pounds, lost by a technical knockout to Harry Williams, of the North Side, 177, in the third round of the scheduled six-round semi-final. The referee stopped the uneven battle after Heckert had taken a lacing and it was apparent that he was outclassed. The visitor is a crude, clumsy performer who fights like a novice. He had gameness alone to recommend him.

Sammy Paris, of the Hill, 122½ pounds, outboxed Young Nanci, of Swissvale, 121½, in the six-round second bout, but Nanci got the referee's decision when the judges disagreed, Judge Frank Brown voting for Nanci and Judge Jim McLaughlin for a draw. Paris once was hit low, but declined to claim a foul and take a rest.

GOOD OPENING CROWD

A good-sized crowd turned out for the new club's initial offering. The hall is well appointed and affords all of the spectators a good view of the bouts.

Al Grayber refereed all of the bouts. Milton Crandall, of dance marathon fame, did the announcing and Chappie Couch was the timer.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—(INS.)—Mrs. Jack Sharkey will not see her husband fight Phil Scott here tonight. Asked if she would be at the ringside she replied:

"I will be here in my room, locked in all by myself awaiting the outcome.

"It isn't because I think Mr. Scott is going to harm Jack, because Jack never was in greater shape. I'm not going to the arena because I am afraid my presence might disturb him. I want him to concentrate on his job tomorrow night. I haven't the slightest doubt but that he will and also that he will be the next champion of the world."

A triple deadlock for first place in the second half of the Allegheny County League, involving the Duquesne Lafayettes, present titleholders, the Hill Veronas and the Goldensons, will be broken tonight when the Veronas and Goldensons clash at the South Side Market House.

The contest, the feature attraction of the week in local professional circles, promises to tax the capacity of the South Side Market House, inasmuch as both clubs boast large followings. Virtually the entire Hill district has made arrangements to attend the contest. Unless all signs fail, the battle should attract a record-breaking turnout.

LOSE TO CHAMPS

The Goldensons, beaten 34-33 by the Lafayettes at Duquesne last night, face the prospect of dropping to third place in event they take another on the chin tonight, the Veronas moving into first place while the Lafayettes will occupy the runner-up berth. On the other hand a victory will give the Goldensons sole possession of first place.

The contest brings together two smooth-working floor machines composed of some of the best professional stars of the district and followers of the two quintets are anticipating the same grueling struggle that marked the recent Pintex-Verona contest, which required four extra periods to decide the victor.

In the preliminary the Goldenson Vanities will go after their fourteenth straight victory of the season by engaging the Comptometer Girls.

The McKeesport Y. M. C. A. will be the scene of one of the best attractions in years tonight when the Temple All-Stars meet a team composed of famous old-timers in local basketball circles. The proceeds of the game will be donated to the Temple Synagogue of McKeesport. Among the old-timers who will take part in the game are Moy Marks, Johnny Baker, Red Pearlman, Harry Levine, Beggs Snyder, George Ramsay, Buck Gelsky, Ben Raphael and other well-known figures in local sports.

After a year's absence, due to ineligibility, New Castle High School's basketball team is back in the W. P. I. A. L. tourney again, representing Section III. The Bridenbaugh-coached quintet faces North Union High, Section XIII champion, in the opening game of the tournament in the Stadium tonight. New Castle has won 14 games in a row. It won the league title in 1927.

capacity of 50,200 is all dolled up for the cash customers and the deadheads as well. It is claimed by the Madison Square publicity department that 45,000 of the seats will be occupied but conservative estimates from other sources is that 35,000 would be a better guess. And yet there may be an eleventh-hour rush for ducats that would result in a sell-out. Thousands of persons will be attracted by the opportunity of seeing the other well-known heavyweights on the card. Interest is keen in the bout between Victorio Campolo, the giant South American, and Johnny Risko, the rubber man of Cleveland.

SCOTT IS CONFIDENT

Frank Bruen, general manager of Madison Square Garden Inc., predicted today that the receipts would be at least $300,000, which is considerably less than the $407,000 taken in at last year's "Battle of the Palms" between Sharkey and Young Stribling. The seats range in price from $5.49 to $25. There are 10,000 ringside chairs at $25 each, 13,500 at $12.50 a seat and 26,500 at $5.49.

Although hardly anyone else thinks so, Scott himself declares he will win. When he was visited by the International News Service at the Alcazar Hotel this morning he seemed disturbed over the fact the boxing experts regard him so lightly.

"I expect to beat Sharkey," he said quietly. "I have trained faithfully and I feel certain I can go 15 rounds without any trouble. I am not saying when I will win or how I will win, but I will win. One never knows his exact plan of battle until he gets in there."

Scott is confident he can outpoint any boxer in the ring and there are many who believe that if he is on his feet at the end of the sixth round he will go on to victory.

Somehow Scott seems to be a lonely figure. He is a sad-eyed, worried-looking individual. The worried appearance is habitual with him and apparently is not caused by any fear of Sharkey.

SHARKEY READY

Sharkey, on the other hand, is bubbling over with confidence. He has quietly assured intimate friends that if Scott holds his hands in a certain way he will "knock him dead with a punch." Scott is one man Sharkey thinks he can lick and wants to lick, and when he feels that way he is very, very tough indeed.

In training Sharkey has looked much classier than Scott, who, truth to tell, has been terrible at times. Old heads in the boxing game point out that often a man is a dud in training and a demon in the ring and vice versa. Sharkey has thickened up a bit all over his frame and has been boxing in the assured, masterful style of a champion.

Both fighters rested today. They contented themselves with strolls about town. They were to weigh in this afternoon at the offices of the Miami Boxing Commission in City Hall. They will not see each other until fight time because they will get on the scales at different hours.

MAGNOLIA TO REFEREE

Lou Magnolia, of New York, will be the referee and, despite a controversy on the point, he will be the sole judge of when the fight will be stopped in the event either contestant is seemingly helplessly beaten. There will be no judges. Joe Humphreys, of the clarion voice, will be the announcer.

Sharkey will be seconded by Johnny Buckley, his manager; Al Lacey, his trainer, and Tony Polazzolo. The three Johnston brothers, Jimmy, Eddie and Charley, will be in Scott's corner.

The main go will start about 10 o'clock, the first bout at 8:15. The fights will not be broadcast from the ringside.

Eleanor Holm Sets World Swim Mark

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Eleanor Holm, of New York, international backstroke swimming champion, broke the women's world record for the 100-meter swim at the Women's Swimming Association meet here last night. Swimming against time, she completed the distance in 1 minute, 23 1-5 seconds. The old record was 1 minute, 23 3-5 seconds.

Young and Wray To Be Here Today

Lou Young, chairman of the athletic committee; Lud Wray, head football coach, and Paul B. Hartenstein, of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania, will be honor guests tonight at the Pittsburgh Alumni Association's dinner in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club Annex. The festivities begin at 6:30 o'clock.

P. Waner Takes Solo Flight; Off To Join Pirates

ADA, Okla., Feb. 27.—Paul Waner took to the air here yesterday, flying solo for the first time in a Commandaire C-3-C three-place open cockpit training plane in which he has been flying with an instructor throughout the winter months.

Waner's flight is a climax of over 10 hours at the controls under the instruction of Lieut. Paul Hinds, a former Army flyer, instructor at the local airport.

It was his last trip aloft until after the present baseball season, as he and brother Lloyd left Ada last night for Kansas City to join their teammates en route to the Pirates' spring training camp.

money. He was used in but three games, pitched only 10 innings all told, was rapped for 10 hits, gave 16 bases on balls and made two wild pitches. And $15,000 for pitching practically only one full game wasn't enough to make baseball look like a paying business to him.

RACING handicappers in New York have designated Gallant Fox, owned by William Woodward, as the natural favorite in the Kentucky Derby and have agreed that the price should not be less than 8 to 1.

Clifford A. Cochran's Flying Heels and Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Desert Light are quoted at 10 to 1 each, with Mrs. Vanderbilt's Sarazen II, William Ziegler's Spinach and Gone Away, and the Rancocas stable's Grattan ranging up to 20 to 1.

COMES another son to try to begin in the big baseball leagues where his father left off. Like Jim Connery, Jim O'Rourke, Louie Bierbauer, Jess Burkett, Tommy Leach, Ed Walsh, Elmer Jacobs, Leon Ames and others in the past, most of whom were disappointed, Bobby Veach has dreams of major league greatness for his boy. Clinton Veach, son of the former outfielder of the Tigers, Red Sox, Yankees and Senators, will leave Detroit tomorrow night for the Tiger camp at Tampa to be tried out, probably as an outfielder though he has also done considerable pitching. "I want it understood though," old Bob is quoted, "that Cliff is not under contract. If he shows enough stuff and they want to farm him to the minors, he can sign then. But if he doesn't make good he may enter college in the fall and I want him to be able to play on the college team without any squawking about professionalism." The senior Veach made his final big league appearance in this city. In the sixth game of the Pittsburgh-Washington world series on October 13, 1925, at Forbes Field, he batted for Buck Harris in the eighth inning against Remy Kremer and went out on a grounder to Eddie Moore.

Grimes Visits Buc Offices; Remains As Holdout

Before Scout Bill Hinchman and Outfielder Adam Comorosky, the first starters of the second Pirate detachment, left Pittsburgh at 7:25 o'clock last night for the Paso Robles training camp, Burleigh Grimes, the holdout pitcher, put in another appearance at Buccaneer headquarters. However, he confined his visit to an exchange of greetings with the others present and a brief fanning bee. He did not discuss the contract matter with Secretary Sam Watters.

"It is all up to Grimes," was the only statement that Secretary Watters would make afterward. "He has the club's final terms."

DUKES BOAST FINE CHANCE FOR TITLE

By JESS CARVER

Investigator No. 6 reports that next Tuesday evening will be a propitious time for one to add to the corpulence of the bankroll by wagering all that can be panhandled, borrowed or stolen, on Monsieur Chick Davies' Duquesne Dukes to cut down the fast flying Westminster Titans. On that evening, the Dukes and the United Presbyterians (or Titans) will square off in a return game, of Tri-State Conference brew, on the Bluff court.

Tuesday, at New Wilmington, Westminster scrapped through a pair of overtime periods to take the Dukes by a 24-19 count and all but clinch the Tri-State Conference championship for A. D. 1930. Westminster will rest up over the week-end with a standing of seven games won and one lost in the Conference, with only one more to play. The Dukes have won six and lost two, and have, besides Westminster, another contest with Geneva. In the event that Westminster is beaten next week, the Dukes, by taking Geneva later on, can nose out the merry men of Westminster by just half a game, winning eight and losing two to Westminster's seven and two.

DUKES HAVE CHANCE

So you can see that it will be well worth while to take in the encounter on the Bluff next week, even to the extent of passing up the weekly stud session or the W. P. I. A. L. elimination game at the Pitt Stadium.

The Dukes, it would appear, lost Tuesday's game at the foul line, and continuing his detailed report, Investigator Six says as how the adherents of the local Irish are so confident that their hopefuls will throw a monkey wrench into the smooth working Titan machinery next week that they are likely to be willing to bet even dough on the outcome.

PROGRAM LIGHT

Whether you wish to believe it or not, there is only one college basketball game on the program for tonight, the Geneva-at-Bethany fracas. This means that a lot of officials will have to find other means of enhancing their bank accounts. Tomorrow, however, Allegheny plays Thiel at Greenville, the Dukes begin an Eastern trip by playing Manhattan College in New York, and Grove City and Westminster clash in a pate de foie gras encounter at New Wilmington.

Dr. Carlson takes his Pitt Panthers out of the city, points 'em toward the Hudson, where on Saturday they'll play the Cadets of the United States Military Academy at West Point. Everyone else of any importance has beaten the Army this year, so why not Pitt?

TECH FETE SET

The spring meeting of the Pittsburgh Clan and the Varsity Clan of Carnegie Tech, at which the Tartan football players will be honored, will be as lively as the six similar affairs that have preceded it, according to the hard-working committee that is in charge. Saturday's festivities, which are to be held in the William Penn Hotel at 1 p. m., will constitute the seventh annual luncheon sponsored by the two alumni organizations.

T. H. Ross, president of the Pittsburgh Clan, and A. R. (Dutch) Zelt, president of the Varsity Clan, are personally heading the committees. Others taking an active part in the arrangements are T. N. Griggs, vice president of the Pittsburgh Clan; Jimmy Robertson, the former football star, who is secretary-treasurer of the Pittsburgh Clan; A. C. Colmery, secretary-treasurer of the Varsity Clan, and Cy Comfort, also a former gridder of note.

Sport Vignettes

Talk of Jack Dempsey coming back to fight Primo Carnera for one final big shot is silly. . . . . It would draw, have no fear, but it would put a tragic end to the great Dempsey myth. . . . . Lots of folks still think the onetime Man Mauler is a great fighter. . . . . Some still regard him as the heavyweight champion. . . . . If he went in there with Primo, after his long retirement, it would be just a repetition of Charley White's foolish comeback attempt of a few nights ago, when a young kid named Henry Perlick, a mediocre lightweight, floored him four times in the second round and forced his seconds to toss in a towel. . . . . Dempsey was the promoter of that battle. . . . . It's too bad he wasn't there to see it and absorb a lesson from it. . . . . It's a wise ringman who knows when he's through. . . . . Too many of them never learn. . . . . It's the case all over again of the pitcher that went to the well (or was it the pitcher who went to the mound?) once too often. . . . . Let's remember Jack Dempsey as the great fighter he was, with only those defeats by Gene Tunney when he had gone over the hill standing against him.

. . . . . He's been too great a fighter in his time to be punched insensible for dollars by an overgrown third-rater who will be tickled to death to get him in his record. . . . . Here's one man who wouldn't want to sit in on the slaughter. . . . . 'Tis better that a curtain be drawn on the sight of the shell of Dempsey tottering on Leon Errol legs, a mark for a young giant and lucky if he falls over from his own exertions before he is smacked down. . . . . No, let our last memory of Dempsey be one of which we may be proud. . . . . Speaking of the heavies, Jack Sharkey says his toughest fight was the one he won over big George Godfrey, the Black Menace, in Boston, a few days before the first Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia. . . . . He says big Gawge didn't give him a moment's rest. . . . . Kept coming at him and laying his weight over him all the way. . . . . Jack Sharkey uses a short rope for skipping in training. . . . . Says he does it so he will have to keep his mind on what he is doing to avoid tripping himself up, thus schooling himself in concentration. . . . . Gene Tunney went him one better. . . . . He didn't believe in rope-skipping because he held it was of no value since it did not incorporate any movements used in boxing. . . . . He was a champion and Sharkey is a near-champion. . . . . The moral would appear to be that the less rope you give a fighter the farther he is apt to go. . . . . What a sap Phil Scott will make out of a lot of scribes if Sharkey should turn in one of his bad fights at Miami tonight. . . . . When that Sharkey man goes bad, he does no half-way job. . . . . But he's been bad so often that he should have all of his erratic fighting out of his system by now.—HARRY KECK

Co-operation Need of South Fruit Growers

—By B. C. FORBES—

Hoover's popularity has decreased rather than increased since the South voted for him. It is growingly felt that he has not displayed adequate leadership qualities and that the smooth functioning of our two-party government threatens to disintegrate. The South wonders if a third main political party is aborning. Just about the time the South becomes interested in tariff schedules for self-protection, the ability or disposition of the administration to extend protection is thrown into doubt. Tradition, be assured, isn't holding back any Southern industry from demanding tariff protection.

GENERAL business and agricultural sentiment is only so-so. Cotton's low prices are causing alarm, especially as the textile industry gives no assurance that it will greatly expand consumption either at home or in Europe.

THE South has been afflicted by an uncomfortably large number of bank failures. New York and other big-city newspapers are so accustomed to hundred-million and even billion-dollar banks that they pay scant attention to the closing of a bank having a hundred thousand or a million resources. But when one community after another suddenly finds its local bank has closed its doors the effect is depressing, even paralyzing. Twenty thousand small banks may or may not be preferable to a relatively few very powerful main institutions having myriads of branches, as in Canada. A banking revolution apparently looms, just as we are passing through an industrial revolution, a mercantile revolution, a transportation revolution, with an agricultural revolution on the horizon.

ONE gets very conflicting reports concerning this season's tourist crop. A few enthusiasts declared it has been and is excellent; others call it poor; most call it fair. My own sketchy opinion is that it has been somewhat under rather than over normal, meaning by normal the totals of the last few seasons, although one finds that the South, like Wall Street, is inclined to regard as normal the highest peak ever attained. Says one newspaper:

"The Florida State Chamber of Commerce reports that January saw more than 15,000 foreign-licensed automobiles crossing the St. Johns Bridge at Jacksonville. The cars bore more than 40,000 persons, an increase of 45 per cent over the check of 1929 and of 69 per cent over 1928. It is authority for the statement that there are more visitors in Florida at this time than for the past several years."

ONE thing the South and most especially Florida needs is a much greater measure of co-operation, particularly in distributing and marketing. Fruit growers could profitably take a leaf out of California's co-operative book. Until they do the industry will fall woefully short of its maximum possibilities. Maybe the energetic Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board can persuade fruit growers to evolve order and profit out of chaos and loss.

TALK of stocks being on the bargain counter following the panic: they have nothing on Florida real estate prices, if the expression may be permitted. The ubiquitous Joseph P. Day, Napoleonic real estate auctioneer, is on the job offering the public, according to his arresting advertisements, the choicest lots at give-away prices. Florida, like the stock market, will stage a come-back, though the former is likely to move first.

NEGROES appear to be gradually moving towards higher standards of living. Compared with a quarter of a century ago they have made noticeable progress, taking the race as a whole.

Air Brake-Bendix Form New Company

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

EXPANSION of the automotive brake business of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company is expected to result from the affiliation with the General Motors Corporation secured through the formation of the Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Brake Company.

The new company is to be owned jointly by the Westinghouse Air Brake Company and the Bendix Aviation Corporation. The General Motors Corporation has a substantial interest in Bendix Aviation.

The new company will take over the operation of the automotive brake division of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company. It will continue to supply equipment for buses, trucks and other types of automotive vehicles.

To Manufacture Here

THE production of automotive air brakes for the new company will be continued by the Westinghouse organization here. Use of the engineering and service departments of both Bendix and Westinghouse will materially aid the organization in its operations.

Bendix Aviation Corporation, through a subsidiary, the Bendix Corporation, owns more than 500 patents covering the manufacture of all types of automotive brakes. It supplies four-wheel brake equipment for a large share of the cars made by General Motors. It also makes the Bendix drive.

The transaction announced yesterday places in the hands of a single organization the patents and production of both manual and air brakes for every type of vehicle. It gives the Westinghouse products a greatly expanded market in General Motors trucks and buses.

Vacuum Brake Patents

RECENTLY Bendix Aviation announced that it had purchased the Bragg, Kliesrath Corporation. This organization makes vacuum booster brakes for automobiles. Westinghouse Air Brake over a year ago started the manufacture of a similar brake but discontinued production due to a patent dispute with Bragg, Kliesrath. The formation of the Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Brake Company effectively disposes of this difficulty over patents.

The vacuum brakes make use of the vacuum created in the intake manifold of an automobile to apply braking pressure. The brake is operated by a foot pedal which applies part of the braking force and eliminates danger from the possibility of a stalled engine.

Used on Pleasure Cars

THE vacuum brakes are suitable for use on pleasure automobiles for which the heavier automotive air brakes are not satisfactory. Under such managements as those which are combined in Bendix and Westinghouse with a General Motors affiliation the fullest development of the product can be expected.

The management of the new Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Brake Company will be drawn from the organizations which control it. Vincent Bendix, president of Bendix Aviation, will be president. S. G. Down, vice president of Westinghouse Air Brake, will be vice president. W. J. Buettner, treasurer of Bendix Aviation, will be treasurer. The directors, in addition to Mr. Bendix and Mr. Down, will be A. L. Humphrey, president of Westinghouse Air Brake, John P. Mahoney, vice president of the Bendix Brake division of Bendix Aviation and Victor W. Kliesrath, vice president of the Bragg, Kliesrath division of Bendix Aviation.

GAIN FORECAST BY CAMPBELL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 27.—James A. Campbell, chairman of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, in his annual statement to shareholders, advises that business is now much better than was anticipated last October, and he looks for continued improvement.

Assets increased $14,000,000 last year to $235,740,720. The company spent $22,900,000 for plant improvements, in addition to a maintenance charge of $9,972,336. Net earnings in 1929, as previously reported, were $21,564,174, after all charges, depreciations and taxes, but before preferred dividends. Funded debt of the company was reduced $1,500,000 during the past year and is now $72,000,000.

Campbell states that favorable earnings in 1929 were due to continuous high operating rates the first 10 months and to improvements installed in recent years, reducing costs.

During the year Sheet and Tube deducted $3,584,644 from surplus account, for abandonment of certain outlying properties acquired from Steel and Tubes, Inc., including the Zanesville tube plant.

New construction this year will include expansion of seamless tube mills and construction of continuous sheet mills at the Brier Hill works, which it is expected will materially increase the income from this property. Company increased its working capital at end of the year to $7,893,139 from $72,684,000 a year previous, and shows current assets in ratio of nearly 6½ to one, to current liabilities.

VALLEY MILLS SLOW UP

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 27.—New business coming to Valley steel mills has fallen off the past 10 days, producing a moderate recession in production, with some consequent irregularity in employment. In steel plants and rolling mills there has been a slackening but makers anticipated such a development, which they expect to be temporary.

It is felt here that tonnages will be received in renewed volume in March, permitting the companies to operate at still higher rates than in February.

This month has been decidedly better than was generally anticipated at the first of the year, and producers have been able to operate at an average rate of 75 per cent. Some departments, such as strip and sheet mills, have at times averaged up to 80 per cent. Compared with the depression in November and January, the February record is pleasing to the producing industry.

Much of the stimulus to the steel trade in this area comes from the automobile trade though miscellaneous buying by other sources has been a contributing factor to improved conditions.

P. R. R. Car Loadings Decline for Week

Sun Life's Stock Investments Meet Test

High grade common stocks as a basis of investment for insurance companies has been proved to be adequately safe and much more profitable than bonds and mortgages, said J. S. Ireland, superintendent of agencies of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, at the annual banquet of the Pittsburgh branch in the William Penn Hotel last night.

The Sun Life has about 50 per cent of its assets invested in common stocks, which at the time the market was at its lowest in November, 1929, had a market value of $35,000,000 above the purchase price. The earnings of the corporations whose stocks are held aggregated $2,500,000 more in 1929 than in any previous year.

Mr. Ireland stated that the interest return to the Sun Life on its investments for 1929 was 7.02 per cent.

MOTION PICTURE OUTLOOK

Standard Statistics Company, in a survey of the motion picture industry, finds that the largest aggregate business ever experienced by the industry may be expected during 1930 and that total income for the year will "be entirely comparable with that of the past year." It adds, however, that rising costs incident to the use of color and other media in production will cut into profit margins.

SEES STEEL IMPROVEMENT

James J. Campbell said the steel business is much better at present than was anticipated following the stock market crash. He also said to the stockholders of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company at the annual meeting that he believes business will continue to improve.

Reduction in Call Rate And Further Recovery In Wheat Boost Shares

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP.)—Stock prices rallied sharply again today in response to a further recovery in wheat prices and a lowering of the call money rate from 4½ to 4 per cent. More than a score issues, including several amusement, dairy, business machine, public utility and motor accessory shares moved into new high ground for the year. Gains of 1 to 3 points were distributed over a fairly broad list with a sprinkling of issues marked up 4 to 7 points.

Prices headed upward from the opening of the market, the rally gathering momentum as trading progressed. Several of the speculative favorites were taken in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares by pools but the public was still rather slow in coming back into this market in large numbers. A few seasoned dividend paying stocks, current yields of which are attractive, were brought by investment interests.

SCALE SELLING SEEN

"Bear" traders apparently made no concerted efforts to hammer individual stocks, although brokers reported that some issues showed indications of scale selling on the part of these interests. Kroger Stores dropped 1¾ to a new low for the year at 37¼. Industrial Rayon fell 6 points, Safeway Stores 2¾, and Johns-Manville and Atlantic Gulf & West Indies 1½ each.

U. S. Steel common made up the dividend of $1.75 a share which came off the stock today. J. I. Case ran up 7 points, Beatrice Creamery 6 to a new high at 79, Auburn Auto 5 and DuPont, Electric Auto Lite, Brunswick-Balke-Collender and Eastman Kodak sold 4 or more points higher.

REACH 1930 PEAKS

American Bank Note, Westinghouse Electric, American International, Associated Dry Goods, Underwood-Elliott-Fisher, Warner Bros. Pictures common and preferred, Loew's, Paramount-Famous-Lasky, Borden, Radio Corporation, North American, Remington Rand, Marlin-Rockwell, Sparks Withington, Indian Motorcycle and Lambert were among the many issues that broke into new high ground for the year.

There was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. Several industrial and public utilities reported favorably 1929 earnings, but some of the January statements of the railroads now being published make very unfavorable comparison with the corresponding month of last year.

Traders began to take profits in the last hour. Signs of weakness appeared in several leaders, notably American Can and Simmons. Recessions from the day's highest ranged from 1 to 3 points, with U. S. Steel and Westinghouse Electric among those freely offered. Norfolk and Western declined 7 points. The close was steady. Sales approximated 2,950,000 shares.

Fox Film Hearing Again Postponed

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Efforts are being made to reconcile conflicting banking groups interested in reorganization of Fox Film Corporation and conversations are now under way with a view to settling the differences.

This explains why arguments will not be heard today on the order signed by Supreme Court Justice Bijur to show cause why an injunction should not be granted to prevent voting trustees representing Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Western Electric Company from voting the class B stock held in escrow.

Consolidated shipments of Baldwin and affiliated companies in February will amount to approximately $3,700,000, about the same as in January.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(AP.)—Indications that the Wheat Stabilization Corporation was again purchasing future delivery contracts had much to do with brisk new advances in wheat prices early today. Traders flocked to the buying side of the market and were given further encouragement through higher quotations at Liverpool and as a result of confirmation of previous large future delivery purchases on the part of government sponsored agencies. Opening ⅛c to 1⅛c up, Chicago wheat futures scored material further gains and then fluctuated rapidly. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, with corn starting unchanged to ½c higher and subsequently rising all around.

With heavy new buying today of wheat futures here being credited to Federal Farm Board allies the market took strong upward swings. The direct open entrance of such powerful influences into the trading in futures was generally regarded as tending to restore at least temporarily confidence in higher prices and to restrict sellers who believed values too high based on world conditions. An additional stimulating factor was talk current that the forthcoming official report on farm reserves of domestic wheat will show the total to be less than was the case a year ago.

From time to time today renewals of concentrated buying ascribed to semi-official sources kept the wheat futures market moving irregularly upward. Some of the buying from other sources was of a stop-loss character. Export demand for North American wheat appeared to be somewhat enlarged, and overnight transactions were said to total 1,000,000 bushels, largely Canadian wheat.

Sugar Market.

Raw futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower but soon showed net losses of 2 to 4 points. ## Stock Exchange Topics

American International Heavily Bought on 1929 Showing

AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL was heavily bought on the splendid showing of its 1929 report which revealed operating profits of $9,039,033, equivalent to $8.86 a share on 1,019,757 shares outstanding at the end of the year, as against $3,060,839 in 1928 or the equivalent to $3.12 a share on the same basis of capitalization. After payment of dividends the company added $7,059,262 to profit and loss surplus. The corporation set up an additional $4,100,000 for reserve for its security holdings out of the foregoing surplus so that profit and loss surplus at the end of the year aggregated $16,902,631, as against $14,408,000 at the end of 1928. $8,264,747 of the corporations total earnings being the result of profits realized from the sale of securities.

Covering in of short commitments by traders who had hesitated to join the retreat earlier provided the buying power which gave the market much of its forward momentum today. Trading of late has been very largely in the hands of the professional element, the public, generally speaking, holding doggedly to the sidelines. The action of the market since the plunge in wheat was arrested on Tuesday has indicated its professional character quite vividly. Volume, it is true, has tapered off when selling has been in progress; yet, on the other hand, trading has not grown tremendously with the turn-about in the trend of prices. Stubborn shorts continued to find the market going against them in most directions today, and were moved to cover rather urgently in many of the leaders.

THOUGH the Bank of England maintained its bank rate unchanged at 4½ per cent today, the strength of its position as revealed in the weekly condition statement is accepted as indicating that the London institution will adopt a lower rate in the near future. It is expected, however, that such action will be preceded by a cut in the Reichsbank rate which would tend to check Germany's absorption of gold at London. The British bank's ratio of reserves to liabilities is now up to 65.8 per cent, the highest since long before the war and compares with a ratio of 54.7 per cent this time last year when the current bank rate was in force.

Overnight announcement of the formation of a new subsidiary to be owned jointly by the Westinghouse Airbrake Company and Bendix Aviation turned a fair measure of speculative interest toward the shares of those two companies today. Westinghouse was a strong feature in the afternoon, responding to a burst of heavy buying which carried it up some 3 points to new high ground for the year. The purpose of the new company, it is understood, is to bring the products of the two controlling organizations into closer affiliation with the automotive and aviation industries. Its effort evidently will be spent toward increasing the popularity of airbraking equipment in those lines.

WALL STREET is of the opinion that the stockholders of American Telephone and Telegraph will perhaps in the near future receive the opportunity of subscribing for additional stock on the usual attractive terms. It is pointed out that every second year since 1922 the company has made such an offering to acquire new capital necessary to its expansion. Last year the company sold some $219,000,000 convertible debentures, which if converted into stock this year would bring the company some $173,000,000 in new money. Last month marked a total of $150,000,000 investment type bonds without convertible or other features. But the company's 1930 program calls for an outlay of some $700,000,000, which would leave an indicated balance of about $375,000,000 to be provided for.

Winding up of Airstocks, Inc., which has been dissolved with the announcement of a liquidating dividend of $47.17 a share, would seem to mean that stockholders who averaged their stock through purchases on the two offerings made by the company get out with about an even break. The company sold one block of 50,000 shares of stock at $42 a share back in March of last year, and later marketed another block of 50,000 shares at $53 a share. Thus if shareholders participated proportionately in both offerings, the cost of their stock averaged them about $47.50 a share, which the liquidating dividend covers by all but a few cents.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 3 to 10 points today under a renewal of near-month liquidation which was evidently incident to the circulation of March notices estimated about 15,000 bales. March sold off to 15.90 under the pressure of the early offerings, or 15 points net lower, but otherwise there was not much selling, and after showing net declines of about 5 to 15 points the market steadied on trade buying and covering.

By the end of the first half hour prices were within 3 or 4 points of yesterday's closing quotations. Business in new contracts for October, December and January delivery began this morning. There was fair trading in these positions at prices ranging from 20 to 25 points below quotations for the old contracts. The old October, for instance, was selling around 15.70c at the opening, compared with 15.50c for the new.

Liverpool made a fairly steady showing. Private cables said Bombay selling had been absorbed by covering and trade calling in that market.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 27.—Cotton spot quiet, prices lower. American strict good middling, 9.25d; good middling, 9.00d; strict middling, 8.85d; middling, 8.70d; strict low middling, 8.55d; low middling, 7.85d; strict good ordinary, 7.60d; good ordinary, 6.80d. Sales, 4,000 bales, including 2,400 American. Receipts, 1,000 bales, American nil. Futures closed steady: March, 8.11d; May, 8.18d; July, 8.25d; October, 8.33d; December, 8.39d; January, 8.42d.

Pere Marquette Seeks Bond Issue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Pere Marquette Railway has asked Interstate Commerce Commission authority to issue and sell $14,000,000 of its 50-year 4 per cent first mortgage bonds, dated March 1, 1930. The issue is in lieu of and cancels a similar amount of 5 per cent first mortgage gold bonds which have been nominally issued and held in the road's treasury. No arrangements have been made for sale of the bonds.

Electricity Output Shows 11% Gain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Total production of electricity by public utility power plants in the United States in 1929 amounted to 97,294,000,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of nearly 11 per cent over the output in 1928, according to preliminary figures compiled by the geological survey, Department of Interior.

COLONEL BALKS AT AUTOPSY

HONOLULU, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The filing of an injunction suit by Col. Granville Sevier in an effort to prevent performance of an autopsy on the body of his wife, the former Marion Shainwald, Irvington, N. Y., heiress, was anticipated here today.

Further court action in the controversy over reopening the investigation into Mrs. Sevier's death was foreshadowed yesterday when Col. Sevier withdrew permission previously granted Sheriff Patrick Gleason, ex-officio coroner, to disinter the body and hold an autopsy. Sevier notified Gleason he would be held responsible for damages if he disinterred the body.

Informed that Sheriff Gleason would go ahead with the disinterment, attorneys for the Colonel announced they would start injunction proceedings.

Mrs. Sevier died in 1928, apparently of natural causes. She left her $7,000,000 estate to Col. Sevier. Ralph Shainwald, brother of Mrs. Sevier, recently requested that a second autopsy be performed.

In withdrawing permission for a new autopsy Col. Sevier said his action was based on Gleason's determination to permit Shainwald to view the body.

TEACHER FIRED AFTER STRIKE

MANILA, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Miss Mabel Brummitt, American teacher and center of a controversy, which resulted in a strike of more than 2,700 high school students here February 19, was dismissed today from the public school service. Four students who led the strike were expelled.

The dismissal and expulsions were announced by Dr. Luther Bewley, director of education. Another strike is threatened as the result of the expulsions.

The striking students, representing nearly the entire enrollment of Manila North High School, walked out saying that Miss Brummitt "time and again has branded Filipinos as savages, imbeciles, idiots and contemptible cads."

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG FOUR SHOP

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—(INS)—A spectacular fire which destroyed the huge paint shop of the Big Four Railroad at Beech Grove was brought under control after a hard fight today.

Beech Grove and Indianapolis firemen battled the flames for hours and succeeded in confining them to one building.

The origin of the fire has not yet been determined. It broke out in the stock of paints and was discovered by a night watchman.

Benjamin Orr, superintendent of the Big Four car department, estimated the loss at $1,500,000.

"Hazel May suffered from constipation," says Mrs. M. Hopkins, 7050 Ruskin Lane, Philadelphia. "She was sallow and bilious, didn't have any appetite, couldn't digest her food.

"California Fig Syrup has changed all that. It regulated her bowels quickly, improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends says she's a regular prize-winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, headachy, constipated children lasts because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Next time bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness warn of constipation, try it with your child and see how it helps!

When buying, look for the name 'California.' That marks the genuine, famous for 50 years.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

GUARD GUNMAN AFTER BATTLE

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(INS)—A score of police men, including a detective bureau squad, today guarded Frank McErlane, veteran gang leader, who is trying to recover from three bullet wounds inflicted by rival gangsters in a spectacular hospital battle.

McErlane, tossing on his sickbed at his parents' home, is reported to be in serious condition today. His temperature is 103 and the wounds will probably leave him crippled should he recover, police were told.

"I can take care of myself," McErlane protested to the police guard. But the police do not wish to have him "protecting himself" by shooting at strange visitors.

Police believe that a jilted woman was responsible for the fierce gun battle fought around McErlane's bed in German Deaconess Hospital as the gang leader emptied two guns at his would-be murderers.

Marion Miller, alleged former sweetheart of the gunman, is under arrest and police charge that she engaged the gunmen who entered McErlane's hospital room. The girl, formerly of St. Louis, admitted quarreling with McErlane.

YOUTH FACING MACHINERY AGE

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 27.—(INS)—With a program featured by an address by James E. West, chief scout executive of the national council, Boy Scouts of America, the annual convention of the National Educational Association was to end today.

Other speakers include Walter A. Jessup, president of the University of Iowa and Mrs. Louis T. Devaliere, Trenton, N. J., vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

America must develop training that will season but still keep plastic the minds of its youth, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, told members of the department of superintendents of the association. He warned them failure to do so exposes the country to the fate of breaking on the wheel of a civilization dominated by the machine and science.

He declared that if Americans continue to surround themselves with "more iron and concrete instead of trees and flowers and open spaces, we may become mere menagerie animals."

TAKE LICENSE FROM CAPTAIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Fed. 27.—(AP.)—The license of Captain Charles C. Graham, master of the coastal liner Admiral Benson, which grounded on Peacock Spit near the mouth of the Columbia River February 15, has been suspended for six months by United States steamboat inspectors. They accepted from the captain a plea of guilty to a charge of negligence.

Testifying before the board, the captain said the grounding resulted from "misjudgment."

Janet Gaynor Off Alone as Farrell Quits Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Janet Gaynor, film star, was en route to Honolulu today and her partner of the films, Charles Farrell, was still here, although he had planned on going to Hawaii on the same boat.

Without knowing of each other's plans, both had booked passage on the Maui. Rather than cause gossip, Farrell, who was already aboard ship, decided to forego the trip to Honolulu at this time.

"Mr. Farrell and I had not the slightest intention of booking passage on the same boat," said Miss Gaynor, who also indignantly denied that she and her husband, Lydell Peck, had separated. "He could not leave his work, so I decided to take the trip between pictures."

PRINCESS PLANS SUIT IN MONACO

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Feb. 27.—(INS.)—The domestic difficulties of Princess Charlotte and her husband, Prince Pierre, probably will be aired on Monacan soil after all, it was learned today.

The decision of Princess Charlotte to sue for separation in Monaco followed a family council, during which Prince Charles, father of Charlotte and Prince Regent of Monaco, unsuccessfully attempted to reconcile the couple.

WILKINS SELLS POLE PLANES

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27.—(Universal)—Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, commander of the Hearst-Wilkins Antarctic expedition, has sold the expedition's two airplanes, the Los Angeles and San Francisco, to the Argentine government.

Sir Hubert returned to civilization last Saturday after months of exploration in the Antarctic, operating from a base on Deception Island.

The Los Angeles, used on several long flights from his base ship, the William Scoresby, was also the plane in which Sir Hubert and the late Carl Ben Eielson made their historic flight from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen.

Prisoners Eat Taxes Out in Jail

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 27.—Charged with failure to pay borough and school taxes for a period of six years, Archie Sims, 58, of Charleroi, is in the county jail. Sims is the second man to be incarcerated on such a charge.

The taxes due the borough will soon be eaten up, as the county charges the borough 50 cents a day for each prisoner.

False Fire Alarms Endanger Public

City fire alarm operators voiced their complaints of the large number of false alarms turned in since the first of the year. This month alone fire fighters answered more than a score of false alarms on the South Side, Allentown, Beltzhoover and Mt. Washington.

The firemen not only endanger their own lives, but the public at large, the operators said. Firemen responded to four false alarms last night, and one this morning. Two weeks ago a man was caught pulling a fire box in that section, and was fined $50.

U.S. DISCIPLINES 400 FLIERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Determined to increase the safety of aeronautical transportation, the Commerce Department disciplined more than 400 airplane pilots last year, it was announced today.

Licenses of 16 pilots were revoked, 110 suspended, and 163 pilots reprimanded for a wide range of offenses against the air commerce act. A total of 523 violations of the law were investigated, fines of $4,755 having been assessed in 179 cases. Fifty-five complaints were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Offenses included unauthorized acrobatics, low flying, flying without navigation lights and numbers, and operation of planes by unlicensed pilots.

In nearly 60 per cent of all accidents reported last year it developed that personnel was responsible. Official figures for the first six months attributed 18 per cent of the accidents to engine failures; over eight per cent to structural failures in planes; nine per cent to miscellaneous causes including weather, darkness and airport terrain, and the remainder to undetermined causes.

READJUSTMENT NOT CHANGE IN VIEWPOINT

Seen Only as Attempt To Bring Speculation, Trade Closer in Line

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The country has been looking to the stock market for a hint as to the future course of business.

The advance in stock prices from late in December through the early part of February registered restrained optimism concerning business revival. Does the subsequent corrective readjustment indicate a major change of viewpoint regarding business? It would be illogical to think so. It represents little more than a speculative readjustment and also constitutes an attempt to bring speculation and business closer in line. Except for the general weakness in commodity prices, which is a serious matter, there has been no significant change apparent in the underlying business situation.

Frank W. Blair, president of the Union Trust Company, Detroit, who is an able listening post in the Middle West, says in a message to this column:

"Business in Detroit at the moment shows a very satisfactory recovery from the low points of November and December last year. Automobile manufacturers though operating at a lower rate than last year are maintaining schedules well above 1927 and 1928. Employment is increasing and has been for several weeks.

TRADE DECLINES

"Retail trade in most lines has dropped off some from a year ago but the severe weather this winter has made it possible for dealers in winter goods to move their stocks rather completely. Volume of forward booking of spring goods from wholesalers is, I am told, good. In the building situation with the coming of warm weather improvement is expected.

"I believe we may expect the improvement registered so far this year to continue. We have had a few days of very pleasant weather and this should also make for greater optimism."

The security and commodity markets in the long run follow economic law and the promises and gestures of politicians make little difference.

Independent statistical studies indicate that neither majority political party in the United States has a monopoly of prosperity. The business record of recent months fails to fulfill intimations to the contrary by the party in power at the last presidential election.

The acute weakness in grains and cotton has led to a widespread attempt in the business community to challenge the theory behind the Federal Farm Board. Perhaps this is an inauspicious time to judge the usefulness of the board, for it is likely that the cycle of price fluctuations has not yet been completed.

OBJECTIVE REVERSED

The evidence at hand, however, is inimical to the notion of Fiat prosperity, prosperity visualized and handed down by politicians. The major objective of the Farm Board has been to boost prices. And the very reverse has taken place. There is no indication even that the board mitigated the severity of the decline. On the contrary, some observers contend that the board aggravated the decline by discouraging short selling which would have tended to support the markets during the recent interludes of great weakness.

Jesse E. Pope, Washington economist, thinks that the attempts of Congress and the Federal Farm Board to curtail speculation in commodities has been unfortunate.

"The marketing of the world's staple crops," he points out in the Atlantic Monthly, "is carried on through the futures exchanges. These exchanges are a product of evolution. At first only a few staple crops were listed, but each year has brought additions until now the list numbers 25, nearly all of which are products of the farm. The chief function of the futures exchange is to afford the machinery wherewith the dealers or merchant may shift the risks of unfavorable price fluctuations to the speculator, and out of this function there has developed another of scarcely less importance, namely, the reflecting of price movements.

MUST KNOW INTENTIONS

"It is the business of the speculator not only to determine the intentions of buyers and sellers in the regions covered by the market, but to weigh all the factors affecting prices during the crop year. In this way prices are prevented from being unduly depressed by heavy supplies or unduly depressed by scanty offerings, and the after-harvest feast and subsequent famine are thus eliminated.

"This view, however, the Farm Board does not accept. In its eyes these exchanges, as they function today, are a menace to the well-being of the farmer."

Referring to the policy of generous lending by which the Farm Board encourages farmers to hold crops from the market when prices seem unattractive, Mr. Pope adds:

"The generous lending policy of the board will undoubtedly encourage holding, and cash prices will be forced above normal levels. It goes without saying that the acreage will be stimulated and that the prospect of next year's increased production will be hanging over the market and will join the unmarketed surplus in depressing the end-of-the-season prices below normal levels unless the unexpected happens—stimulation of the demand by war or depletion of the supply by crop failure. Barring such developments, prices will fall materially below the amount advanced by the board (since Mr. Pope wrote, this decline has taken place) and the pressure to carry the surplus over to the next crop year will be irresistible."

Fiat prosperity is a will o' the wisp. Real prosperity depends on work, intelligent planning and sagacious attempts to keep supply attuned to demand.

PIPE LINE SALE TO GAS FIRMS OPPOSED

Oil System Transfer Fought By Artificial Fuel Makers At Public Service Hearing

Standard Oil Company pipe lines worth millions, being sold to natural gas companies to give the latter entrance to eastern cities not now served, threaten the existence of many gas manufacturing concerns, it was indicated here yesterday before the Public Service Commission.

Attorney S. B. Zimmerman of Lancaster, who appeared before Commissioner S. Ray Shelby to protest against the sale of facilities of the Southern Pipe Line Company to the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, laid the case opposing the sale before the commission. He said the light and heat company, a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas and Electric Company, is reaching out to supply many cities and territories now supplied by manufactured-gas concerns and that in his opinion some big doings are on.

ASKS SHOWDOWN

Attorney Zimmerman, who represents a half dozen independent gas companies in the Lancaster district, desired to have the commission indicate the status of the gas companies purchasing oil lines so that these would not be used later to transport gas to the territory of the companies he represents.

He said the purchase of oil lines giving the gas companies pipe line facilities to the East threatens many eastern manufactured-gas companies. He asserts the scheme has ramifications of far-reaching importance.

R. N. Hull, vice president of the Lancaster Gas Light and Fuel Company, with 15,000 consumers and a revenue of $645,000 last year, and the Columbia Gas Company of Columbia, with 2,100 customers and an annual revenue of $75,000, and numerous other concerns appeared to protest before Commissioner Shelby.

The rulings which Mr. Zimmerman attempted to obtain here were a subject for action by the entire commission, it was ruled by Commissioner Shelby.

CITES CHARTER

Mr. Zimmerman told Commissioner Shelby the charter rights of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company do not give the company permission to use oil lines. He argued the company's charter has not been amended to enable it to use the Southern Pipe Line Company's lines and other property bought to transport gas.

Zimmerman claims that when the time is ripe the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company probably will tell the commission it has these properties at the cost of millions and cannot use them to the best advantage unless given permission to transport gas and force the right to use them for that purpose.

Manufactured gas commands a much higher rate than natural gas, selling at $1.25 per 1,000 cubic feet in the East against 60 cents net for natural gas in this section. The Manufacturers company and the holding concern, the Columbia Gas Company, which are aligned with a $600,000,000 corporation and also transport manufactured gas, have far-reaching ramifications in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia and are said to be unquestionably "reaching out for big game" in New York and the New England states. Numerous small gas companies have been bought up throughout the Western Pennsylvania district in the last few years.

Liberty Mutual Assets Increase

The Liberty Mutual Insurance Company's assets increased $2,471,496 to $21,922,813 during 1929. During the past year the surplus increased $510,915 and now amounts to $3,552,373, an increase of 126 per cent in five years. # Newton Steel Co. Starts New Mill

MONROE, Feb. 27.—Newton Steel Company's new $8,000,000 sheet mill plant has started operations with 800 workers on the payroll. Opening of the plant marks what is believed to be the beginning of the definite realignment of the steel industry in the Detroit-Toledo industrial area. Newton Steel plans to spend $60,000,000 more on plant construction in this area during the next nine years, and options are held on other acreage by other large steel concerns.

Eventually Newton Steel plans to manufacture steel from raw iron at its new plant, but for the present it is using semi-finished steel in manufacturing steel for automobile bodies.

New plant is situated at the mouth of the River Raisin on 600 acres of what was swamp land when construction was begun 11 months ago. Lake Erie has been dredged 5,700 feet and the River Raisin has been dredged 8,000 feet to allow passage of the largest Great Lakes freighters. Billets will be shipped from Duluth and coal will be brought aboard freighters from Erie, Pa.

GAIN SHOWN BY STEEL HOOP

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 27.—President Severn P. Ker of the Sharon Steel Hoop Company advises that earnings in 1929 were $370,000 greater than in 1928. Net profits totalled $1,321,486 after all charges, including preferred dividends, and are equivalent to $3.52 per share on 375,000 shares of outstanding common stock. Earnings compare with $971,853 in 1928.

Production during first nine months of the year was at a record rate, states President Ker, but was unsatisfactory in the last quarter. During 1929 the company produced 422,032 gross tons of ingots and shipped 387,312 net tons of finished steel at a value of $22,941,567.

Republic Steel Plan Operative

Sufficient percentages of stock of constituent companies have been deposited to make possible the consummation of the plan for the New Republic Steel Corporation. The committee having the consolidation in charge will meet Monday or Tuesday to take action in connection with declaring the plan operative.

GOODYEAR PLAN POINTS TO MERGER

Management's Desire to Boost Capital Seen As Unification Move

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—While management of Goodyear Tire Rubber Company is not ready to make known purpose for which it desires an increase in company's authorized capitalization, proposal to ask for ratification at March 31 annual meeting of an increase in authorized common stock from 1,450,0000 shares to 5,000,000 shares can be looked upon as a step toward acquisition of other rubber goods manufacturing concerns, according to interests close to company.

It is known that as long ago as 1928 one of largest Goodyear stockholders attempted to further negotiations looking to a consolidation of Goodyear with United States Rubber Company.

STUMBLING BLOCK

Largely because of unsettled conditions which have characterized rubber industry in recent years, plans for such a merger never reached a serious stage. Another factor which nullified these plans was acquisition by DuPont interests of control of United States Rubber.

Possibility of a consolidation of Goodyear and United States Rubber appears rather remote. Probably first acquisition which Goodyear will attempt will be that of Seiberling Rubber Company, which was organized by Frank Seiberling, former head of Goodyear, following Mr. Seiberling's retirement from Goodyear when the company got into difficulties and was reorganized in 1921.

OTHER POSSIBILITY

Mr. Seiberling is a substantial shareholder in Goodyear and the holdings of a number of his friends are believed sufficient to give them voting control of the company.

Another possibility for use of increased common stock might present itself later in shape of a plan for reducing funded debt through sale of additional common stock. Goodyear has outstanding something over $58,000,000 of 5 per cent collateral trust bonds due in 1957 in addition to approximately $11,500,000 of funded debt represented by note and bond issues of subsidiary companies.

NEW COAL UNIT FORMED

The companies will continue to produce as separate operations but will close their individual sales offices.

The five companies with a total production of 7,500,000 tons annually are Continental Coal Company, Henderson Coal Company, Chartiers Creek Coal Company, Duquesne Coal and Coke Company and Superior Mining Company.

L. H. Kelly, vice president in charge of sales of the Continental Coal Company, will head the sales department of the consolidated companies and C. W. Bushman, general sales manager of Continental Coal, will continue as general sales manager.

The merger will provide a tonnage that will rank with that of Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation and Hillman Coal and Coke Company and second only to that of Pittsburgh Coal Company.

Amn. Shipbuilding Plans Capital Change

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—A plan which is to be submitted to a vote of the stockholders of the American Shipbuilding Company at a special meeting called for March 26, 1930, proposes the conversion of the present authorized common stock, having a par value of $100 per share, into an equal number of no par shares having a stated value of $60 per share. The present outstanding common stock is to be exchange share for share of the new no par common shares and $40 per share in cash. The plan also proposes that the authorized number of no par common shares shall be increased to 230,000.

It is thus proposed to reduce the stated capital of the company represented by common stock outstanding from the present figure of $14,714,400 to $8,828,640. The company will still have net current and working assets of over $5,000,000 which is believed to be ample for all present requirements.

Continental Oil Earns $1.90 Share

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Continental Oil Company reports for year ended December 31, including subsidiaries, net profit was $9,028,660 after interest, depreciation, depletion, intangible drilling costs, canceled leases, minority interests, etc., equal to $1.90 a share on 4,743,103 no par shares of capital stock to be outstanding when all Continental Oil of Maine shares have been exchanged. This compares with net loss of $4,987,564 in 1928.

"Probab[illegible] same poor [illegible] existed [illegible]

"The [illegible] St-art."

Sid was looking in an office record book.

"His [illegible] Our young lady spells it 'Stewart.' Yours is 'Stuart,' so there you are!"

"Where am I? What's the odds? What do I [illegible] to this Miss Anne Stewart and how much do I pay her?"

"Te[illegible] are [illegible] ashamed of your ancestors [illegible] the rest, and we'll send the bill," Gil was advised.

He took Gil down to a rather large room lined with books of ancient bindings. Several people were working there. Miss Anne Stewart was at work in a little glassed-in office. She was in charge of the department.

"Miss Stewart," said Sid, "this is Mr. Stuart," he then spelled it "S-T-U-A-R-T." He wants to find out about his coat of arms."

"I say, Miss Stewart, I don't give a hoot about it. My mother wants to know about it and as she's a corking fine mother it's up to me to help her."

Miss Stewart smiled.

One forgot all about genealogy when she looked like that. She seemed quite young, too.

"I leave him to your mercies, Miss Stewart," Sid said, and to Gil: "Drop in on your way out, Gil. We'll go to the club for a bite of lunch, etcetera."

"If I get time," Gil promised.

Money in Family

"Wouldn't it be great, er, a coincidence, if we turned out to be relatives, Miss Stewart," Gil said.

"Biology is never coincidence, Mr. Stuart. Which branch is your family? Is there a Polish strain?"

"Now you've got me," he said, and he told her about the 1670 ancestor with the ax and flintlock.

He was thinking that he'd find many excuses to bring things to her. She was a corker.

Then Gil explained about his mother. There'd been quite a lot of money in the family. He belonged to the Order of the Cincinnati to please his mother. At this time Gil had a more brilliant idea.

"Look here, Miss Stewart, suppose you come home with me? No need for me to paddle back and forth with books and papers. You can dig into them at our home and then if you get a line you can stop off here and see what some of these musty old tomes say about us." He made a wide gesture taking in the [illegible] on the walls.

Miss Anne Stewart looked positively [illegible] when she climbed into Gil's car. No one on earth would have guessed that she was 21 and possessed of several college degrees. She looked more like 16 and just entering some finishing school.

As a matter of fact Gil Stuart impressed her more than all else. He seemed to be genuine, real—quite human, but lovably decent! So many wea[illegible] chaps tried to date her up [illegible]er five [illegible]

Gil was [illegible] Anne didn't have [illegible] her education. She could talk about anything: sports, games, plays [illegible] and wasn't beneath little jokes and silly but decent parlor stories.

She was very human and very beautiful. She danced well. She enjoyed the cocktail with dinner.

"Look here, Anne," said Gil, "I'm twenty-seven and have enough to live on in my own right. Mother has high notions, and may be silly enough to protest because you are a working girl, but—well, you see?"

"Not quite," said Anne.

"But I want to marry you, darling."

"Don't make fun of me. I love you."

"After the girl has finished I shall tell her it is out of the question. Naturally she wants you, your name and money."

"Mater, her name's mighty like mine now. Well, we won't cross that bridge until we get to it."

Mother Determined

Gil's mother was determined right then and there that her son should never marry the little genealogist girl, Anne Stewart. Gil told Anne that his mother made a fuss.

"Hate to hurt her feelings, but them wedding bells shall ring out, sweetness," Gil declared.

"They shall, and I don't think your mother will worry very much."

Soon after this Gil hung around the home library at Anne's wish. Mrs. Stuart came in when Anne sent a maid for her. Anne produced a handsome coat of arms from a folio that she made in all [illegible]: a shield argent with a parts per bend, a diagonal stripe across. In the upper was a thistle, in the lower a stag trippant, or trotting.

"I knew it. I knew we were entitled to a royal coat of arms, and how much do I owe?"

"Just a moment, Mrs. Stuart," said Anne. "I'm going to hurt you a little and I love you heaps."

She produced another shield. It was vert like the green sea, with a white pearl: per fesse, or horizontal dividing line, and above and below a fish naiant.

"You may not believe me, Mrs. Stuart," said Anne softly, "but the royal coat of arms is mine. Have any expert investigate for you. The 'two herring naiant' is your coat of arms."

"I won't believe—"

"We all started with a common progenitor, Alan, who became dapifer or steward in a household. My branch rose from steward to royalty. Your branch remained stewards. The old Pretender gave your ancestors this herring coat of arms because he was a capable cook and steward."

"It is a silly scheme," said Mrs. Stuart weakly.

But it wasn't. It was quite true.

So Gil Stuart married Anne Stewart. Gil's mother never fails to show the royal coat of arms but she keeps well hidden her own "Two herring, naiant!"

YES FRIEND THIS CASE YOU EXPLAINED ABOUT BEING PRACTICALLY ROBBED OF A RELATIVE IS SURE PECULIAR. AH, I WAS A LAWYER BEFORE I GOT INTO THE HORSE-RADISH GAME.
HOW'S THE HORSE-RADISH GAME NOW, BUDDY?
NOT SO GOOD. IN FACT I'VE JUST ABOUT DECIDED TO GO BACK TO LAW. YOUR CASE LOOKS VERY ATTRACTIVE. YOU'VE BEEN HOOKED OUT OF THIS RELATIVE YOU PERSONALLY DISCOVERED. YOU'RE THE VICTIM OF UNDERHAND STUFF.
THAT'S EXACTLY THE WAY I LOOK AT IT. BUT SOME OF THE BEST LAWYERS IN TOWN SEEM TO THINK I CAN'T—
THEY'RE WRONG. I'M PROUD TO SAY I'VE ALWAYS DIFFERED WITH THE BIGBUG LAWYERS. ALWAYS. FOR TWO CENTS I'D TAKE YOUR CASE AND MAKE MONKEYS OUT OF THESE OTHER LAWYERS. MY NAME IS BELLOW. AND YOURS?

Public Fervently Hopes For Martin's Recovery

The community, especially numerous friends acquainted with the sterling quality of the man, will fervently hope for the recovery of Judge Richard W. Martin, who yesterday was reported as being seriously ill of pneumonia in his home.

"Critical" was the report regarding the condition of the jurist, who virtually was a martyr to duty, going to his bed from a court session which he had forced himself to attend.

Judge Martin's many labors in the last couple of years were a severe trial of strength. He was appointed to the bench in 1926 to fill a term expiring with the end of 1928. In that year he sought and won nomination for re-election, although he was not on the organization slate. With other judges he was successful as an independent and later he was elected.

Last fall he also waged another strong independent campaign, seeking the nomination for mayor, making a clean, vigorous and manly struggle in the face of strongly organized machine opposition.

Prior to his appointment to the bench Judge Martin served as member of the Public Service Commission. He was city solicitor of Pittsburgh, 1922 until 1925, when he was appointed to the Public Service Commission. Prior to that he had been county solicitor.

Make 'Through' Streets Work by Enforcement!

"Through traffic streets are now in operation. Stop before entering them. A stop must be a dead stop, not a change of gears. Watch for the flashing warning signs."

The purpose of through traffic streets is the speeding up of traffic. The purpose of the advertisement is to let motorists know they must co-operate and to warn them of danger to themselves and others if they do not.

Through traffic streets have worked out all right in other cities and they will work out the same way here, but the regulations must be observed if such streets are not to be dangerous at intersection. The good motorists, of course, will observe the rules. Others must be made to do so.

If the police make the drivers observe the "dead stop" requirement there will be no danger of accidents and there will be a speeding up of traffic.

Give the through traffic plan a chance to show its efficiency.

Kansas City Paper Warns About Perils of League

The Kansas City Star, in a fine editorial, "Ten Years of the League," reviews the reasons why it is fortunate we did not join the League of Nations and says:

When he submitted the League covenant to the peace conference in Paris, President Wilson declared: "ARMED FORCE IS IN THE BACKGROUND OF THIS PROGRAM. BUT IT IS IN THE BACKGROUND, AND IF THE MORAL FORCE OF THE WORLD WILL NOT SUFFICE, THE PHYSICAL FORCE OF THE WORLD SHALL."

The covenant is filled with provisions for the use of "Sanctions" (blockades) and joint land, sea and air forces. Among other things, the League's police powers were pledged to protect the boundaries of every member and to perpetuate the new frontiers established by the peace treaties, without reference to their justice. This whole arrangement was utterly repugnant to the American theory of avoiding military alliances and of basing peace upon enlightened opinion, rather than upon the threat of war.

Had this country joined the League under those conditions, America would have been untrue to its best national traditions. It might be argued that, as a member, we could have worked to change these provisions. But it is indisputable that, having never compromised with our principles even in appearance, we have compelled the League to hold its police powers in suspension.

The fact is that the first decade of the League's existence has shown how wise has been our decision not to join. Outside the League we have been a far more potent force for progress than ever we should have been inside. Our independence is a constant check upon any attempt to build the League into a super-state. The reasons that impelled us to stay out of the League years ago are still valid.

The Kansas City Star is right.

The reasons which impelled us to stay out of the League are precisely the ones that should impel us to stay out of the League's Court.

There is "ultimate force" back of decisions of the League Court. Like the political section of the League, the Court is preoccupied with European affairs, boundary questions, settlement of bitternesses left by the Versailles Peace Treaty—the sure breeder of future European wars. In the League's assembly, we should be outvoted 54 to 1, in the League's council 10 to 1, in the League's Court 10 to 1.

Why they want us in European organizations such as the League and the League Court is clearly indicated at the disarmament conference. There they have spent their time urging us to strip our Navy, join in putting "teeth" into the Kellogg pact, agreeing to participate in the League's blockades, and the like.

The Kansas City Star is right. We don't belong in the political department of the League—the assembly and council. We don't belong in the finance department of the League, the international bank. We don't belong in the legal department of the League, the League Court.

The Kansas City Star speaks for the people of the country when it says that the League and the League's works are none of our business and we shall join them at our peril.

MISS KATE

By Herbert Kaufman

THEY buried Kate Barnard yesterday and half the folk for whom she wore her doughty heart to shreds don't even know that Oklahoma paid final tribute to the woman who did more within her fifty eight years to correct the abuses of American prisons than any assorted dozen reform organizations.

"Miss Kate" was both Oklahoma's first Commissioner of Charities and Corrections, and the first woman to hold ANY elective office in the state.

But boundary lines couldn't contain that compact motor's benevolent energies. Her driving force was felt to the coasts, and wherever it contacted with brutal administration, sparks flew and heads fell.

SHE was as slight as a buggy whip in those days—ninety pounds at most—a mighty small package of WOMAN, but a tremendous batch of DYNAMITE.

At random glance, she seemed plain, insignificant and sallow; but, when in action, her amazing eyes—eyes of a zealot, of an evangelist—invested her face with an eager, challenging beauty; illumined it with the mystic quality of a militant saint's.

She was Jeanne d'Arc, reborn to the prairies—Peter the Hermit, reincarnated in petticoats—a predestined crusader—and, on occasion, a human WILDCAT; by turn, as gentle as Mother Mary and as HAIR-TRIGGERED as a TWO-GUNMAN.

At thirty, she came nearer to running Oklahoma than its governor or political machine—a stunted girl, whom overwhelming assent had placed in control of the vice and crime and misfortune of her commonwealth.

SOME of the bosses didn't like her way of managing things, but jobbery never DID admire a straight line. If they'd understood the game as well as Kate Barnard played it, they might have OUSTED her, but in 1913, with a hundred and sixty thousand votes in the palm of her hand, and the affection of every decent citizen in the community behind her, she bade fair to hold the job as long as her ambition stayed alive; which meant as long as SHE was alive, which apparently wasn't to be so VERY many years. For Kate Barnard was ill, sickened with the miseries of her wards; a prematurely wasted mite, fighting giants' battles for underdogs' betterment.

She came into the world with a second-class spine, but a first-class BACKBONE. She was an invalid child, and sickly in MATURITY.

BUT Kate was too busy worrying about OTHER people's troubles to notice her OWN. Her shoulders were hardly wider than a laborer's palm, but they were strong enough to steady an outcast army, until it regained the confidence and courage to march with decent men again.

She cleansed American prisons of their Augean vileness. She introduced humanity where pitilessness was LORD. She pointed out the stars of hope through barred windows. She believed in the BEST of the WORST, and found GOLD where society had habitually looked for BRASS.

At the start, prejudice and tradition jeered at her theory that a jail-bird is not ALWAYS destined to remain a BIRD of PREY, but she lived to see that conviction awaken a nation's conscience and inspire a complete revision of its penal method.

"Two hands upon the breast, and labour's done,

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

YOU have two lives.

One life goes on outside you. The things you do and have done to you make up that life.

The other life goes on inside you. The things you think and feel make up that life.

You attach a great deal of importance to your outside life. You lay all your plans for it and expend all your energy on it. You think that is your real life. You think that is where your happiness and success are made or unmade.

You do not attach much importance to your inside life. You realize that it exists . . . you know that you are constantly talking to yourself, constantly feeling, and having "day dreams," but all this secret tide of consciousness seems a trivial sort of indoor sport. And so, while you are very careful in the conduct of your outside life, you let things happen any old way inside.

You are most particular about who enters your home or office, but you do not care what enters your mind. You have order and system in your outside program, but your thoughts and feelings are higgeldy-piggeldy . . . without purpose or plan.

If your living room or your lobby looked like the inside of your mind you would be horrified. You'd promptly rush most of the contents to the garbage can. But, since the slovenly disorder is hidden in your skull, you don't care. You think it doesn't matter.

You're wrong. It matters tremendously. That inside life is really important life. . . . It is the only real life. . . . It is the only life over which you have any true control.

You believe you control your outside life. You don't . . . and can't. Much of that outside life was determined for you before you were even born. Thousands of alien and often hostile forces control the circumstances under which you must function. The lines, "I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul," were not written about the outside life, for no man can be master of his outside life. But he can be master of his inside life. And there his fate is determined.

It isn't what happens to you that counts . . . it's what happens in you. Practically the same things happen to all men, but all men do not take them in the same way.

One man will build a triumph out of adversity. Another man will build a hog-wallow. And that building is always done inside the skull, not outside.

You are what you think, what you feel. Guard and systematize your thoughts, control your emotions. From them proceed the issues of your life. If that inner life is healthy and well organized you may be sure that your outer life will reflect that prosperity. But no power on earth can make your outer life successful if your inner life is a mess.

Text For Today

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

THE lichens are the classical example of biological phenomenon known as symbiosis. This term (which is Greek for "living together") is applied to cases when two organisms of different kinds live in intimate union and to the benefit of both. In the lichen, as we have seen, both the algae and the fungus derive some benefit from their union, although the fungus is the active member in bringing it about and certainly profits most.

It is interesting to find that lichens can be divided into two groups, each derived from a different fungus type. The two groups must have taken to domesticating green algea quite independently of each other. There are other cases where single-celled algae are captured and domesticated in this manner by plants, and even by animals.

H. G. Wells

A characteristic feature of radiolaria for example, is the presence in their bodies of tiny globular "yellow-cells." These cells are algae, entangled and held in the protoplasm of the radiolarian; they can survive the death of their host and live and multiply independently.

Here, again, the radiolarian benefits by the synthetic powers of the algae, and the algae benefit by being protected. There are similar organisms in other protozoa, and even in the tissues of certain many-celled animals.

Some species of the common fresh water polyp hydra are colored in brilliant green by plant cells in their tissues, and nearly all corals have yellowish algae in the inner layers of their bodies and apparently cannot live without them. And there are flat worms and sponges which do the same thing.

Con: They can survice his death and lead happy, actice lives of their own. The triplex author leaves this nice question unanswered; he states the facts and leaves the interpretation to his readers.

6. SLIME-MOULDS

We come now to an exceedingly curious group of creatures lying on the broad frontier between the animal and vegetable kingdoms—a group of creatures of no importance whatever to the practical man, but of the utmost philosophical and scientific interest, common enough, sometimes even conspicuous, and yet hardly ever noticed except by naturalists.

For most of its life a slime-mould (the technical name of the group is either Myxomycetes, meaning slime-fungi, or Mycetozoa, meaning fungus-animals) is a naked, slimy mass of protoplasm, and almost formless mass without cells or special tissues. Its appearance varies from species to species.

It may be translucent, or white, or pink, or green, or yellow, or purple; it is usually large enough to be easily seen, and in extreme cases such as the bright yellow "flowers of tan" it may be as much as a foot square and two inches thick—one can fill a bucket with this formless creature.

It is found in such situations as decaying logs, old tree stumps, heaps of rotting dead leaves and the like. Usually it is spread out as a thin, creeping film of living substance without enduring shape. It is nearly as structureless as a dropped egg.

To the naked eye it presents a veined pattern, having a network of thickened strands connected together by thin films in the meshes.

Seen through the microscope, it is a simple sheet of protoplasm without nerves or muscles or digestive organs or any such specialized parts—not even divided up into cells. It is dotted with thousands of nuclei and contractile vacuoles; the protoplasm consists like the protoplasm of an amoeba of a clear outer layer and a granular inner mass. The creature is in fact like a gigantic amoeba.

The substance of this plasmodium, as the large, creeping stage in the life history of a slime-mould is called, is in continual sluggish motion. It ebbs slowly hither and thither, often with a regular rythmic motion, flowing in one direction for a minute or two and then reversing.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Fourteenth street's incessant hub-hub offers a pleasant slice of the Gay Nineties. It is the last stand of the vanishing off-key hurdy-gurdy, the one man side-walk show, the neighborhood ice cream parlor and the portable pony-drawn merry go round.

Vacant store rooms are taken over at intervals to exhibit Lolla-Koola, the Lobster Boy, the two-headed calf, the half dog and half man and other wistful creatures, spawned by a freakish twist of nature. The juggler, contortionist and fakir make "pitches" in abandoned doorways.

A waxworks museum, with its collection of shuddery murders and gruesome figures, stressing the horrors of social ills, is open day and night, while a clown ballyhoo out front balances a feather on his nose and screeches: "This way, ladies and gents—the show's just starting."

Weaving in and out of the crowds are food purveyors in bakers' coats and caps, hawking cinnamon buns, roasted potatoes on sticks, apples dipped in sticky syrup and other culinary yum yums. The eternal thrill of the circus is always there—alive and challenging.

Continuous burlesque has a steady patronage. Shoddy imitations of the old Winter Garden runways stretch out over the audience for beefy lady leviathans in tights to smirk and wiggle. A green whiskered comedian with splay feet, imitates Bert Lahr, with "Ain't I the hound?" as a snapper.

Ten cent song books, ice cream cones and pink lemonade are peddled up and down the aisles. A tipsy gentleman from the front row is enticed upon the stage to Charleston with the nasal soprano and the crowd roars. A husky voiced and seedy announcer spiels, amid cat calls, next week's attractions.

A chorus, ever out of step, interpolates the half-hearted efforts with undisguised yawns. And at Luchow's, the elite of 14th street gather in the sombre and dark-wooded haven of other days to feast on heavy German dishes and lift siedels of an attentuated brew.

On Fourteenth street, too, is the last gasp of melodrama. Villains pursue wide-eyed heroines. Paper snow flies in howling storms and the wind shrieks its eerie lament. Long-mustached heavies flick riding crops against top boots in gestures of deep-dyed treachery. And before the last act the entire company indulge in what old troupers used to call "the walk across"—each player passing before the footlights for cheers or hisses.

* * *

Many little tobacco and stationery shops on Fourteenth street have been untouched by the chain store octopus. They retain the dim-lit, fly-blown halo of other days, and prosper. Many bootleg naughty pictures to a select clientele and others take 25-cent and dollar bets on the races.

* * *

Fourteenth street is the market place for those pornographic monthly magazines filled with nude paintings and photographs. I counted eight periodicals of this sort in the back room of a tobacconist. They are printed "only for artists," but are sold out to all comers an hour after they reach the stands. Publication dates vary in order to throw the agents of laws against obscenity off the track. On the title page of each is a notice they refuse subscriptions, a frank confession they are likewise refused the mails.

* * *

I sought the address of one of the most flagrant magazine violators. It was plainly printed at its mast head as a building on West Twenty-third street. Yet the bulletin board in the foyer did not reveal it or had the chief elevator operator ever heard of such a publishing firm.

* * *

* * *

Telegram from the Jersey side: "I have read your column for years and would like to show you through my powder works."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DON'T gamble a good friendship against a financial prize.

There are some friends that you have who do not change in their feelings toward you because of money matters. They are not numerous, however.

You want your friendships to be permanent. Then be very careful in your business deals with friends to carry out in exactly as businesslike manner as you would if these transactions were with strangers.

The true friend should have no objection, if you insist that such transactions be made in the proper way.

And surely you should be willing to have your deals with friends made in such a way that they will be protected as well as they would be if they were making them with those who are not personal friends.

The failure of friends to keep their promises has brought financial ruin to many in the past.

Those who were mutually mere acquaintances made business-like contracts while others depended too much upon friendship and lost.
